SAN LEANDRO, THE BEAUTIFUL

SAN LEANDRO is located on the eastern side of San Francisco Bay, in Alameda county, and is about fifteen miles southeasterly from San Francisco. The bay of San Francisco lies in the upper or northern end of Santa Clara Valley. On the eastern side of the bay, running parallel thereto, is a range of low mountains averaging in height one thousand to fifteen hundred feet.

Lying between this mountain range and the bay is a level belt of land about fifty miles long and from five to seven miles wide. This strip of land is one of the most fertile spots in California, and located in the very choicest part of it is the subject of our sketch, San Leandro. So deeply impressed with the beauty of this locality were the early pioneers, that they likened it to the Garden of Eden, and so they named it. Hence, for a more particular description, we should add that San Leandro is located in Eden Township.

There are three lines of railroads now running through this belt; another (the Western Pacific) is under construction, while still others are projected.

A CITY OF HOMES.

San Leandro has been called a city of homes. It is claimed that in proportion to its size, more of its residents own their own homes than in any other city in California.

CLIMATE.

The United States Weather Reports give evidence of the remarkably even temperature of this locality, the average being 62 degrees Fahrenheit in summer and 50 degrees in winter. The same suit of clothing may be worn with comfort the year round, and overcoats are rarely seen. A case of sunstroke has never been known.

Another feature that distinguishes San Leandro is its twenty-three miles of macadamized streets, a proportion of improved thoroughfares that is unexcelled by any other town on the Pacific Coast.

Beautiful Estudillo avenue, which runs one exact mile through an arbor of tall, wide-spreading locust trees, is acknowledged to have no rival. It is a popular drive and a great rendezvous for motorists.

RAILROAD FACILITIES.

The Southern Pacific Railroad runs through the western end of town and the Western Pacific will go along Martinez street, a block farther east. The electric cars of the Oakland Transit Company run along the main street and out Haywards avenue to the town of Haywards, six miles distant.

These lines run out from Oakland and connect with the twenty-minute ferry service across the bay to San Francisco. The Southern Pacific Company is projecting an electric line from Oakland to San Jose, passing through San Leandro and connecting with the ferry system to San Francisco.

The Western Pacific Company has announced its intention of also running local trains as soon as its road is completed.

The Oakland Transit (electric) has just made extensive improvements, including heavy modern rails and more commodious cars, giving a ten-minute service. Eventually it will extend its road to San Jose.

AN IDEAL MANUFACTURING LOCALITY.

Manufacturers find in San Leandro unsurpassed advantages for the successful, convenient and economical prosecution of many branches of industry. Land can be secured at reasonable prices in close proximity to both trans-continental railroads. The tax rate is low—for the present year being only ninety cents. These conditions, with a climate in which men are able to work every day in the year, make this locality specially advantageous.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

Its beautiful and prolific orchards of cherries and apricots give San Leandro a distinctive position even in this State of perennial fruits and flowers. Apples, peaches, pears, plums, walnuts, almonds and lemons are grown to a considerable extent. These do quite well, especially lemons, which some orchardists are now planting on an extensive scale.

VEGETABLES.

While a great deal is claimed for San Leandro as a fruit center, quite as much can be said of its superiority in the production of vegetables. All varieties can be grown here successfully, including potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers, peas, corn and rhubarb. They are grown chiefly for preserving, as experience has shown that the vegetables produced in this vicinity are far superior for canning purposes to those grown elsewhere.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES.

Excellent primary and grammar schools, with a corps of twelve teachers, afford admirable educational facilities. The San Leandro Grammar School has for many years enjoyed an enviable reputation for the high standing of its graduates and the thorough manner in which they are prepared to enter the higher institutions of learning.

There is also a convent for young ladies (St. Mary's), which is under the management of the Dominican Sisters. Here all the English branches are taught, as well as languages, music, drawing, painting, fancy work, etc. Boarding pupils are received, and those left in charge of the sisters are given a complete education.

There are three churches in San Leandro, the Methodists, Catholics and Presbyterians, having fine edifices devoted to worship, as well as pretty, modern dwellings for the various pastors. Interest in religious work here is very pronounced, and, in addition to large congregations at the regular services numerous auxiliary societies are maintained in a flourishing condition.

San Leandro has a Free Public Library supported by a special tax. It has been so well patronized that the city fathers have recently secured a $10,000 library from Andrew Carnegie. It is situated on one of the most beautiful avenues in the State.

the committee in charge entertain high hopes of seeing the building started within a few months.

GAS, ELECTRIC LIGHT, SEWER SYSTEM, FIRE DEPARTMENT.

All of the principal streets of San Leandro and the entire roadway between Oakland and San Leandro are illuminated with electric arc lights. The new boulevard will also be lighted in the same manner for its entire length.

Gas and electricity for lighting and other purposes are supplied at low rates by the Suburban Electric Light Company, who have their main offices here.

San Leandro has 20 miles of modern sewer system, assuring a condition of admirable sanitation.

There is a first-class paid Fire Department, which has recently been made more effective by the installation of a modern gasoline engine of great power.

You will notice by the map that San Leandro is about as far distant from San Francisco as is Berkeley. Similar conditions will bring about similar results.

If you would live in one of the choicest spots in California, having a climate nearly perfect, with beautiful shaded streets and lovely drives, in fact, a perfect paradise, or if you would secure a home where property values are certain to rise in the near future, come to San Leandro.

RESIDENCE OF MRS. L. IVEY

The above picture conveys a fair idea of some of the fine homes in San Leandro and the high-classed workmanship put in them, as what is constructed there is done in a manner to produce lasting results.

The Ivey home is located on Ward street, about one block south of the Plaza and Estudillo avenue, and a visit to this home will make one feel amply repaid. Particular care is taken to keep the grounds in fine order and it might be truthfully called the show place of San Leandro.

WAR VETERAN'S HOME

There is no resident of San Leandro who takes more interest in the progress of that place and the surrounding country than Col. Frank S. Hastings, who has for years been one of the most enterprising and most popular residents in that section. It is natural, therefore, that he should be enthusiastic over the Cherry Festival which is soon to be held in that town. For years he has devoted a great deal of his time to the practice of agriculture and the cultivation of fruit, his acres being among the most fertile and productive in that quarter of the county.

The Colonel has contributed liberally to the fund to make the festival a success and has, in other ways, encouraged the undertaking and given it the benefit of his experience and ability.

Col. Hastings is one of the most patriotic men in the State. He not only served in the civil war but he has since applied himself, in his leisure moments, to the inculcation of patriotic ardor, not only among the youth of the land, but also among adults whenever he has ascertained that there was lukewarmness taking root among them. In furtherance of this principle the Colonel has given magnificent flagpoles to a number of towns and structures of all kinds in order that "Old Glory" may be given to the breeze on days of national rejoicing and that it may be always visible to the mind's eye of youth. On his own premises the Colonel has an imposing flagstaff of dimensions equal to those of the majestic pole which occupies a prominent place in the plaza at San Leandro. The home of the Colonel which is on the main road to that town is a bower of patriotism, the conservatory containing a record of every patriotic musical number ever composed in this country, which Mrs. Hastings cheerfully renders for the entertainment of their guests. A feature of the home is a tower from which may be obtained a view of the distant ocean. It was from this vantage point that the Colonel and his wife and a select party of friends viewed the Atlantic fleet on the day it was entering the bay of San Francisco.

HUFF HOME

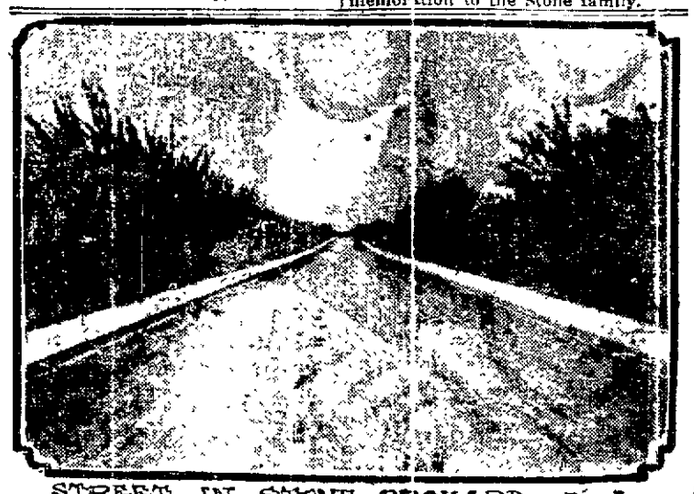

About midway between the Scenic Boulevard and the San Leandro Electric line, San Leandro.

Built by Socrates Huff, one of California's pioneers, who, at the time of his death two years ago, was vice-president of the society.

The home is one of the most beautiful in that pretty town and the ten acres of beautiful trees and flowers makes it one of the most attractive in the State.

STONE ORCHARD

Eighteen months ago this property was a fine orchard, growing cherries, apricots, plums, peaches, pears, apples, oranges, lemons, chestnuts and walnuts, which were distributed and sold far and wide. In the last year the trend of home-builders and speculators has gradually developed to this section. The E. B. & A. L. Stone Company, who are the owners of this orchard, conceived the idea of cutting it up into home sites and business property and have named the same "Stone Orchard," which is, as a living commemoration to the Stone family.

STREET IN STONE ORCHARD

The E. B. & A. L. Stone Company, who are the largest contractors of their kind in the west, personally supervised all the improvements and made it their object to make Stone Orchard one of the nicest and most complete subdivisions that has ever been placed on the market, and in this they have succeeded. The improvements installed are sewers, water, gas, electricity, macadam streets, cement sidewalks, cement curbs and cement gutters.

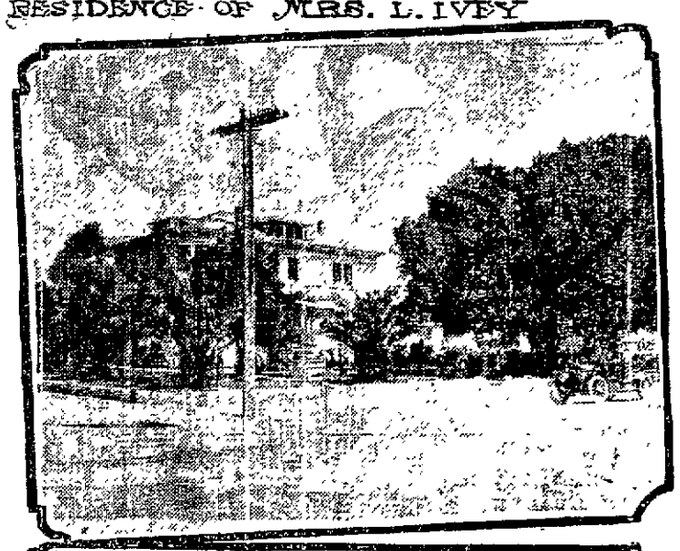

They placed the selling of this property in the hands of the Mutual Realty Company, who are the exclusive agents. The Mutual Realty Company is composed of William Fuchs and Fred T. Wood of Oakland and they are ably represented by W. F. Taylor, O. M. Earl, Bert Wolf, Joseph Pizzotti, J. Halpern, F. M. Wills, W. B. Peterson and N. N. Eddy.

Since the property has been placed on the market over three hundred lots have been sold and some beautiful homes have been built in the tract by R. D. Young, J. J. Johnston, G. Michaels, Grace L. Enos, C. B. Cook, William Fuchs, Fred T. Wood and H. T. Duryea. Charles Wieland's house is also on the verge of construction and will cost in the neighborhood of $6000. The other homes, which have been built in this tract range in prices of $2500 to $5000.

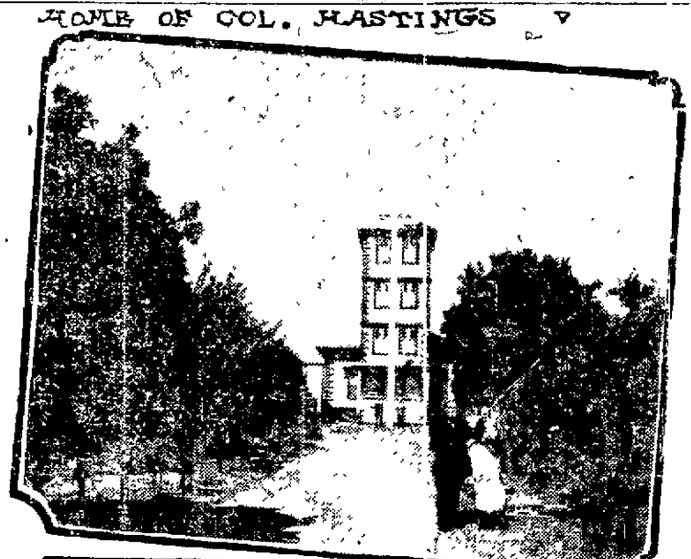

Every lot has from four to six big fruit trees which are in full bearing. The Southern Pacific, which is constantly on the lookout for new developments, have realized that this section has been neglected by them and they, therefore, came to the conclusion of building a local service which will run from Stone Orchard to Oakland and San Francisco every thirty minutes. The ties and rails have all been laid and the depot will be erected in a few weeks. It is expected that the local services will be running complete in and out of Stone Orchard within sixty days. This in itself will greatly enhance the value of the property purchased by people buying before the installation of this local service.

It can be truthfully stated that Stone Orchard has every redeeming feature and is an ideal spot for a home. It is handy to transportation and just far enough away from the heart of town to eliminate all the noise and dust, and to present to those that live there recreation and quietness after a hard day's labor. It is truthfully named "The Paradise of Alameda County." The street car pass the property. The Mutual Realty Company will mail descriptive matter relating to Stone Orchard upon request.

INDUSTRIES OF SAN LEANDRO

SAN LEANDRO MILL AND LUMBER CO.

A new industry, but yet one that has made long strides of advancement, is the San Leandro Mill and Lumber Company, and located on East Fourteenth street, near the bridge. This concern was formed six months ago by R. J. Mendonca, president; T. Agrella, vice-president; and Morris Petersen, secretary. This company has erected an up-to-date mill and carry a complete stock of building material of every description. Two teams are kept going and a full force of men are kept going steadily. This is the only lumber yard in San Leandro and deserves the splendid support the people are according this firm. Mr. Mendonca is a member of the Native Sons of the Golden Gate, T. Agrella is a member of the Portuguese order of W. P. C. and Mr. Petersen is a popular young business man. If honesty, business integrity and promptness will win, this firm should have a wonderful success.

CALIFORNIA PEERLESS STONE, TILE AND PLASTER CO.

The California Stone, Tile and Plaster Company was organized and promoted by local capitalists and since its inception has had a wonderful success. The officers, J. J. Cummings, president; John P. Harrigan, vice-president and superintendent; and Thomas H. Wolf, secretary; are all well-known business men of San Leandro. This company owns the largest magnesite mine or deposit in the world and this mineral forms the basis of all the wonderful productions turned out by this concern.

Although established only two years, yet many fine buildings have been done. A few might be mentioned Merritt Hospital, Bank of San Leandro, Estudillo House, Keating Building, K. of R. B., Providence Hospital, Gas and Electric Buildings of San Francisco.

The products of this company are mostly of an ornamental nature—statuary work, Mosaics, tiling, terrazza and all kinds of stones and marbles correctly imitated. These stones are made in all fast colors and it is indeed wonderful the many beautiful patterns and designs that are made into mantels, pillars, pilaster, columns, capitals, bases, low and high relief work are made in every design procurable. A hard plaster is also made which will adhere to wood, brick, terra cotta without using lath as a backing. Floors of kinds and colors are laid and in passing it might be stated that these floors and all other products of magnesite is durable, sanitary, fireproof, weather proof and indestructible.

All work is under the direct supervision of Mr. Harrigan who is an expert of world-wide reputation in this line and has no superior. The products of this concern are being used by leading architects as its uses are unlimited, the cost nominal, and the result equal to the genuine.

JUNIOR MONARCH HAY PRESS COMPANY

An industry that bids fair to become of great importance to San Leandro is the Junior Monarch Hay Press Company, which was established in 1860 by Jacob Price, and which has since been conducted by Toffelmier Bros. Under the able management of these men these presses have been shipped all over the world. This concern is the only one of its kind on the Coast and the product of this concern is unrivalled any where in the world.

The accompanying illustration shows four Junior Monarch Hay Presses ready for shipment to the northern part of the State on May 25. The strong features of this hay press are that it can bale more hay in less time and has a larger capacity than any other press known. Added to this is the fact that the price—$800—is cheaper than any other press on the market. This concern employs a large working force, which is kept constantly going to fill orders. They also manufacture the Little Giant. Mr. L. J. Toffelmier, one of the members of this firm, is also a member of the Board of Trustees of San Leandro, and is a tireless worker for the interests of this city.

"BOSS" LADDER CO.

The business conducted by John Driver and known as the Boss Ladder Company, fills a long-felt want in this community. The excellency of the ladders made by this firm are proven by the fact that they have thousands of ladders in use up and down the coast and they can hardly supply the demand. Thousands of fruit, fire and house ladders have been made by this concern during the 15 years they have been going. Mr. Driver is one of San Leandro's substantial citizens and well deserves the confidence of the public.

PACIFIC PRESERVE CO.

It is not generally known that the bulk of the table delicacies sold in California is made in San Leandro. Yet such is the case and the firm having this distinction is the Pacific Preserve Company. This concern has a large plant on Howard street, and the following is a partial list of their products: Chow Chow, Worcestershire Sauce, Catsup, Pickles, Horseradish, Vinegar, Sauerkraut, Syrups, Honey, pure Flavoring Extracts, etc. This concern employs a large force of men steadily, which adds materially to the general prosperity of San Leandro.

BEST MANUFACTURING COMPANY

Approximately one-half of the total wheat yield of California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho was gathered by combined harvesters during the season of 1908, the saving to the farmer using the advanced methods running into the millions of dollars.

And when you stop to think that every one of these combined harvesters were made by the Best Manufacturing Company right here in San Leandro, it gives one food for thought.

This company employs 185 experts, and the output last year was 130 combined harvesters, 35 traction engines, each of 110 horse-power, which are the largest in the world. These machines are sent to the four corners of the globe, but the money is brought back to Alameda county and invested. The pay roll of this concern is about $15,000 monthly.

The building shown in the picture covers an area of over six acres and with the machinery shows an investment of over $350,000. A tour of inspection through the plant will disclose many wonderful surprises. The buildings are a net-work of machinery from great, ponderous steam hammers to the most delicate of adjusted machinery. Founderies, machine rooms, wood sawmill, setting-up room, painting rooms, all a seeming buzz of confusion, with hundreds of men running back and forth like bees from a hive, yet the results showing that all is perfect order.

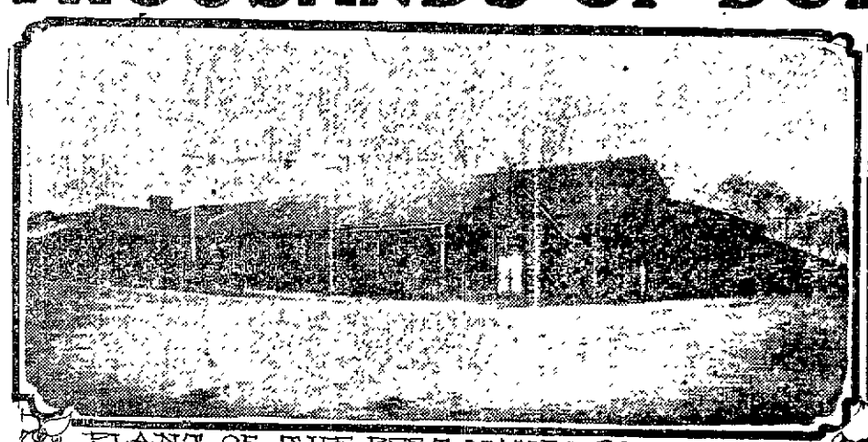

The officers are all well known men of San Leandro, having lived here for many years, and are as follows: President, C. L. Best; Vice-President, F. J. Meyers; Secretary, W. S. Peters; Mr. C. L. Best is the manager.

The accompanying illustration shows the two main buildings, together with a traction engine and wagons in operation dumping ore and also a combined harvester in operation. San Leandro is to be congratulated on having an industry of this kind in its midst as the Best Manufacturing Company adds in no small measure to the prosperity of the community.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT CANNERS' ASSOCIATION

The California Fruit Canners Association is so well known in California that a brief description of the plant at San Leandro will suffice for the present. The canneries are located in the manufacturing district and cover a large area. During the season of six months over 450 people are regularly employed and twenty one double cottages, housing forty-two families, are provided free to them. Nearly all the fruits and vegetables of this district are bought and canned here. All the machinery is kept in a sanitary condition. In the warehouse in piles mountain high is stored over 2,000,000 cans of fruit from last year's packing. In another section can be seen thousands upon thousands of empty cans ready for this season. This concern adds materially to the prosperity of the farmer in the fact that a ready market for all the fruits and vegetables is at their doors.

BEAUTIFUL VAGER HOMESTEAD

Of the many beautiful homes in San Leandro there is one which deserves special mention on account of general excellence. Mr. A. L. Vager, who with Mr. Francis, conducts the Farmers' Cafe in W. P. C. Hall, and who has resided in San Leandro for many years runs the place. A short description here, while giving but a slight idea of the beauty of the place, will have to suffice.

One mile exactly from the postoffice on Haywards avenue and on the car line is the Vager home. This property consists of 15 acres and on it is the house of 13 rooms, 3 barns, 3,000 gallon tank and windmill, gas plant and garage.

However, it is the grounds that cause the visitor to wonder. Flowers and fruit everywhere—a veritable earthly paradise. Every specie of fruit that will grow in the valley are to be found here and the size and flavor are perfection. The accompanying photo gives but a poor description of this beautiful place. Visitors are cordially invited to inspect this place during the Cherry Festival. Owing to business reasons, Mr. Vager has decided to sell this place and it will certainly be a snap for some one who wants a home as an income. Mr. Vager can be seen at his place of business—Farmers' Cafe, W. P. C. Hall—opposite postoffice.

BROADMOOR

MAGNIFICENT DUSTLESS OIL-TAMPED BOULEVARDS PROVE TO BE A BIG SUCCESS—BORDER PLANTS AND PALMS GALORE.

No section of Alameda county at the present time is more beautiful than Broadmoor, the superbly equipped suburban tract of half-acre pieces near San Leandro. Broadmoor is unquestionably the most striking example north of Los Angeles of the country residential park, and although it enjoys all of the improvements of civic conveniences of a large city, such as cement sidewalks gas water, electricity, fine sewers, etc., it is at the same time sufficiently far into the country to give the residents all of the advantages of an out-door life.

Broadmoor consists of one hundred and fifty acres, and is located in the warm garden belt about a mile toward Oakland from San Leandro. It lies off the new scenic boulevard facing upon San Leandro road, and before its development into a residential tract was considered to the choicest piece of farming ground within a radius of 100 miles of San Francisco. The magnificent country home of I. W. Hellman Jr. adjoins the property on the north, the Talbot country residence lies next, and on the west is the beautiful Gawne homestead, and upon the south the charming Peachy home.

The half-acre pieces are only sold to people who will agree to abide by certain building restrictions, which have been arranged with the object of adding a general artistic effect to the tract.

Over $300,000 was spent by the promoters to make it a veritable garden spot, and, judging by its present appearance, they have made a splendid success of their effort.

Gardens and parks have been planted at every turn, border plants are being set out, and purchasers of the half-acre pieces are erecting artistic homes, bungalows and cottages at every turn. At the present time Broadmoor is exceedingly beautiful, and by the end of summer, when all of the flowers now being planted have attained full growth, it will be more like a park than anything else.

The boulevards are lined with marguerites, decota palms, nasturtiums and banana palms in glorious profusion. Down Breed avenue is a magnificent row of camphor trees while down Stanley road have been planted eastern oak and dwarf nasturtiums. The main boulevard is lined on both sides with palms and Lady Washington geraniums, which grow and thrive most beautifully.

Mr. Bancroft, of Breed & Bancroft, stated to a TRIBUNE representative today that so many houses are now being erected in Broadmoor that it was difficult to keep track of them.

"We have most certainly made a success of Broadmoor," said Mr. Bancroft, "and we have made it even better than we said we would. Everybody who has purchased and built has become such an enthusiast, and the tract has received so much recognition from the public on account of its splendid appearance that our selling agents, the Frank K. Mott Co., are having a great many calls for the half-acre pieces. We propose to spare no pains to continue our future improvements along the same lines and are rushing the work with all possible haste. The petrolithic oil tamped pavements have turned out to be a great success and will no doubt be used in all the other high grade tracts from now on. Purchasers are beginning to move into their homes and it is already a settled community. Although there has been some talk among the stockholders regarding the advisability of raising prices, nothing so far has been done. There is no question, however, but that the lots are worth considerably more now that Broadmoor is an unqualified success and that homes are being built than they were on the day we opened the tract. When you consider that each one of these lots contains practically a half-acre of grounds and that our prices include all of the street work, sewers, gas, water and electricity, and that on a 200-foot depth lots can be purchased at $15 a front foot, you have some idea of the reason why we have made such a success of the tract. Furthermore, the Southern Pacific has surveyed right through Broadmoor, with a depot site in the middle of the tract, which will bring a direct electric express between Broadmoor, Oakland and San Francisco. The Hayward and San Leandro electric line is now running past the entrance gate, giving a ten-minute service at $3 a month to Oakland, with connection at Melrose to San Francisco.

"The extension of the Elmhurst local Southern Pacific line is now almost completed. They expect to have a station on the San Leandro road about 1200 feet from Broadmoor. Trains will be running from this station within the next two or three weeks and the service contemplated will enable commuters to go to San Francisco from Broadmoor in forty-five minutes under low commutation rates."

WATER AT ONE-HALF OAKLAND'S RATES.

Broadmoor has a water system of its own in order to insure an abundance of water for lawns and gardens at a minimum price, in fact, water in Broadmoor costs only about half as much as it does in Oakland.

Heretofore excessive water rates have been the bane of country homeseekers, and, without doubt, the counties around the bay could boast of many more magnificent homes with lawns and gardens such as are to be found in Broadmoor if the rates for water were as reasonable as at Broadmoor.

Water is supplied from wells sunk to the water-bearing gravels of the region and is delivered under pressure through pipes by means of compressed air, instead of pumping it into an unsightly elevated tank, as is generally done. There is a great advantage to the elimination of elevated tanks, both on account of the menace of danger from fire and on account of the blot that a tank away up in the air makes upon the landscape.

In Broadmoor a pneumatic tank is placed out of sight under the ground; this tank is air-tight and light-tight, and thus the water cannot be contaminated before it is drawn out of the faucet for use.

Water stored under the ground in this manner is kept practically at the same temperature day and night, and as the great agency in the purification of water is oxygen, and as oxygen is introduced in the water of Broadmoor through the agency of compressed air, the residents of this district are getting the finest water in the land.

Water from wells that are not aerated is unpalatable, and if from surface sources is often dangerous to health. In Broadmoor the water comes to the consumer clear, sparkling and pure, reaching the light for the first time it comes out of the faucet the same as it pours forth from a spring in the mountain.

As the pressure is obtained by the pumping of compressed air into the tank which supplies the entire tract, it is evident that any desired pressure may be obtained, and that in case of fire or the immediate necessity of a great quantity of water, it can be had up to any point within the limit of the plumbing facilities, and all upon a moment's notice, by the switching of a lever in the hands of the water engineer.

This pneumatic tank system is conceded to be the ideal method of providing water and it has only been on account of the great expense in erecting plants that this system has not been adopted everywhere.

Broadmoor fortunately lies in an artesian well region, and consequently the water obtained is primarily pure, which fact, combined with the protection given by the underground pneumatic tank system, insures, from a sanitary standpoint, the best water in the county.

Pipe lines are extended down all of the avenues, so that purchasers of lots can connect immediately upon completion of their houses. Another interesting feature of this tract is the fact that all mains are laid between the sidewalk and the street, so that in case of connections the streets do not have to be torn up and traffic interrupted.

PETROLITHIC OIL TAMPED ROADS.

The petrolithic system of road building, which has been carried out in this tract, is a California invention of considerable interest. It is not known generally to the world at large that the crude oil of California is usually more than one-half asphaltum. Although some success has been met by sprinkling the roads with crude oil, thus far the celebrated oiled roads of California are not a permanent success, for the reason that the oil is never mixed thoroughly and evenly with the soil, and that the road gives way in spots and forms chuckholes.

This is not the fault of the oil, but rather the method of applying it. By the petrolithic system of road building at Broadmoor the oil is thoroughly mixed with the soil from the bottom up and afterwards rolled the same as aphalt pavement.

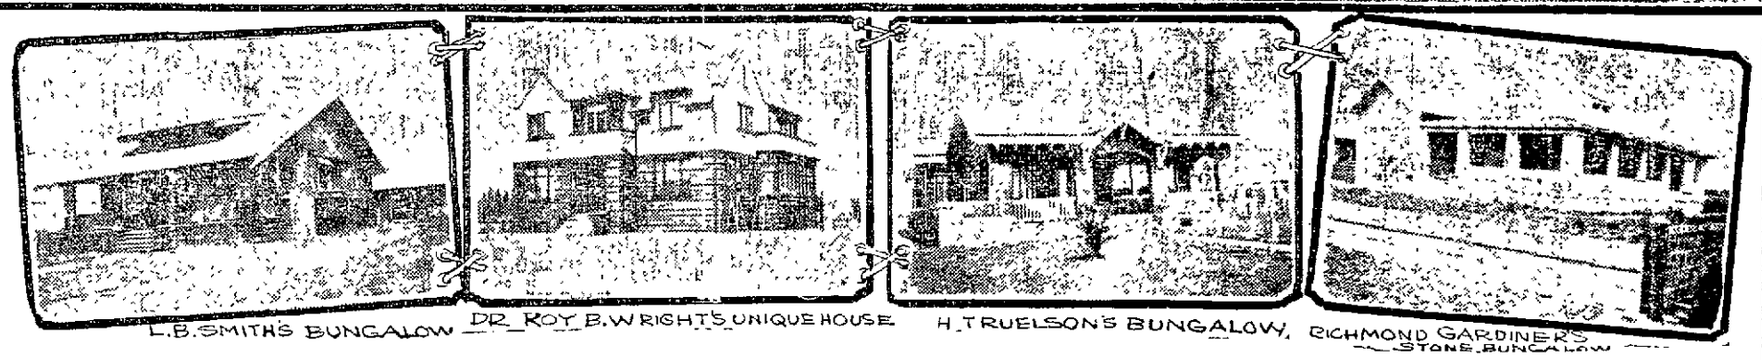

Before beginning with the road the soil is plowed up to a depth of 6 or 8 inches, all the clods are thoroughly pulverized and the roadbeds sprinkled with water. Asphaltic oil is then sprinkled evenly over the surface until there is three gallons of oil to each square yard of roadway. A cultivator is then hauled several times over the ground, which mixes the oil in the earth thoroughly, and then a gigantic petrolithic rolling tamper begins its work.

This machine not only packs and compresses the soil, but more thoroughly mixes the oil than it has been mixed before. The process of oiling and tamping is repeated several times and then there is spread evenly upon the roadbed the layer of gravel and crushed rock, then another coat of oil is applied and the compressing repeated until every square yard has been thoroughly mixed and tamped down. The surface is then ironed with an ordinary roller and the road is done. In appearance the petrolithic pavement at Broadmoor resembles an asphalt pavement, with the added advantage of being absolutely noiseless, clean and dustless. This forms an ideal pavement for a community of high-class residences, and is being used extensively in the parks and finer residential districts in Los Angeles, Pasadena, Monrovia, Santa Monica, Redlands, Orange and South Pasadena. Nothing of the kind has been heretofore constructed in this part of the State, and on account of their success these roads have developed into one of the most interesting features of Broadmoor.

The streets are wide and as broad and beautiful as the name would indicate.

"Broadmoor is unquestionably the prettiest tract of half-acre pieces in the county," said Mr. E. B. Bull, manager of the Frank K. Mott Co. today. "Building seems to grow beautifully those who are living and who are building there are getting to be so enthusiastic over its possibilities that I have no doubt but that the entire tract will be built out within no time. Street work is proceeding with great rapidity and a corps of gardeners is continually employed by the Broadmoor Improvement Co. planting palms, trees, border plants and shrubs, with the result that the tract is a veritable paradise as far as horticultural beautification is concerned."

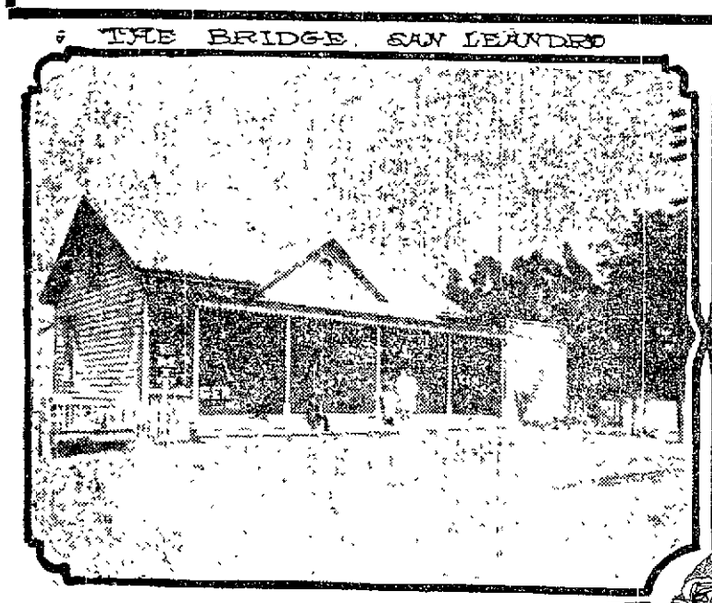

Among the homes that have already been completed in Broadmoor is a beautiful two-story bungalow by W. W. Sawtelle, on Broadmoor avenue. Mr. Sawtelle's place is being beautified by landscape gardening and occupying, as it does, a prominent position in the tract, is attracting considerable interest. H. Truelson has also erected an extremely artistic little bungalow while the two-story house belonging to Stanley B. Bull, at the entrance gate, is one of the finest in the tract. Dr. Roy B. Wright, E. M. Smith, A. J. Frey and R. L. Gardner have also built in Broadmoor. All of the houses are absolutely up to date and various holdings range in value from $4500 to $8000 each. Illustrations of some of these houses are printed to-day.

AMERICAN BAKERY

On Davis street, about one-half block south of Hayward avenue, is the new home of the American Bakery, under the ownership and management of Mr. J. J. Bailey, one of the most enterprising and progressive of Alameda county's citizens.

Mr. Bailey has been in the bakery business in San Leandro about three years and in that time has built up the largest business in that town and one of the largest in the county. While his spirit of progression has in a measure caused him to forge ahead rapidly, his high quality of goods, and his motto of giving the best for the least money has also contributed to that end.

A new building was erected last year for his constantly increasing trade, and large ovens with a correspondingly large bake shop in the rear, the embodiment of cleanliness, were constructed.

Five bakers are in the employ of this concern and two clerks attend to the wants of the public in the store, as well as others for the outside business.

He also has a large stock of fresh candy always on hand.

Next door to the bakery, but in the same new building, is a neat, first class barber shop, where everything is kept in a perfectly sterilized condition.

Fisher & Knox, the San Leandro builders and contractors, who have made most of the beautiful homes and business houses in that town the past two years, are to be given credit for the first class workmanship displayed in the American Bakery.

A magnificent piece of work is the public library that they finished, and which is a credit to them and the city as well.

Messrs. Fisher & Knox are public spirited men and liberal contributors to anything tending to the advancement of San Leandro's interests. The handsome arch to be put up for the Cherry Festival was donated by them.

Their work is of such a superior nature that they have continual calls from outside towns, many of which they have had to decline owing to the amount of work they had on hand at the time. If one sees a fine, artistic home in any of the adjoining towns they can usually infer that they were constructed by this firm.

They are just finishing a five-room bungalow in San Leandro that would pay anyone to go out of his way to see. After its completion in a very short time they will be in a position to bid on any work that may be offered them, and their past reputation will justify anyone in giving them anything in their line.

They also own two fine blocks on Estudillo avenue that are for sale at a very reasonable figure, and with the rapid and assured growth of the town will surely rise in value in the very near future.

SAN LEANDRO HOTEL

San Leandro does not boast of the number of its hotels, but of the good ones it has.

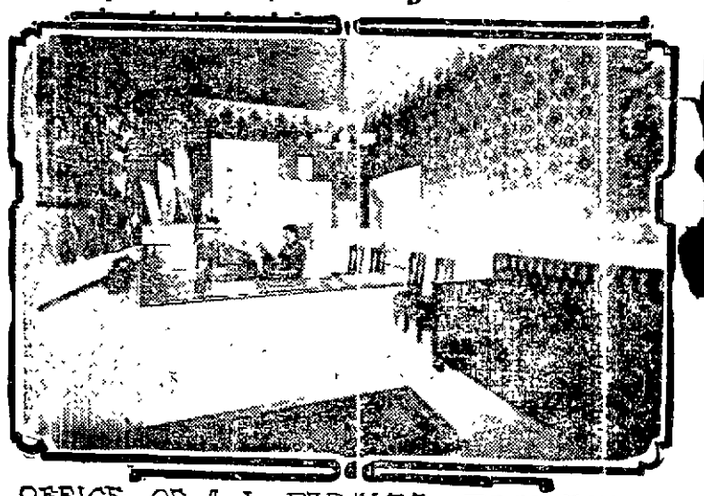

Amongst them and one of the best is the San Leandro Hotel, conducted by the ever-popular C. Christensen, who has an excellent reputation, for not only being obliging and courteous, but progressive and experienced as well. The hotel is conveniently located on the electric car line, opposite the Plaza, and near Estudillo avenue, right in the center of the town.

Its dining room is one of the features of the place, and in connection with the hotel, but through a separate entrance is a well-kept bar where cool and refreshing beverages are dispensed.

Headquarters for Large Realty Deals

OFFICE OF A. L. PERALTA REAL ESTATE DEALER AND BROKER, SAN LEANDRO.

The accompanying illustration shows the office of A. L. Peralta, a well-known real estate man of San Leandro. There are few realty deals made in the valley that this popular young man has not had a hand in. His office is located on the Plaza and any one looking for a location in San Leandro would do well to see him. Mr. Peralta is a descendant of the Peraltas, who, at one time, owned the entire district from Goat Island to Hayward and from Point Richmond to City Shore in Alameda. He takes a leading part in every venture looking to the upbuilding of San Leandro and is a stockholder in many of the industries located there. Mr. Peralta cordially invites visitors to make his office their headquarters and his autos at the disposal of any and all desiring to see the beautiful city.

HUNTERS INN

Situated on the beautiful scenic boulevard at the end of Estudillo avenue is Hunters' Inn, known from coast to coast for its excellent dinners and service. The Inn is large and commodious, built entirely of logs and is the largest of its kind west of Chicago. The furnishings are such as to please the eye of a hunter. The grounds are artistically arranged with flowers, palms, etc. From the wide porches surrounding the Inn may be had a magnificent view of the valley and bay and mountains in the distance. A visit to San Leandro without seeing Hunters' Inn would indeed be incomplete. Free buses meet all cars.

Fine Residence of J. P. Cordosa.

HOME OF J. P. CORDOSA, SAN LEANDRO.

The Cardosa home, situated on San Lerenzo avenue, is a type of the beautiful little home being erected in San Leandro. This house is new, modern, and contains six large rooms, with all modern conveniences. The lot is a large one, 100x180, on which there is ample room for a garden or fruit trees. Unfortunately for Mr. Cardosa, his business calls him away and this part compels him to sacrifice this beautiful place. Mr. A. L. Peralta has this matter in charge. See accompanying illustration for more details.

CALMLY PREPARES TO TAKE HIS OWN LIFE

Drags His Body Into the Street After Slashing Wrist With Razor

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Dragging himself from his room which was lined with weapons, one of which he had used to endeavor to end his life, Frederick Rabin, an architect, was found lying on the sidewalk in front of the Builders' Exchange Building at four o'clock this morning, in an unconscious condition in a pool of his own blood.

He had endeavored to commit suicide, following insinuations made against him that he had been untrue to his wife, and after other occupants of the building had begun to make remarks about his attentions to a young woman who had been in the habit of visiting him occasionally.

An automoatic revolver, a Smith and Wesson revolver, an ugly looking dagger, several razors and a bottle of poison, constituted some of the death-dealing appliances which the man kept in his room, and after juggling with fate, he evidently decided to use the razor and slashing his left forearm he lay down to die.

Chance to Live

Evidently he regretted his act, and crawling on his hands and knees, with the blood flowing from his wound, he succeeded in getting down stairs and reaching the street below. His feeble cries were heard by Policeman Seguine at 4 o'clock this morning, and he was conveyed to the Central Emergency Hospital, where it was found that an artery had been severed and he was suffering from loss of blood, but had a chance of recovery.

A letter dated May 29, 1909, addressed evidently to his wife reads as follows:

"Dear Ma: Surely Lena was wrong today to show herself to the Taylors upstairs at 3:55 p. m. I heard a man's voice from somewhere upstairs, saying very plainly, and with a very mean accent, 'he has a young girl down there and I say her.' The janitor was here just now sweeping up, and I told him in rather loud language what I heard. My nice Taylor girl is absolute silent since that minute.

"Yours always,
"PA.

"Perhaps the best thing to do would be to have Lena come again soon and sit on my lap near the window and give me a kiss so my Taylor girl could see it all.

"Your

Girls Are Silent

From this it would appear that Rabin had had some one visiting him in his office, and the Taylor girl referred to, are workers in a tailoring establisment on the floor above, the windows of their

Government to Take Up Case Of Pacific Mail

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Secretary Dickenson will, within a few days, take up the issue raised by the notice from the Pacific Mail Steamship Company of its intention to withdraw the Panama service maintained by that company during the coming summer unless a satisfactory arrangement as to the portion of the pro-rata received by the company from the traffic from San Francisco to New York can be made. The company contemplates giving up the service because of its unremunerative character. The rate received in shipments from the west coast to the Isthmus and thence via the Panama Railroad and Steamship Company to New York is $5 per ton, of which the Pacific Mail Company receives $1. E. A. Drake, the vice president and general manager of the Panama Railroad Company, is expected in Washington in a few days to talk with Secretary Dickinson about the matter.

Declare Prohibition Wave Is Receding

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 2.—Declaring that "the professional advocates of the Anti-Saloon League had overshot the mark and that their statements are grossly exaggerated where they are not purposely misleading," the board of trustees of the United States Brewers' Association, which opened its forty-ninth annual convention here today, went on record, with the additional declaration that the so-called "prohibition wave had reached its height and that reaction is already beginning to set in."

Mine Promoters Sent to Prison

KANSAS CITY, June 2.—Frank H. Horn, S. H. Sydner and Raymond P. May were sentenced to serve a year and a day in the United States prison at Leavenworth and to pay a fine of $500 each, and John E. Horn, was fined $500 in the Federal court for fraud in promoting the "Two Queens" mine in Arizona.

E. S. Horn the other defendant, who collapsed when the verdict was returned on May 18, was too ill to appear for sentence. He will be sentenced later.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Charging that with the connivance of Captain Brown of the fire department David R. Hult, field assistant for the Board of Public Works, threatened to have her committed to the insane asylum at Napa, and that while she was lying in bed he stuck a safety pin into her body, which poisoned her and caused a severe rash to appear upon her face, Mrs. Annie Hult this morning, in the Superior Court, began her fight against her husband's action for divorce.

Two Valises and Hat Point to Man's Suicide

The police are baffled over what appears to be a case of suicide on the part of a lineman employed by the Pacific States Telephone company. R. Franks, employed by the street department of the city, telephoned police headquarters this morning that a hat and two valises had been found on the north side of the Eighth street bridge in the estuary.

Policeman James Flynn made an investigation and found evidence which justifies the theory that someone, presumably a lineman employed by the telephone company, had committed suicide.

On top of the sole mud were two valises containing electrical appartus, and a black derby hat. A note was also attached to one of the valises, which read as follows:

"If found, notify Telephone Company. Thanks."

Teacher Sues School Board

On applying for his position after a vacation, he was told that he was no longer a member of the department, and the board refused to reinstate him.

He now asks that the court compel the board to give him back his position, and also back salary at the rate of $200 per month.

MRS. KLINKNER REPLIES TO HUSBAND'S CHARGES

WRITES LETTER TO AID DIVORCE CASE

Sensational Story Related Concerning Actions of Politician

Denying that there is communion of soul between herself and J. W. McKinnon, formerly of Fruitvale and Arizona, and who is supposed to have been successful in the mining world, and who is now in Portland, Francys A. Klinkner of 1073A Fifty-ninth street, the divorced wife of Charles A. Klinkner, one of the heirs of the founder of the town which bears that name, rises in indignation to repudiate the motives imputed to be given by her former spouse as a ground for divorce, and at the same time lays bare the alleged high-rolling methods which Klinkner himself employed in enabling his wife and children to enjoy the comforts of a home.

The missive which Klinkner swears he found in a pocket of a coat of his wife, and which was addressed to McKinnon, the alleged soulmate, was, according to the story of Mrs. Klinkner handed by herself to Klinkner and for no other purpose than that of enabling him to proceed against her in a cross-complaint, after she had taken steps to secure a legal separation from him because of his alleged mendacity, bestial intemperance, brutal disregard of the comfort of his wife and the obligation of supplying his children with the necessaries of life.

Klinkner used the letter, but at the same time blackened the reputation of his former wife when he knew, according to her statement, that there was not even wireless interchange of heart adoration between her and the alleged

WHERE, WHERE, IS JOHN BURROUGHS? QUESTIONS SOCIETY

Where is John Burroughs, the naturalist, friend of ex-President Roosevelt and E. H. Harriman? Here is Mrs. H. H. Hart, the Claremont society woman, Charles Keeler, the poet, and Luther Burbank, the Santa Rosa plant wizard, all waiting to entertain and fete him, and according to cablegrams received this morning he is stranded in Honolulu.

Of course it must not be understood that Burroughs is shy of cash for steamer fare, but he cannot get passage because of the crowded condition of the steamers coming to San Francisco.

Mrs. Hart had her new automobile at the Oceanic Company's pier in San Francisco yesterday when the Alameda showed up from the Islands, and everything was prepared to whisk the famous naturalist to Berkeley and exhibit him to the populace and the college colony, but there was no Burroughs. It was very strange, thought Mrs. Hart.

At first she believed he might have been stowed away and ordered Collector Stratton to search the coal piles in the hold. Stratton suggested rather that he had jumped off at the Farralones to investigate some new varieties of flying fish which the Greek fishermen have been noting of late, but the wireless operator failed to report any strangers on the islands.

Mrs. Hart was discomfited. So was Charles Keeler, and so was Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, who hurried back from Del Monte in order to assist in making the stay of the naturalist pleasant in Berkeley.

All night long society in Claremont waited with bated breath and glaring electric bulbs until morning brought the cable flash that Burroughs was still in Honolulu.

Charles Keeler this morning said he hoped Burroughs would arrive on next steamer.

"We are all ready to give him a good reception, and we wish to take him up to Burbank's gardens as soon as he arrives," he said.

Mrs. Hart is hopeful of better results by next steamer, also.

HELD UP AND STABBED IN DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

Long Knife Is Plunged Into Victim When He Shows Fight

FLEE, LEAVING DYING MAN ON SIDEWALK

Crimes Takes Place Before Waterfront Saloon From Which Thugs Appeared

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Dying at the Harbor Emergency Hospital as the result of a dagger wound inflicted by two holdup men this afternoon, shortly after 1:30 o'clock, is J. Daniels, fireman of the steamship Peru.

The victim was making his way toward the Spear street wharf, where his boat is lying, and had reached the corner of Howard and Steuart streets when two thugs lurched through the swinging doors of a water front dive and grappled with Daniels.

Stabbed by Stiletto

While one man held the arms of the victim, the other proceeded to rifle his pockets. With a cry for help Daniels shook himself free from the robers. As he turned to flee up the street the man who had held his arms from the rear, drew a long stiletto and plunged it into the fireman's breast, the blade missing the heart by half an inch.

With a moan the victim sank to the sidewalk in an unconcious condition. The two murderous thieves then proceeded with their work. Forty dollars in cash was taken from the vest pocket of the dying fireman.

Found by Soldier

Leaving the victim where he had fallen, the two thugs disappeared, but not until a soldier, H. Maddern, has caught a glimpse of their flying figures, as they turned on Howard street from Beale. Maddern hurriedly summoned the ambulance from the harbor hospital, to where Daniels was taken, and where he now lies in a precarious condition.

Detectives are scouring the water front for two men, both dressed in very shabby fashion, and apparently Italians, height five feet seven or eight, and both wearing slouch hats.

Science Justifies Act of Cannibalism

CHICAGO, June 2. — A London special to the Tribune, says: Scientific justification of cannibalism was propounded by Professor Dr. Gowland Hopkins in an address at the Royal Institution.

"What would be the most efficient protein for men?" he asked. "Clearly, although not a point of practical dietetics," he answered himself, "the most sensible person in this connection is the cannibal. In consuming his own kind he is eating the right stuff, though it may seem grewsome."

Operate 612 Cars Despite Strike

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—The fifth day of the strike of street railway motormen and conductors opened with conditions quiet and practically unchanged. The company operating the lines, in a statement at 9:30 a. m., claims that 612 cars are in operation, ninety-six more than yesterday. In normal times the company operates 3300 cars. The strikers are hopeful that a movement on foot looking to arbitration of the matters in dispute will result favorably to them.

Alfred Ewing, Veteran, Is Dead

ALAMEDA, June 2.—Poundmaster Alfred Ewing died this morning at 9 o'clock at Mt. Zion Hospital in San Mrancisco. The death of the man, over whom there has been much controversy of late, ends the career of one of Alameda's oldest officials. He has served as poundmaster for 12 years. Ewing entered the hospital in San Francisco about a week ago to have an operation performed, and he never rallied.

Dr. H. M. Rooney, who attended Mrs. Archer during her illness, on his application for a death certificate stated her death was caused as uraemia.

Mrs. Gertrude Marsh, a daughter by Mrs. Archer's first husband, started the investigation and had the body of her mother disinterred.

TROOPS READY TO RUSH TO M'CLOUD DISTRICT

Governor Calls Out 500 of Militiamen to Suppress Menaced Riots

"I AM POWERLESS," TELEGRAPHS SHERIFF

Soldiers in Armory Now Await Further Word Regarding the Strikers

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—Govenor Gillett failing to find anything in the situation in Siskiyou alarming enough to justify the dispatch of troops to quell the belligerent strikers, said today that unless there was a turn for the worse he would disperse the militia companies under arms this afternoon. The Governor was severe in his criticism of Sheriff Howard whom he believed did not show a proper spirit in dealing with them. The Governor said:

"Give me sixty or eighty men, as this sheriff has, and I'll clean 'em out.

"I'd like to see any set of strikers chase me out of a mill as they did up there with sticks while I was clothed with the authority of a sheriff.

"The sheriff did not show a disposition to resist the strikers. If he had there never would have been any need for troops."

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—The Sacramento troops are still in the armory. The adjutant-general says they will not be sent to McCloud until further information is received from there.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—J. H. Queal of Minneapolis, president of the McCloud Lumber Company, arrived here last night and is in readiness to proceed to McCloud should he deem it advisable to do so. He telegraphed to Adjutant-General Lauck today, offering the General and his staff the use of his house in case the troops were sent there.

CHICO, June 2.—Company A of the Second Regiment of the National Guard is assembled at its Armory ready to proceed to McCloud upon the receipt of orders to do so. Fifty men of the full company o fsixty-four are under arms and fully equipped.

Big Plant Silent

The McCloud River Company is making no effort whatever to bring in laborers from other places. The mails to Sisson and Bartle are running as usual, but aside from that the great plant of the company is silent, except for the tramp of watchmen and armed deputy sheriffs. Although President Queal has not yet arrived, his presence would make little difference, as the company is firm in its decision not to yield to the demands made by the strikers, and the local management has been advised fully to this effect. THE BEST MUSIC OF THE MONTH

A Splendid Collection of Instrumental And Vocal Gems Presented in the June List of Victor Records

The June list of Victor records, just issued, contains two superb duets by Emma Eames and Emilio de Gogorza. These artists have just finished their successful joint concert tour and were evidently in splendid form, for in both "Mira d' acerbe lagrime" from Trovatore and "Crudel! perche finora" from Nozze di Figaro, the blending of their voices is remarkable in its smoothness and beauty. Lovers of Wagnerian music will be delighted with Frederick's Charge Against Elsa, from the first act of Lohengrin, sung in German by that famous Dutch artist, Anton Van Roy. His sonorous bass is at its best and he sings the difficult music in the true Wagnerian style.

A famous French soprano, Blanche Arral, of the Paris Opera Comique, makes her debut in Victor society. Mme. Arral, who has just finished a most successful tour of Australia, was persuaded to break her journey to Europe long enough to make records of a number of her favorite arias. Three of these records, all in French, are now presented: The famous "Czardas" of Millocker's, the "Sons Traviata air "Ah, fors' e lui."

Mme. Arral's favorite number, the operatic "Bird Waltz" by Vaerney, in which she gives a wonderful exhibition of voice flexibility, imitating the twitter of birds with skill and grace.

In band records, Pryor's Band comes to the front with two characteristic selections. One is "Teddy After Africa," a very amusing burlesque on the subject, composed by Mr. Pryor; the other is a magnificent record of the famous march, "Processional of Knights of the Holy Grail" from Parsifal, and a dozen more, including marches, waltzes and two-steps.

Persons who enjoy comic songs and dialogues are amply provided for this month. There is a comic song by Harry Lauder, entitled "Wearing Kilts"; a comic talk, "How Mother Made the Soup," by Charley Case, who is known to every frequenter of vaudeville; two new records by Nat M. Wills—a comic monologue and a "Jungle Town Parody," which deals with the adventures of Teddy in Africa.

Charles Vance contributes two of her current successes, Harry Macdonough and the Hayda Quartet sing a new and attractive little ballad, "Good Luck, Mary"; Arthur Collins and Billy Murray each render one of the newest song hits and numerous other well known singers are contributors to the Victor entertainment. Any one who is fond of good music can hear these selections even though he or she isn't a Victor owner. Victor dealers will gladly play any of these selections and the listener will feel well repaid for his visit and will learn as he can learn in no other way what great things the Victor has accomplished in the talking machine world.

An inquiry made there this morning resulted in the information being given out that none of them had ever seen Rabin acting in a suspicious manner and no one would admit to having observed a woman in his apartment, which consists of an office and an adjoining bedroom.

The secretary of the Builders' Exchange, who has charge of the renting of the offices, stated that Rabin is allowed the privileges of the association to the extent of using the telephone, and that other than seeing him once a month when he paid his rent bill promptly, very little was known about him.

It was thought that he was unmarried because of the fact that he had hired a second office to be used as a sleeping room.

Tires of Life

In addition to the letter above quoted, there are several disjointed scribbled sentences, in one of which he says he is tired of life, and another in which he denies that he is unfaithful to his wife, and that he has been a bad man, except to the extent of indulging freely in liquor.

He also denies another unprintable accusation, and it is apparent that some relative has been recently upbraiding him for his faults.

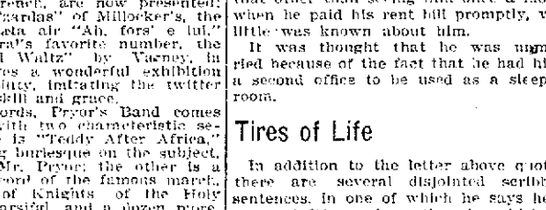

He speaks of some plans which he has under way, part of the money to be realized by them, he asserts, is to go to his wife.

That he was reasonably prosperous in his business life is shown by several memoranda left at his office door this morning by local builders. Both rooms are locked, and it is probable that the police will make no investigation into his private affairs unless his wounds prove fatal.

He was apparently about 40 years of age.

Mrs. Klinkner Declares "Affinity" Was Fiction of Her Own Invention

affinity from Arizona, who, she declares, Klinkner himself always brought to the home.

The perversion of her purpose, Mrs. Klinkner says, was so monstrous that she could not rest under the imputation and accordingly she sought her day in court through the forum of THE TRIBUNE to give her side of the case, although she had told her former husband that so anxious was she to be free from the intolerable misery of living with a man who had been so recreant of his conjugal vows she would make no reply to any allegation he might make in his cross-complaint.

She declares that she will still reside here, that she has nothing to be ashamed of and that people in his vicinity who have known him to be a scandalous spectacle for years will form a correct opinion of the injustice which has been done her.

Meanwhile for McKinnon, now in Portland, the woman newly freed from the shackles of matrimony declares there is no warmth in her heart; that she does not correspond with him; that she does not intend to marry him nor any one else, and also that no shafts of Cupid will ever again pierce the heart which is again whole and free. The woman's story is as follows:

Letter a Decoy, She Says

"I want to have my side of the story told. With respect to that letter I want to say that it was written with the full intention that it should fall into Mr. Klinkner's hands, thinking that it might be the means of bringing him to his senses. I will first state that, so far as the statement in the letter of infatuation for Mr. McKinnon is concerned, there was no sentiment on my part. He was a friend of Mr. Klinkner and he never came to the house save on the urgent invitation of Mr. Klinkner.

"I also want to say that I exonerate him from any connection with the affair. He knows nothing about it. He is now out of town and unable to defend himself in this matter.

"It is not true that the letter which he pretends he found in my coat and which purported to have been written to Mr. J. W. McKinnon, was found there by accident on Mr. Klinkner's part. He left the impression that I was in correspondence with that gentleman. There is not a word of truth in the intimation.

"That letter was written deliberately by myself for the purpose of enabling him to proceed. I had tried a number of ways for the purpose of enabling him to go ahead, and I had failed in all of them. I then handed him the letter, saying that if he wanted anything in the matter there was the letter. That is how he got the letter.

Not in Love

"I am not in love with Mr. McKinnon nor with any one else. I am not going to marry him or any one else. He is nothing to me. His affairs are nothing to me and mine are nothing to him. I resent any imputation as to my relations with this gentleman by Klinkner as outrageous and cowardly. I am not in correspondence with Mr. McKinnon, and have nothing to do with him, regardless of what Klinkner has said.

"Klinkner is the most inveterate liar I ever knew. He would tell me some of the most remarkable stories of where he had been and what he had done, and he would do that with a face that you could not get any other idea but that he was telling the truth. I would give him five dollars, for instance, to go down town to pay a bill and the next month I would get a note to pay it. But I have done with him now.

Denies Charges

"I want here emphatically to state that the allegation of improper conduct between myself and Mr. McKinnon is simply unfounded, unwarranted and defamatory in the highest degree. I was never in the gentleman's company save in my own house and then only when Mr. Klinkner was present.

"In regard to the divorce I brought the suit upon the grounds of intemperance and non-support. Every one in our locality knows Mr. Klinkner's habits, knows of his treatment of me and of his inability and indisposition to pay his bills or otherwise support his four children and myself. Since April, 1906, I have endured this and borne it without murmur, until my health and that of the children was undermined. He was accustomed to draw his warrants that he got for his work for the city and county, spending them before he would come home in drinking with boon companions. The result was that he lost his position in both places. He was also in the employ of the E. B. and A. L. Stone Company and he lost his position there also because of drinking.

Out Nights, She Says

"He used to remain away from home for as many as three days and nights at a time. When he would appear he would be hatless, coatless and sometimes shoeless.

"These were the shameless spectacles which he presented to the people of the neighborhood. It was the sensation of the community for years.

"Not satisfied with spending the money which he earned from the city and county and other places, and when he could get hold of no more, he mortgaged my furniture and even my diamond ring. With that money he would go out on what is called a 'time.'

"He had a system in this respect that was peculiarly his own. He used to carry a check book in his pocket and often when it became necessary for him to pay he would write out a check. Sometimes he would give a number of these checks in a night and then he would come home and soak everything that he could lay his hands on for the purpose of satisfying the banks for the checks which he had drawn on them.

Rent Due, Wife Declares

"Since December of last year he has not brought in a cent of money into the house. When I commenced proceedings against him there were six months' rent due on the house and all the butchers and grocers in Golden Gate, where he had lived all his life, would give him no more credit and the children were absolutely without needed clothing. Then I decided to stand it no longer and I filed proceedings for divorce.

"I decided that, inasmuch as he would not support our children when we were living together, it would be one continual worry trying to get support for them by law; and, as his folks are wealthy, it was no more than what was due to the children; and I signed papers, to the effect that the custody of the children be awarded to him, and therefore, retired from the case.

Been With Children

"As far as my giving over the right to see my children, I will say I have seen my children and have had them with me every day since divorce proceedings were started; and anyone who knows the law knows that there is no such thing as keeping a mother from seeing her children.

The charges that he filed in his cross-complaint, I never even saw nor even allowed to be mentioned to me, knowing that he could not obtain the custody of the children if I retaliated in any way.

"I have lived in Golden Gate for the past nine years with my family, having raised my little family of four children with the utmost care, doing all their work, taking good care of my house and in every way keeping my name above reproach.

"If there was the least truth in the charges placed against me, I certainly would or could not be able to do this to the entire satisfaction and commendation of my neighbors, my friends and the entire community.

Cared for Children

"I spent my evenings at home, caring for my children. Even his own people marveled at the way I handled my little family. At times, when he came home and was uncontrollable, I have sent for his mother, but I saw, as did everybody else in the neighborhood, that nothing short of action would accomplish anything in his case.

"In regard to the Doolittle woman, all she knew of our affairs was his intemperate actions in our house, to extent of going personally to my attorneys and advising them to influence me to obtain a divorce from him.

Tells of Trip

"As I have said, he was in the habit of absenting himself days and nights at a time from the house, but I refused to follow it up until I became desperate. I will mention only one instance of this kind. On or about April 29, I had occasion to go to Suisun after my little girl, who had been visiting there, being gone three days from the house. On my return home, Sunday evening, at 5:30 o'clock, I found that he had not been at home at any time during my absence and he could not even then be found.

"From his folks I learned that he had gone to sit up with a sick friend, who was dying from consumption. I knew that he had only one sick friends and that friend's name was Jack Connolly, living down in West Oakland.

"I learned Mr. Connolly's address from the directory and found it was down in the other end of West Oakland.

"Out of sheer desperation, I took my life in my hands and went to this address at 10:30 o'clock that Sunday night.

"I there learned that he had not been seen nor heard from by the Connolly family for two days.

Caught in Lie, She States

"I came home, and at 1 o'clock that night he came home and I asked him where he had been. He said that he had been staying at Mr. Connolly's for the two nights previous. I told him of my investigation and he had nothing more to say. It was then I decided to start divorce proceedings.

"When I told him that I was going to separate from him he begged me not to do it; that under the existing circumstances I could not be persuaded to listen to his appeal. I told him that he had been drunk, and lied to me, and otherwise abused me as long as I intended to stand it, and that I intended to seek reparation by law.

"I am residing with my mother and am holding a responsible position in San Francisco. As regards his denial of the charge that he pawned my diamond ring, that is something that he cannot do, for the reason that I can prove that it is false because I have the pawn ticket and he gave it to me. The ring has not been redeemed."

Most Liberal Offer Ever Made by Any One

Fer Don Tells Newspaper Man of Plan Which Permits Any One Who is Sick or Suffering to Obtain Relief For Practically Nothing.

In the offices of the European Experts and Bloodless Surgeons at 1069 Broadway there was great appreciation manifested by the score or more of people who called when Fer Don's representative made the announcement that during the month of June there would be no charge for consultation or examination, and that all cases would be taken for merely a nominal cost. "During the past nine months," said Fer Don's secretary, "our charges for consultation and examination have ranged from $1 to $15 and $20, according to the case, but in the future the fee will be abolished. Also each and every case that comes to our office will be treated at a nominal cost by our famed experts that we have brought direct from Europe."

The names of those benefited and cured by Fer Don's Experts and Bloodless Surgeons makes a longer list each day. The long list of testimonials of people living right in our midst, some of them friends and acquaintances, gives remarkable evidence of the fact that these men are really doing a marvelous work in curing chronic diseases, deafness, rheumatism, etc., and in removing tumors, cancers, gall stones and abnormal growths without the use of a knife by their painless and bloodless method.

There is every indication that this most generous offer that is now made will be received by the public with extreme gratification. Opportunities like this do not pass this way very frequently.

CRIME WORST IN HISTORY OF GREAT CITY

Sensational Disclosures Are Made in Chicago Mystery

OTHERS IMPLICATED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Startling Story Is Told to the Police Authorities by Doctor

CHICAGO, June 2 — The mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Nora Jane Cleminson was brought nearer solution today, it is believed, when Captain of Police Thomas Kane announced that he would examine a woman and a man who, he believed, would be able to give some information concerning the domestic relations of Dr. Cleminson and his wife.

According to Captain Kane, Cleminson told him today that Mrs Cleminson had tried to commit suicide two weeks ago by taking chloroform. The physician declared that he had found an empty chloroform bottle and asked her about it. She denied having used any of the poison and the physician said he believed her.

When found her dead on last Sunday morning he declared that he decided to tell a burglar story because he did not think any post mortem would be held and that his story would be believed.

Police Captain Kane this afternoon declared that Dr. Cleminson had made sensational disclosures to him.

"If what the doctor told me proves true, several others beside the prisoner are implicated in the death of Mrs. Cleminson," said Captain Kane. "According to Cleminson's story, the crime which brought this young woman to her grave is one of the worst in the history of Chicago."

WILL DO ADDITIONAL DREDGING ON THE LAKE

A contract was awarded by the Board of Public Works this morning to the American Dredging company for additional dredging of the arms of Lake Merritt. Both of the arms are to be dredged to a depth of fifteen feet. The other portion of the lake will be dredged to a depth of but five feet. The reason of the additional dredging in the arms is to catch the silt that comes into the lake yearly during the rainy period. By doing the dredging now, while the dredger is at work, the cost will be much less to the city than if dredged a year or so hence.

MRS. D. GILLIGAN
Nee Karen Weaver, Who Is Heroine of Romantic Secret Marriage

Surprising news of a charmingly romantic marriage which was solemnized with the utmost secrecy on the twentieth of last month at the County Clerk's office in this city, leaked out today when it became known that the happy conspirators are Miss Karen Weaver, daughter of Mrs. Lottie Boswell, of 763 Clay street, and Dennis Gilligan, engineer on the oriental steamer China.

The young couple had been engaged but a short time, and the attachment was unsuspected by even their most intimate friends when the bride, who is stenographer for a San Francisco mercantilife house suddenly took a vacation last month and now announces it was intended to be a honeymoon all along.

Gilligan and Miss Weaver procured a license here and were married on the afternoon of May 20th, spending a few days out of town, after which the bride returned to her mother's home and broke the news. Instant forgiveness was forthcoming and now the young people are planing to make their permanent home with Mrs. Boswell in a new bungalow she is building at Eighteenth and Market streets.

"My daughter's marriage was a complete surprise to me," declared the mother this morning. "I did not even know she was engaged. However, I am thoroughly reconciled and we have arranged that Karen shall continue to live with me at least until Mr. Gilligan's commission, which will take him to sea much of the time, expires."

Mrs Gilligan is an Oakland girl and has spent all of her life in this city, where she has a large coterie of friends. Some years ago she was librarian on the Oakland Herald, leaving to accept her present position.

To Prosecute Husband Under New Wife Desertion Law

LOS ANGELES, June 2 — Probably the first prosecution in the State under the new statutes making wife desertion a felony or high misdemeanor punishable under maximum sentence by two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary or a fine of $1000 was begun in Los Angeles today.

The law was passed by the last legislature and became effective May 10. The case is that of Lester L. Adams of Eagle Rock, who is charged with deserting his wife and their two children, aged fifteen and seventeen, for another woman.

Adams will make a defense attempting to show that he had reasons for not supporting his wife and that the desertion was on her part.

CHARGE AGAINST COURT IS FALSE

Perjurer's Accusations Declared to Be Wholly Without Foundation

WASHINGTON, June 2. — The charges against Judge Edward Meek, of the United States Court at Dallas, and United States Attorney Wm. H. Atwell, of the Northern district of Texas, "were wholly without foundation and cruelly unjust and for the sole purpose of securing a delay in the prosecution of a man whose offense against innocent victims in the fraudulent use of the mails deserved the severest punishment."

This was the announcement made today by Attorney-General Wickersham after a thorough examination of a complaint by person in Dallas, representing Wm J Hogue, recently convicted of fraudulent use of the mails and later of perjury. During that trial Hogue charged Judge Meek and Atwell with improper conduct in his trial.

POLICE HAVE NEW WITNESS IN CASE

Chinese Claim to Have Seen White Man Slay School Girl

LOS ANGELES, June 2 — Three Chinese, Charles Sing, Charles Bong and We eKing, laborers on a truck farm near Tropico were arrested and brought to the county jail last night by Deputy Constable G. C. Lockridge in connection in the murder of Little Annie Poltera.

Lockridge says they told him how one of their number saw a young white man, an opium fiend, who was accustomed to hang about their camp near the Los Feliz school, entire the Poltera girl into a secluded place by the roadside and slay her. Sheriff Hammel is today questioning the Chinese through an interpreter, but he places little credence in the story.

PACIFIC MAIL TO WITHDRAW BOATS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. — The Pacific Mail Steamship Company has decided to withdraw its steamers to Panama on August 3. It has notified the United States Government, which is engaged in the attempt to secure vessels to place on the run.

H. S. Bates, of the firm of Bates and Chesebrough, a shipping firm of this city, admits that J. P. GRAND JURORS QUIZ POLICE JUDGES

Want to Know Why Bail For Alleged Gamblers Is So Low

COURTS DECIDE TO INCREASE AMOUNTS

Differences in Bonds of White Men and Chinese Causes Comment

In the opinion of the grand jury, bonds given by violaters of the anti-gambling laws when arrested have been altogether too low, and with the object of rectifying the delinquency in this respect, the jury had before it this morning Justices of the Peace Smith and Samuels of the Police Court, and Quinn and Geary.

The justices explained the methods which had been practiced in their courts with reference to bonds covering these cases, and all of them agreed with the jurors that the laws might be better upheld if the bail exacted were made higher.

Average Bail

During the conference the fact was developed that the average bail given by persons arrested for gambling has been from $30 to $50 in each case.

The jury stated that in its opinion the bonds should not be less than $100 and should run as high as $500 in cases of lottery dens and poolrooms. The justices agreed with this suggestion entirely and left the impression that they would follow the suggestion in the future.

Different Sums Asked

During the discussion the fact was also brought out that while the recent raids were made on the poolrooms in the county the bonds of persons arrested were generally fixed at $500, while in the cases of Chinamen where they were arrested for running lotteries their bonds were never higher than $100, and sometimes not that high.

The justices did not vouchsafe any explanation of this discrepancy, passing it over with the observation that probably the circumstances surrounding the cases of the Chinamen did not show as flagrant abuse of the law as was shown in the cases of the poolroom keepers.

BATHE INFANTS DAILY, IS ADVICE

"Pacifiers Are Inventions of Devil," Declares Trained Nurse to Mothers

Weigh your baby every week.
Do not let flies touch it.
Do not give it a "pacifier."

Do not rock it and juggle it up and down.

CHICAGO, June 2—Mothers and babies in the Hull House district attended school in the Mary Crane Nursery yesterday. A trained nurse told the mothers just how to care for their babies properly and a baby was demonstrated upon for the benefit of the other babies.

"The pacifier, an invention of the devil's to spoil your baby's mouth," and "nursery bottle, the lazy mother's baby killer," were definitions placarded in the nursery and it was further declared that pacifiers caused adenoids and often total deafness, enlarged the tonsils and caused the baby's mouth to grow awry. Every nursery bottle, except that devised by the milk commission, was called insanitary and branded as impossible to keep clean.

"But what are we going to do to keep 'em still?" murmured one perplexed mother.

"Bathe your baby every day," was advised. "Keep it clean and cool and don't let the flies get at it. Then it will be so comfortable it won't want to cry. Weigh it every week. A normal, healthful baby gains all the time and if yours doesn't show an increase at the end of each week something is wrong. Your diet or the baby's is not right. Then you must see a doctor at once. That is the only way to insure your baby's health."

The talk was the first of a series being given by the health departmnet and a number of club women in co-operation.

JONES RELEASED ON COURT'S ORDER

Alleged Conspirators in McCrea Case Freed For Lack of Evidence

Joseph Jones, accused of being one of three conspirators who sought to poison Mrs. Edith McCrea of Fruitvale with whisky doctored with morphine in order to prevent her from testifying against Charles Mack, accused of grand larceny, was released on motion of Prosecuting Attorney Decoto this morning.

The evidence in which a conviction might be expected would be the same as given at the preliminary examination of Charles Mack on the grand larceny charge. This evidence was insufficient, according to Decoto, who stated he had taken the matter up with District Attorney Donahue.

The cases against "Pop" Reader and Mack will also be dismissed. Mack has been held to answer for trial on the grand larceny charge, and is now confined at the county jail.

COST OF PAVING STREET ESTIMATED AT $11,000

ALAMEDA, June 2.—It will cost in the neighborhood of $11,000 to asphalt Santa Clara avenue, from Park street to the west line of the Elks' property, according to figures submitted to the city council last night. The council referred the proposition to the street committee, which will investigate the proposed improvement and find out what it would cost the city and the property owners.

SCALP CUT OPEN.

Dr. Akerly begs to announce his removal of residence to 1074 Twelfth St. Phone A 3309; Oakland 4041.

BUILDING TRADES WELCOME LEADER

Vice-President McSorley of American Federation of Labor Addresses Delegates

There was a largely attended meeting last night of the Building Trades Council, at which quite an amount of business was transacted.

There was present, beside the delegates, A. W. S McSorley, general president of the Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers' Association, and fourth vice-president of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, who is making a tour of the Pacific Coast in the interest of the trades organizations mentioned, of which he is an able representative.

McSorley was accorded the floor and was heartily greeted with applause when he rose in response to a pleasant introduction by President Wardell to address the delegates.

He told of many of the cities and organizations which he had visited since he left his home in Indianapolis on his tour of inspection of the building trades organizations of the west. His recital was general, but interesting and full of information. He dwelt upon the solidarity prevailing among the building trades unions in the country and the benefits which had been and were to be derived from the organization and maintenance of those unions, especially when further strengthened by affiliation with building trades councils wherever that was possible.

He also showed in a succinct manner that building trades mechanics are better organized now than they have been at any time since the inauguration of the movement in the United States.

McSorley is a young man of pleasing personality but eloquent and agressive.

At the close of the address of the gentleman, the council took up the question raised some time ago as to jurisdiction in the matter of overlapping when working on the same job between carpenters and lathers and it was announced that the matter had already been settled by the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor.

The vote of several unions, through the delegates from those organizations, on the question of holding a parade of the building trades unions on Labor Day, September 6, was announced and most of them were favorable to the project.

The Central Labor Council has already decided to parade on that day and brought the fact to the attention of the Building Trades Council, requesting the latter to consider the advisability of joining them in the demonstration.

At the last meeting of the latter organization, the subject was referred to the several building trades unions for a referendum vote as to whether they were in favor or opposed to the demonstration.

The vote is coming in gradually and it is not expected that all of the unions will be heard from for probably a couple of weeks. There is one impression however, that a majority of them will favor a parad on the day in question.

The joint picnic committee of the San Francisco and Oakland Building Trades Council met in the Building Trades Temple, San Francisco, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock and selected the general committees to have charge of the outing which is to be held in Shellmound Park on the afternoon and night of labor day.

The Journeymen Tailors' Union of A., No. 266, have nominated candidates for officers for the ensuing year as follows:

TROOPS READY TO RUSH TO M'CLOUD

Governor Gillett Declares Sheriff Is Not Doing Full Duty

anything, the strikers are quieter than usual. There is no parading, drinking, carousing or speech-making. The strike is fast settling down to a test of endurance, and there is no sign of either side yielding.

The sheriff says that his deputies reported to him today that they had heard Italian strikers threaten that McCloud would be in darkness tonight, as the electric light plant would be disabled, but this same threat is said to have been made yesterday and nothing came of it, for McCloud was illuminated as usual last night.

Sheriff Howard declares that the state militia is not needed, though he admits that the situation may change without a moment's notice and that troops will be very desirable.

Hold Powder Mill

He says that the fact that soldiers are now ready to move at any time is itself a quieting influence. The strikers still have possession of the lumber camp's powderhouse, but no harm has yet resulted. There are about as many non-strikers as strikers, perhaps 700 of each. The Americans who have not struck are becoming restless because of the prospect of a long wait before they can resume work and are beginning to leave to secure employment elsewhere.

Not a single Italian has yet departed, and in fact the ranks of the strikers have been slightly increased by fellow-countrymen coming in from the outside to lend them support.

Governor Gillett last night ordered six companies of the State militia to be ready to proceed to McCloud, following the receipt of telegrams that striking lumbermen were preparing to seize the electric light plant and plunge the town in darkness.

Companies E and G, Second Infantry, of the National Guard, slept on their arms last night in the Sacramento armory. Troop B will accompany the infantrymen from Sacramento and companies from Chico, Colusa and Woodland, with an additional from the Fifth Infantry, yet undecided, making in all nearly 500 men.

Violence Feared

A special train is ready to make the run in twelve hours' time. Appeals for help poured in on the Governor throughout the day, many of the telegrams declaring that the strikers had collected large stores of dynamite and firearms and that preliminary acts of violence indicated a reign of terror for McCloud unless troops were sent to restore order.

Sheriff Charles Howard of Siskiyou county sent two disquieting reports on the seriousness of the situation, declaring that any attempt on his part to quell the incipient disorder would be followed by riot and bloodshed.

The Governor was inclined to regard these reports as unduly alarming until he heard from Colonel A. W. Bradbury, assistant to Adjutant-General Lauck, whom he had sent to McCloud to investigate.

Colonel Bradbury's advices to the Governor last night confirmed the reports that the strikers were getting ready to seize the electric light plant and have McCloud at their mercy in the dark.

Five Companies Mustered

Gillett then issued orders to Adjutant-General Lauck, instructing him to have five companies of the National Guard assembled at their armories and to hold them in readiness to embark for McCloud.

The mustering of the militia attracted much attention at Sacramento, great crowds collecting around the armories.

Threats of the lumber employers to operate the mills with imported help have aroused the strikers to a high pitch, and the Governor intends to put McCloud under martial law on the first serious outbreak.

MAY NOT ADOPT MACADAM PLAN

Concrete Likely to Be Used on East Side of Webster Street

ALAMEDA, June 2—That macadam will not be used in the construction of the east side of the Webster street roadway seems to be certain The Pacific Improvement Company has sent a letter to the City Council stating that it will give $6000 toward the improvement of the thoroughfare if it is constructed along the same plan as the west side was about two years ago The west side was constructed by the Hassara Paving Company and is of solid concrete. In order to obtain the $6000 toward the expense, the council will most likely abandon the idea of using macadam in paving the thoroughfare.

Twelve bids to do the work were submitted to the council last night They were opened and read and then referred to the street committee, which will probably make its report at the next committee meeting

CHANGES HER MIND TWICE: DELAYS SHIP

NEW YORK, June 2—Because of the tradition right of a woman to change her mind the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II was delayed many minutes yesterday in sailing for Europe. The Misses Julian and Georgia Carson of Pittsburg had booked passage, and early yesterday Miss Julia declared that she was indisposed and would not sail. Their trunks had then been sent aboard and Miss Georgia went to the pier a few minutes before sailing time and ordered the trunks taken from the ship. After four or them had been taken off it was discovered that the fifth was in the hold and his trunk contained about $20,000 worth of jewelry The captain ordered the hold opened and the sailing time of the vessel had passed when Miss Julia Carson arrived in a taxicab and announced that she had again changed her mind and would sail on the ship. The sisters went aboard and several minutes more were lost in putting the trunks back on the vessel.

ALAMEDA, June 2 — A number of changes were made in the school department last night at the regular meeting of the board of education These were made necessary by the resignations of members of the faculty and by the leaves of absence granted teachers

BANK SHORTAGE SAID TO REACH $137,000

LEWISTON, Idaho, June 2.—National Bank Examiner Claud Gatch is authority for the statement that a shortage has been discovered in the funds of the Lewiston National Bank. The stockholders have made the shortage good. It is said that the defalcation amounts to $137,000.

President F W Kettenback of the bank corroborates Claud's statement.

"Of course no suspicion attaches to any employe now in the bank," he said. "The defalcations show the result of a gradual abstraction covering a period of five years and no large sum was taken at any one time."

EDOFF READY TO PAY NINTH DIVIDEND

Receiver of California Bank Asks Permission of Court to Meet Emergency

FILES FULL REPORT FOR MONTH OF MAY

Has Cash on Hand and in the Bank Amounting to $47,977.91

In his report covering the transactions of the receivership of the California bank during the month of May, just tendered to the Superior Court by James P Edoff, he asks permission to pay the ninth dividend of 5 per cent to the depositors on and after June 21. The amount necessary to pay the dividend will be about $47 200 and the receiver has cash on hand and in bank $47 977 91 with which to meet the emergency.

On May 15, 1908, the court instructed Receiver Edoff to sell the $18 000 note capital stock and chattel mortgage given by the Standard Supply Co. to the California bank to H L Hinman for $5000 cash, payable $500 on confirmation of the court and $250 a month thereafter until the full sum had been paid, without interest. In due course of liquidation there was due on May 16, 1909, on the Hinman contract, the sum of $1734. As a consideration for the payment of the balance and the settlement of the account, the receiver agreed with Hinman to discount the $1734 at 10 per cent, which amounts to $174.40. Edoff explains this transaction by saying that inasmuch as the contract bore no interest and the money was worth 6 per cent, and if assigned he would have to pay a 2 per cent brokerage, the actual discount to the bank estate was 2 per cent. or $34 68. He therefore asks for an order confirming his action and directing him to release the chattel mortgage and deliver the stock which he holds.

Caro Mills Compromise

In connection with the Caro Mills' compromise the receiver states that on April 9, 1909, the court approved the sale of property owned by the California Bank, corner of Twenty-third avenue and East Fourteenth street, to Caro Mills for $7500 cash and a deed of trust for $25,000, running one year with interest at 6 per cent per annum net, payable in installments of $500 per month until maturity, when the whole balance would be paid. In order to raise enough money to pay Dividend No. 9 of 5 per cent, of which mention is made in the foregoing, on May 28th the receiver agreed to give a receipt for $500 on the deed of trust in consideration of $4900 having been paid to him. The discount for cash is $100 and Edoff recommends that the court approve his action.

Comes Up Friday

With reference to the proposed compromise with W. J. Piatt, Flexo Building Paper Company and Bayside Manufacturing Company, which will come up in the Superior Court for reconsideration next Friday, the receiver says that he shall have witnesses produced at the hearing who may throw new light upon the matter, which he trusts will warrant the court in confirming the compromise he has recommended, and in the matter of commission on the sale of the Twenty-third avenue property of the bank to F P Cook, the receiver says that he has allowed $600 to F. L. Baxter and $200 to F. C Waters, both of whom were instrumental in bringing about the sale. The total of this commission amounts to 3 1-2 per cent of the purchase price. Edoff says he feels that this settlement is a reasonable one.

Henry Malloch has paid to the receiver in full his indebtedness of $4000 to the bank, and the latter reports that he has released the realty mortgage covering the obligation, which action he asks the court to confirm.

Trial at Ventura

The assignee of 528 depositors of the California Bank has filed his petition in the Superior Court of Ventura county in the matter of the people against D. Edward Collins and John Stevenson Collins, as co-partners doing a banking business in the name of William Collins & Son, for the purpose of obtaining the order of the court for the payment of the stockholders' liability of the bank. It will be necessary in the trial of the issue involved in the matter, that the receiver and his clerk, Mr. Downing, should go to Ventura and that certain books and records containing the accounts of the interested depositors should be taken there and for these reasons Edoff asks for an order of court to this effect and that during his absence at the trial the office of the receiver be closed.

In this connection the receiver has instituted suit in the Superior Court of Alameda county against D. Edward Collins, former president of the California Bank, Emma M. Collins, the Barber Asphalt Company and fictitious persons for $15,000, claimed as due on a note. Collins and his wife are alleged to be the makers of the note and the other defendants claim to have an interest in the property mortgaged to secure the payment of the note.

Receiver's Report

According to Receiver Edoff's account for May, submitted with his report, the cash on hand and in bank on April 30 amounted to $29,424.32. The receipts during May amounted to $22,040.24. The disbursements during the month amounted to $3486.65. Since the April accounting loans have been reduced in the net amount of $26,340 75 and the net excess of income over operating expenses since the beginning of the receivership to June 1 is $20,926.51 The net reduction of liabilities is $584,558.37, and the total per cent paid to creditors is 50. On April 30 the assets of the receivership amounted to $636,318.74, and at the end of May they were $636,584.63.

Elks Hope to Bring to Oakland Coveted $1000 Prize For the Best Drill Team at Grand Review

—Dorsa Photo.
DRILL TEAM OF OAKLAND LODGE, NO. 171, B. P. O. C.

OAKLAND Lodge No. 171 of Elks is going to Los Angeles to capture that first prize offered by the Grand Lodge for the best drill team at the grand review in July. The prize is $1000 and Oakland wants the thousand if there is any chance to get it.

The Oakland drill team has not been parading its work very much, but nevertheless it has been at drill earnestly for some little time and the boys who compose the battalion now feel that they are ready to measure work with any team in the country.

The Grand Lodge reunion in Los Angeles will be one of the biggest events that has ever taken place in Elkdom. Also there will be fully one hundred, if not more, drill teams that will come from all over the United States to compete for this prize, and Oakland is going to have no easy time to walk away with the pennant, but they are going to try the best they know.

The battalion is in charge of Colonel J. K. Ritter, and if any one can bring that prize to Oakland it is Colonel Ritter. He has had a great deal of experience in this line of work. For twenty-seven years he has been connected with military organizations from the regular military service to fraternal military organizations. In this period of time he has drilled some twenty teams similar to this and in seven national contests he has won the first prize. This does not mean State or district contests, but contests where drill teams came from all parts of the United States.

Colonel Ritter is a natural leader of men and he has been able to keep the drill team of Oakland Lodge working by the force of his own personality. The members of the team are willing and anxious to work for him and this has had more to do with the success of the team than any other one factor.

The picture was taken in the service uniforms of the team. The uniforms that will be used for the exhibition drill will arrive this week and are splendid specimens of military talloring art

INCINERATOR SITE VOTE MISCARRIES

Plan to Pay Over Money in Dispute Falls Through

BERKELEY, June 2. — The town trustees contrary to expectation, did not complete the purchase of the proposed site for an incinerator at the foot of Camelia street. The property, which comprises seven acres and is owned by former Postmaster George Schmidt, was bargained for a month ago and a warrant for $5000 of the $15,000 price agreed upon ordered drawn on the auditor, M. L Hanscom. Hanscom, on the advice of Earl H. Webb, the boss of the goo-goo incoming administration, refused to approve the warrant and Schmidt some days ago won the first round in a mandamus proceeding before Judge Harris in the Superior Court.

Something Went Wrong

It was on the cards that the board should order the whole money paid as the funds are now available but the vote last night showed that something miscarried. The matter was not reached until after midnight and when only three votes, Mayor Ferrier, and Trustees Olsen and Schmidt could be mustered in favor of the plan.

It is probable that at the next meeting of the board the transaction will be completed.

NO BILL BOARDS ON BUILDINGS

Ordinance Will Prohibit All Projecting Advertising Signs in City

Within thirty days all billboards and advertising signs that project from the buildings will be torn down. This was the prediction made by Mayor Mott this morning at a meeting of the Board of Public Works, when the application of an advertising firm to erect a sign at the corner of Twelfth and Broadway streets was turned down.

Mayor Mott stated that it was the policy of the city government to beautify the city in every respect, and that offensive advertising matter must go.

"In denying the application Mayor Mott said: "It is the intention of the administration to make a beautiful city of Oakland, and an ordinance will be introduced at the next meeting of the council which will have for its object the elimination of billboards and other advertising devices that mar the beauty of the city. There are many persons who do not care how much they mar the appearances of the city so long as a few paltry dollars coming in fro mthe rental of space for advertising purposes. We are after these persons and will have a law in the next thirty days which will prevent the avariciously inclined from doing anything to spoil the esthetic appearance of the city."

Councilman R. C. Vose will introduce the ordinance referred to by Mayor Mott.

CAR STRAPS TOO SLICK FOR BACTERIA TO ALIGHT

NEW YORK, June 2.—White kid gloves may now grasp with impunity the straps of the new open pay-as-you-enter cars on the Third-avenue line. The hanging straps are completely covered by a celluloid enamel composition of pure white. They are to be cleaned every day and washed with a sponge and they can be perfumed and disinfected if necessary. The Board of Health is said to be delighted with the innovation and warmly approves the effort to save the device's slippery Alpine heights from which wicked bacteria would slide and break their evil necks.

SENT AWAY TO TEST THEIR LOVE

Papa Webster Takes Son to Alaska, Leaving Young Fiance to Weep

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2—Because he loved, wisely, perhaps, but too young, Carroll Webster, son and heir of Robert Webster, an Alaskan millionaire, has been shipped off to the far north, while his girlish sweetheart, Miss Alice Quinlan, graduate of Notre Dame, society girl and daughter of W. S Quinlan, living at 1135 Masonic avenue, has been left behind to mourn.

Young Webster is 19 years old. Miss Quinlan is a year younger.

"They are both just kids and don't know their own minds," says gruff Webster senior, so yesterday when he sailed for Alaska on the steamer Umatilla, he took his son with him despite his protests, while the girl from the dock was left to weep on the motherly bosom of Mrs. Webster, whom she had never met until the hour before.

Young Webster and Miss Quinlan have been engaged for some time past. She wears his diamond ring and no secret has been made out of their marriage-to-be.

Now they declare they will wait forever for each other and Webster declares that if the young people's love bears the test of absence he will bring his son back next winter and then—well, then he says he'll see.

New rules were adopted by the Board of Public Works this morning in the matter of governing the installation of electrical apparatus in buildings. City Electrician Babcock was authorized to enforce what is known as the National Code, when the provisions of the code did not conflict with any of the city ordinances.

The request of the several large electrical firms that the cash bond deposited with the city to guarantee the payment of fees, be raised from $50 to $100, was vetoed by the board. Mayor Mott pointed out that such a course might deprive some smaller concern of the privileges of doing business.

MINING MAN IS CHASED FROM HOTEL BY WOMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2. — J. J. Cusick, a mining engineer of Marysville, met his Waterloo when he was chased from the St. Francis Hotel yesterday at the point of an umbrella by Mrs. Lela Nelson. The feud between the two has been brewing for some months, and is the outgrowth of Miss Nelson's interference with Cusick's position with her brother-in-law as manager of the California Mother Load Mining Company. She finally succeeded in bringing about his dismissal.

Yesterday she followed him to the St. Francis Hotel, in this city, where he has been stopping, and administered a public beating as a final instance of feminine power. Cusick has left town.

Commander Richardson, accompanied by W. F. Pierce of San Francisco, grand chancellor of the order in the United States, was met by the following reception committee:

J. A. Hill, chairman, ETAOIN NU NU

J. B Merritt	H. F Starbuck

After an enjoyable automobile ride through the suburbs, the party returned to the Key Route hotel and had dinner in a special dining room reserved for them.

Given Reception

A reception by the Scottish Rite bodies on this side of the bay was the concluding program for the evening. This was held at the new Scottish Rite temple on Madison and Fifteenth streets, It was but a short while ago that this handsome building was dedicated and as the grand commander was not able to be present then all honors due such an occasion were exercised on him last night. Over five hundred members were present. The business for the fore part of the evening consisted of conferring the thirtieth degree on a class of forty-five by J. A. Hill, master of De Molay Council No. 2, of the Knights of Kadosh. He was assisted by S. D. Inskeep, first lieutenant, and D. H. McGrew second lieutenant.

The reception was one of the most brilliant affairs ever given by the organization and was heartily enjoyed by Commander Richardson.

He is at present on a tour of the Pacific Coast, visiting the various bodies of the Scottish Rite, and will soon leave for Portland and Seattle, having so far visited Mexico, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Fresno, Sacramento and San Jose.

A. P. HANSCOM IS CHOSEN TRUSTEE

Will Fill Vacancy on Ocean View Board Left Vacant by Galvin

BERKELEY, June 2.—A P. Hanscom, an employe of the California Ink Works, was last night appointed to fill the vacancy in the Ocean View Board of Trustees, due to the resignation of John Galvin a week ago.

Walter O. Crosby, superintendent of the Bruce Lumber Company, was first choice of Mayor Roberts, but he was not willing to accept the job, and Hanscom was a compromise candidate, being a friend and fellow employe of Trustee A T. Lindquist. Earl Tenny was the only other candidate, being supported by Trustees Brown and Courtney, while Hanscom had Mayor Roberts and Trustees Galvin and Lindquist on his side

Better Glasses

Look back 10 years. This firm was small indeed and several important houses domina ed the optical business.

Look around you now. Some of the once powerful have passed away. Some pursue an unnoticed existence, all enjoy diminished conseqence save CHINN-BERETTA. This firm has grown in your favor until with six big stores its serves more customers and fits more glasses than any three or four optical houses together.

Why this reversal of position? The logic of the situation drives into your mind and answers, "Superior Service from Chinn-Beretta," "Better glasses by Chinn-Beretta." WITNESS HELMS BECOMES EXCITED WHEN ACCUSED OF PERJURY BY ROGERS

Appeals for Protection; Attorney for the Defense Declares He Will Prove His Charges.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—With John H. Helms, Burn's gum shoe man, advancing threateningly toward Attorney Earl Rogers, and with every member of counsel, together with all of the policemen, detectives and bodyguards closing in toward the two men, an exciting and dramatic scene was presented during the trial of Patrick Calhoun this morning.

It was at the climax of a verbal combat between Helms and Rogers, when after the sleuth had testified to seeing certain reports in the hands of counsel at the second Ford trial, the defendant's attorney asked:

"Don't you know that you perjured yourself when you said it?"

"You've called me a perjurer long enough, and I defy you to prove it," yelled the detective.

"I will do it before I get through," cried Rogers.

While these exchanges were going on, Helms, his face distorted with rage, advanced toward his questioner. Counsel, too, was plainly very angry, while every one present seemed quaking with excitement. All of the attorneys arose. The detectives especially assigned to the courtroom, the two bailiffs and Bodyguards McCarthy and Otts came forward.

It looked as though all feared there would be gun play, but, like so many previous encounters of the kind, the air was quickly cleared and all soon found their seats.

SAN FRANCISCO, June2. — The mystic innerworkings of the gum shoe brigade operated by Special Agent William J. Burns was revealed during the morning hearing in the Calhoun trial today. Attorney Francis J. Heney having worried along again with Judson W. Reeves, stenographer for Attorney Charles S. Wheeler, whose memory was, as usual, faulty, and only to be remedied by frequent references to his stenographic notes, called a halt and passed from the inquiry into the trapping of the supervisors.

It had been brought out that Burns had given Golden M. Roy $2000 with which to carry on the work but the witness had seen the money passed to Lonergan only.

Helms Contradicted

After he was excused, the name of Mrs. Mike Morgan was called, but no response was heard, and a similar result came from the summoning of Mr. Platt and Detectives Russell and Schindler of the Burns staff. Heney, left without witness, fell back on his old standby and regular daily assistant, John H. Helms, who, in his best fighting trim, took the stand.

He identified the reports taken in the Burns raid on the United Railroad offices, and produced two piles, one of documents alleged to have been taken from Burns' office, and the other regular reports compiled by the detectives of the company. Led by the questions of the prosecutor, he repeated a former statement to the effect that these reports had been brought to the Ford trial and looked over by counsel and defendant.

"Did you see Calhoun looking at any of them?" inquired Heney.

"I did," was the answer.

"Did Calhoun talk with any of the attorneys regarding them?"

"I only saw an attorney hand Calhoun a paper and he would look it over and then smile, and then talk about it. I didn't hear the conversation."

"Take the witness," concluded the prosecutor.

Questions by Defence

Attorney Earl Rogers who, since the repeated recall of the gum shoe man, has had no opportunity to cross-examine him, was ready with a number of rapid-fire queries, which precipitated a war of words almost immediately.

"Don't you know that was during the impanelment of the jury in the Ford case, and that it was a list of the jurors that was handed?"

"Absolutely, no."

"When you saw this yellow paper in the hands of counsel, was it in the first or second Ford trial?"

"In the second."

"Don't you know that the impanelment was from lists which were marked exclusively?"

"The impanelment was by that right there (pointing to the yellow document), Mr. Rogers, and you know it."

"Don't you know there never was a single report in that court room in the hands of a single attorney?"

"No, I don't know it. I have testified there was and I'll stick to it."

"Don't you know that you perjured yourself when you said it?"

"You've called me a perjurer long enough, and I defy you to prove it."

"I will do it before I get through," thundered Rogers.

Helms Threatens

"I defy you to do it," retorted Helms. "I've stood it long enough. I'm under the protection of this court and I won't have these insults any longer."

The witness had risen from his chair, and as before, advanced towards his questioner. Heney had also jumped up from his position, and all the members of counsel on both sides, the court bailiffs, Heney's bodyguards, and the uniform policemen in the court room advanced toward the position occupied by the defendant's attorney. The threatening attitude of Helms, and the manner of counsel seemed to indicate that matters has assumed a worse trend than the ordinary byplay and sarcastic repartee of the court room, and appearances justified the action of the officers. The spectators held their breath for a moment, and the general fear seemed to be that gun play was in the wind.

It was a tense moment, probably one of the most dramatic situations that has presented itself since the commencement of the trial, and it was Judge Lawlor, himself, who succeeded in a measure, in bringing about order.

Heney Talks Some

Heney had been trying to get in a word, but his statements had been unintelligible up to this point. Now he had his chance

"If this conduct is persisted in," he declared, "I will ask the court to punish counsel for contempt. I am here to protect every witness. This witness, whom we put on the stand, I am here to look out for as well as the court. I feel it my duty to see that this witness is given the protection which the statute affords him."

"The witness will receive the protection which the statute affords him," responded the court, endeavoring to interrupt Heney, but not succeeding.

"He has once been called a dirty dog," yelled the prosecutor, without stopping, "and now Mr. Rogers has called him a perjurer."

With this last thunderbolt, Heney, who had worked himself into a passion, took his seat, while Judge Lawlor put forward a rebuke.

"If he does it again, somebody will go to jail," he asserted. "What is the motion?"

"The statement of Mr. Rogers, in the form of a question, that the witness is a perjurer, we move be stricken out," replied Heney.

This ended the first encounter of the morning, and once more the sacred order of Masons was made the subject of inquiry.

Member of Masons

"Where were you made a Mason?" asked Rogers, addressing Helms, who had himself been trying to hurl accusations at the defendant's attorney during the preceding fracas.

"In New York and in Italy," was the answer.

"What is the name of your lodge?"

"Sylvan Grove."

"When were you made a Mason?"

"1898."

Continuing, it was brought out that the sleuth had never been a master, but while sailing on a ship, had been advanced from the third to the thirty-second degree in Italy, making the jump in three months.

"Do you claim to be a Knight Templar?"

"No, sir; I'm a thirty-second -degree Mason."

"Have you ever worn the charm of a Knight Templar?"

"Yes."

"You say you've worn the charm of a Knight Templar. Do you claim to be a Knight Templar?"

"No, sir."

"But you wore the charm — do you understand me?"

"I'm going to understand every word you say before I answer. You are simply trying to trap me."

Helms Gets Tired

A moment later the witness admitted that he had not worn a Knight Templar charm, but merely a thirty-second degree jewel. He was angered at the line of questioning, and in a moment asked:

"Are you a Mason, Mr. Rogers?"

"That's something I will disclose after a while."

"I wish you would pass to something else, I'm getting tired of this," retorted Helms.

Judge Lawlor made a similar direction, and after a few more queries regarding Masonry, Rogers interrogated the gum shoe man regarding the reports which he had segregated.

"Can you give me the names of any of the men whom you claim made these reports?"

"If you will hand me the papers so I can see the initials, I will do so."

"Can't you remember any of them?"

"I prefer to have the papers."

"I'm asking you for your memory. You surely know some of them."

"Then I guess I'll refuse to testify."

"Please give me the names of them?"

"Please tell me the initials?"

"Can't you give them to me?"

"I wish to be cautious and careful under your examination, Mr. Rogers."

Helms Contradicted

Counsel succeeded in contradicting Helms regarding the reports taken from Burns' office, the witness having previously stated that the originals were guarded closely and never left the office, whereas, today he asserted that they were taken away and copies of them made.

Heney, examining once more, brought out facts regarding some dealings between William M. Abbott and Rex Hamlin of Burns' office. It appears that something had been said, according to the witness, about Hamlin's services being worth $10,000 to the United Railroad Company, but later Abbott had declared that they could win their case without having to resort to any such procedure.

Decorated By Czar

The prosecutor thereupon went into Helms' private history, which read like that of a dime novel hero. He had been almost all over the world, had served in the United States cavalry in 1889, the Twelfth Prince of Wales Lancers, where he was a rough-riding corporal, the United States marines in 1897, the United States post office as an inspector in 1902, and later the United States secret service. While in the latter service he had been decorated by the Czar of Russia, and while in the army he had received service medals and other acknowledgement for bravery.

One of the papers taken in the Burns' raid was then shown to the detective, but he was unable to state by whom it was made, and was released from the stand.

Robert W. Baranoff, an adjuster for the United Railroads, was next called.

"How long have you been employed by the United Railroads?" inquired Heney.

"Since 1904."

Moore Has His Laugh

"Did you take a trip to Harris, Humboldt county, recently?"

"No, sir."

"You did not?"

"No, sir."

"That's all," the prosecutor.

"That's all," re. Stanley Moore, laughing.

"Remain in attendance," ordered Heney and turning to the counsel, he added.

"You better wait with you. gh; you laughed too soon."

Miss Helen F. Hitchings of Eureka, a school teacher at Harris, was thereupon summoned, and detailed the circumstances of Helms having talked to Lamb over the telephone from the hotel. She had met the detective there, and had heard the conversation and later had been interrogated by Attorney Monroe as to whether the men had been quarreling, also inquiring about the telephone message.

Moore Laughs

Mr. Baranoff, will you step forward?" requested Heney, at this point, and after that gentleman had complied with the request, he asked:

"Did you see this man up there?"

"No, Mr. Heney," was the reply.

"Now can we laugh," inquired Rogers, as he did so heartily.

"Yes, you can laugh now, and can also produce the man if you will," retorted the prosecutor.

Stops Inquiry

Heney thereupon brought out that a certain Mr. Lee had gone up to Harris, and it appeared that Baranoff had been called to see if he were the man. The court, recognizing the defendant's objection, would not allow the inquiry to go any further, and Attorney A. A. Moore volunteered:

"One would understand by the circumstantiality of the account that there were several gentlemen to see her there."

"You gentlemen seem to know a lot about the occurrence," rejoined Heney.

"You make a noise as if you knew about it," was the retort.

Maybe It Was "Raffles"

The prosecutor having concluded, Attorney Stanley Moore asked:

"You don't know whether it was Raffles who went up there, do you?"

There was no answer and after a few moment's counsel inquired as to whether Miss Hitchings had talked with any one connected with the prosecution since coming here. She replied that she had spoken to Laurentzen this morning.

"When did you arrive here?" questioned the defendant's attorney.

"On Monday," was the response.

"Where?"

Witness Hesitates

The witness hesitated and seemed not to desire to answer. The query was then repeated by Judge Lawlor and Heney, coming to the rescue, declared:

"Laurentzen subpoened her."

"Oh, he came down from Eureka with you?"

"Yes."

"Acted as your traveling companion, did he?"

"Yes."

Miss Hitchings stated that she had told Monroe that Goff had gone and stood at the door while Helms was telephoning, but that she was not sure of that now, and wanted to be careful in answering questions. When Heney took the witness in charge again, he brought out that she had been to his office yesterday and consulted with him about the case.

Adjournment until 2 p. m.

Yesterday's Session

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Detective Goff, being still on the stand at the afternoon session yesterday, testified that Helms had told him that he thought it contemptible in Lamb to have brought up his Masonic membership. After Heney had brought out that he had conducted some investigations for the United Railroads at the time of the strike, the witness was excused. Helms next being placed on the stand, stated that he had examined some of the papers taken in the Burns raid on Calhoun's offices.

Some of these, he contended, had been made by himself and his men, and some had been given him by Platt, alleged to have been taken from Burns' office. It was suggested that the gum shoe man be again released, and set to work to segregate the reports and make a list of them.

Counsel Repartee

Some exchange ensued between counsel and the court regarding the report and occasionally Helms put in a word. Attorney A. A. Moore did not like this and so stated.

"It seems to me, your honor," he protested, "that the witness is not any part of this colloquy. I think he's entirely too fresh."

Assisted by a representative of the defense, the detective then proceeded with the work.

Captain Atchison, property clerk of the police department, was then recalled for the purpose of testifying regarding the packages of reports taken in the Burns raid, after which Norman Melrose, a detective employed by Luther Brown, was placed on the stand.

He was asked as to whether he had seen or heard of Mike Morgan since he was last on the stand, and he returned a negative reply. He had, however, had a talk with Mrs. Morgan last night.

The witness had made several money payments to her for the account of her husband.

Law Clerk Summoned

Judson W. Reeves, a law clerk in the office of Attorney Charles S. Wheeler, was thereupon summoned. He had acted as a stenographer during the interview between Burns and Golden M. Roy. He had looked through a peep hole while Burns had had his eye to a crack. There had been a second hole also, and Attorney A. A. Moore summed it up when he said:

"There seems to have been two holes and a crack."

The matter being referred to was the trapping of the supervisors in the skating rink ordinance. The witness was unable to answer a single question without referring to a paper which he brought with him.

On February 9, 1907, he had seen money passed. He was in a little room at Roy's house looking through one of the holes. He observed Roy pass some greenbacks to Mr. Walsh, and heard the latter say, "I want to show you that I keep my word." Roy said, "Here's your $500."

The ex-supervisor then promised to see that the skating rink bill was killed and left.

The fall of Lonergan on the following afternoon was then gone over. Burns and the witness had hidden behind the folding doors, and watched $500 turned over. They later sprang out upon the ex-supervisor and informed him that he had been caught.

On cross-examination Attorney Moore took Reeves over the ground of the trapping of the supervisors again in an endeavor to find out in just what manner it had been planned and carried through. It appeared that ex-Supervisors Walsh, Lonergan and Boxton had been the only ones thus caught in the act of receiving money, and the testimony was largely the same as that which has already been given by other witnesses in the present trial.

On redirect examination Heney apparently became angry with the witness, and asked him in one instance to put aside the paper and answer his queries independently. This was the result of Reeves having inserted his own ideas in the replies.

He had asserted that Dr. Fiehn had been present at one of the trapping operations, but later admitted that he might have had him confused with Boxton.

Adjournment until 9:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Woman on Stand

Miss Minnie Morgan, the wife of Mike Morgan, frequently referred to by Heney, was called as a witness at the opening of the afternoon session. She was asked regarding the whereabouts of her husband and stated that up to Friday he had been at his ranch at San Martin, but she did not know where he was at present. Questioned as to her acquaintance with Mr. Melrose, she affirmed that she had spoken to him over the telephone one Monday after being summoned to the trial, and asked him if her subpoena was legal.

She had seen Melrose frequently and had often telephoned him. She had received a letter from her husband on Friday, but had burned it.

Surprises Heney

Mrs. Morgan proved something of a Tartar in the hands of Heney, and he was unable to handle her very well. She retorted quickly and positively to all of his questions, and her testimony was replete with surprises and home thrusts, which plainly startled the people's attorney.

"Last March," replied the witness.

"Has he been back here since then?"

"Yes, he was home and returned to the ranch on April 5."

"When were you subpoenaed?"

"Last Monday afternoon."

After explaining that she had immediately after telephoned to Melrose from a cigar stand in the neighborhood, she asserted that she had not gone there again because Korngold, one of the Burns spies, followed her.

Accuses "Gum Shoe" Men

"Korngold and another man even sent some boys down to tell me that my husband wanted me on the phone," she declared.

"What number did you use in telephoning to Mr. Melrose?" inquired Heney.

"Park 2357, but that was not the number you got."

"Is that so?" returned the prosecutor. "What was the number I got?"

"The cigar man told me he gave the detectives Market 280."

"He gave a different number, did he?"

"Well, he told me that Korngold wanted to know what number I had telephoned to and that his boy gave the number Market 280."

"And what was the right number?"

"Park 2357."

"Do you know where your husband is now?"

"No, sir."

Told Him to Skip

"Did you tell him to go away?"

"Yes, I did. I told him to keep out of the way until the case was over."

"What did you do that for?"

"Because I don't want him brought in here."

"Why?"

"I don't think he knows anything that would do you any good and I didn't want him tied up here."

"You know he was employed by Mr. Melrose, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"And by Mr. Helms before that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you write and tell him to go away?"

"Yes, I told him to go as far away as he could, and sent him money to go."

"Where did you get the money?"

"Whose money is it?"

"My own."

"Did you get it from Melrose?"

"No, sir."

"Did he write you where he went?"

"No, sir."

Burns His Letters

"Why did you burn his letter?"

"I burn all his letters."

"Why?"

"I burn them because if the house is searched they couldn't find them."

"How did you send him the money?"

"By money order."

"What was the amount?"

"Ten dollars."

"That is all," concluded the prosecutor.

"No questions, Mrs. Morgan," said Attorney Stanley Moore.

William J. Otts, ex-prize fighter, gum shoe sleuth and bodyguard to Francis J. Heney, was thereupon summoned and testified to having accompanied Korngold to subpoena Mrs. Morgan and to having stood about eighty feet from the house while his brother detective went in. Later, when Korngold had left, Mrs. Morgan came out twice and looked around, then went to a neighbor, and then went to a cigar stand to telephone, while Otis paid a boy to followe her.

WIFE KICKED HIS SHINS, HE SAYS

Declares Spouse Called Him Murderer and He Really Hadn't Killed Any One

Among the allegations of extreme cruelty contained in the complaint for a divorce just filed in the Superior Court by Arthur J. Utley against Rose L. Utley, the husband says that about three years ago his wife falsely and without excuse or provocation accused him of the crime of murder and that subsequently she has repeatedly called him a "chaser" and a "flirt."

Utley also states that his wife has been in the habit of scratching his face with her finger nails and biting him, deviating occasionally from this particular method of inflicting punishment upon him by smashing him in the face with her fists and kicking his shins.

The couple were married in Omaha in November, 1902, and have two minor children, the custody of both of whom Utley asks the court to award to him. Utley is interested in the sewing machine business in Alameda.

LABOR MEN WILL HAVE A TAG DAY

Propose to Raise Funds For Workingmen's Orphanage at San Lorenzo

There will be a meeting tonight at the headquarters of the Central Labor Council, at the corner of Broadway and Eighth street, of the joint committee of the Building Trades Council and the Central Labor Council on the Workingman's Orphanage at San Lorenzo.

Both committees have been considering the matter for some time, and tonight will agree upon a means of raising funds to further the enterprise, the principal purpose of which will be to house and maintain the orphans and the half-orphans of working people, and others, when the capacity of the home will allow.

It is understood that at this meeting will be reported the consent of Mayor Mott to encourage the holding of a tag day for the purpose of raising funds for this undertaking.

The Mayor has in several instances refused to give the sanction of the city government to requests for tag days, because of the frequency with which those days were held some time ago, and which continue to be held if not restricted.

The Mayor holds, however, that this is a laudable case, and has granted the desired permission and his action in this matter will doubtless be availed of by the committee in question.

When Will the Farce End?

More than five months' time has elapsed since the Calhoun trial began, and the end is not yet in sight. For the last two or three weeks the issue in the case has been abandoned for side excursions in various directions and inquiries wholly irrelevant to the charge.

For instance, the prosecution is now busy trying to prove Patrick Calhoun offered a bribe to Fred P. Nicholas in May, 1906, by conversations between third parties within the last six months regarding wholly different matters. On the strength of the unsupported testimony of John H. Helms, Heney, in open court, charged Alonzo J. Monroe, a reputable lawyer and former District Attorney of Humboldt county, with perjury and with an attempt to suborn a witness to leave the State. The witness Monroe was accused of attempting to suborn is John H. Helms himself. Now Helms confessedly knows nothing about the alleged bribing of Nicholas. On his own showing he is a corrupt and venal traitor in the pay of Spreckels. He was employed as a detective by the United Railroads, and after leaving that employ betrayed his clients to Burns. While in the pay of Spreckels he re-entered the employ of the United Railroads for the avowed purpose of learning the secrets of the defense and betraying them to the prosecution. He admits that he sent word to Winfield Lamb, a friend of William M. Abbott, that he would be false to Burns and true to the United Railroads if paid $3000, but says he made this offer as a trap. He substantiates himself by relating an alleged conversation he had with Charles Goff, a police officer, who was detailed to assist Burns. Goff, it appears from the account submitted in court, received money from Spreckels's fund. He admitted that Al McCabe, an attache of the District Attorney's office, had once given him $100, and that Raymond Burns, son of William J. Burns, gave him $50 at another time. Goff corroborates, of course, Helms' account of what they said to each other when no one else was present.

If this is not a manifest attempt on the part of paid employes of the prosecution to confess a man guilty of something they know nothing about, we are at a loss to understand the proceeding. This is a specimen of the kind of testimony that is being taken before Judge Lawlor:

"I told Goff that Lamb had told me that I was to stand pat and not go against the United Railroads, and that they would stand by me till hell froze over," said Helms. "I told him that I had told Lamb to go back and that I would stand pat if they gave me $3000. I had arranged, I said, to have him come himself to a hotel in Eureka so that Goff could hear what was said."

So what a venal rascal says he told another agent of the prosecution is to be taken as proof that a lawyer of high standing like Mr. Monroe is a perjurer and a corrupter of witnesses.

All this sort of testimony has the brand of purchase on it. Not only is it irrelevant to the offense charged in the indictment, but it is in the category of things which cannot be proved or disproved. By what means can the purport of a conversation between John H. Helms and Charles Goff at which no one else was present be ascertained? An alleged statement of Helms to Goff is presented as a proof that Helms had no corrupt motive in telling Lamb that he would leave the country if he was given $3000. Always we have the unsupported word of an acknowledged crook against that of several men of fair repute and honorable standing. Alonzo J. Monroe, Hugh O'Neill and Winfield Lamb are all to be condemned on the strength of what Helms alleges he said to Goff!

Could anything be more futile or farcical? Yet it is all beside the point. False or true, it throws no light on the alleged bribing of the Supervisors. Helms says he hired an employe of Burns to steal for the defense copies of the reports regarding prospective jurymen, but even if this be true it is no proof that a bribe was offered Ferd Nicholas. The information contained in the reports said to have been stolen at the instigation of Helms is something the defendant is entitled by law to know. But it was being withheld and concealed from the defense. It was collected by agents of Spreckels to be used by Heney, also in the pay of Spreckels, in the effort to convict Calhoun, or, to speak more specifically, to aid in the empanelment of a jury prejudiced against the defendant. If unfair methods were employed to secure the information, it was equally unfair to conceal it from the defense, and was obtained in a manner obnoxious to the moral sense. Moreover, when a man has his liberty and reputation at stake and is being fought in an unfair manner by personal enemies who have secured, by hook or crook, control of the machinery of the law, he is not apt to be squeamish about the means he employs in his defense.

But all this presents a side issue It is apart from the issue before the court, namely, the charge of bribery. Through its paid agents the prosecution is endeavoring to prove a mass of things, which, if discreditable to the defense, is no credit to the prosecution and if true no evidence going to sustain the indictment. The trial has become a farce that is tragical in its effect on the administration of justice. Judge Lawlor has committed enough errors to reverse a hundred cases. If the verdict is in favor of the defendant it must stand unquestioned. A verdict of guilty would be of no force and effect because it would be promptly reversed by the higher courts because of the admission of a mass of irrelevant and improper evidence. From the beginning the trial has been characterized by irregularity and general departure from judicial precedent and the established method of procedure Judge Lawlor's revolutionary method of empanelment made the selection of a jury a matter of months, and when the issue was joined he defied every rule of evidence, and has permitted Heney to transgress all bounds in denouncing witnesses and others connected with the defense while testimony is being taken and in making derogatory statements regarding the defendant not in proof and not in issue.

The trial is costing the taxpayers of San Francisco an enormous sum which will be spent to no purpose since a conviction is not probable and would be abortive if obtained. It all comes from allowing a privately paid and privately employed attorney to run the court and its machinery in his own way. Hence a course of procedure that says in effect "to h—ll with the law and the higher courts." Isn't it about time the people who are paying the piper had something to say about the way the public business is being handled and the public money spent? Is crime being published or committed by the gross perversion of the forms of law? Is the community being benefited or the cause of public morality served by the Heney-Lawlor method of conducting prosecutions? Lawlor is classed as a prosecutor because he is as much a prosecutor as Heney and as little concerned about the legality and morality of the means employed to secure a conviction.

Oakland's New Territory.

The Board of Supervisors has granted a permit to the Oakland and Antioch Electric Railway to use the inter-county tunnel for the laying and operation of its track. The privilege extends until the year 1936. This permit was granted in compliance with the decision recently rendered by Superior Judge Ellsworth in the test suit instituted by the District Attorney to enjoin the corporation from laying its tracks in the tunnel without a franchise, which the Supervisors were in doubt about their right to grant. Judge Ellsworth's decision that a franchise was unnecessary and that the granting of a permit by the board would suffice removed the only obstacle in the way of carrying out the project forthwith.

The Contra Costa county Supervisors granted the corporation a franchise from Antioch to the county line a long time ago. The Alameda county Supervisors also granted them a franchise over the county road for 300 feet south of the tunnel entrance, whence the corporation has a private right of way to Oakland. The permit to use the Alameda portion of the inter-county tunnel puts the corporation in a position to proceed with the construction of the work at once. The enterprise has been financed and there is nothing now in the way of proceeding with the work of track construction at once.

The carrying out of the enterprise promises substantial benefit to both counties concerned. It will give the most productive agricultural section of Contra Costa county direct communication with a market and open up to settlement what has been hitherto an almost inaccessible territory. It will put Oakland in close touch with this territory, which is now so remotely related through existing means of transportation as to be practically outside of Oakland's pale of commercial influence. The new electric railroad will bring it practically to Oakland's door. To all intents and purposes it will add the custom of tens of thousands of Contra Costa county people to Oakland's trade.

Seattle's Exposition.

Seattle's Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition was opened yesterday noon by President Taft, who pressed the button at Washington, D. C., and the electric flash did the rest. Preparation for the event had been long in progress, and it was done so well that everything was complete and in readiness for the opening at the hour set for that purpose. That is a record, we believe, that no previous exposition held in this or any other country has made. The average exposition is opened with everything in and about it in an unfinished state, and weeks frequently pass before the plans are fully developed. The management of the Seattle Exposition is, therefore, justly entitled to credit for having accomplished one thing, at least, unprecedented in the history of expositions.

In other respects the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is unique among industrial fairs, as the main feature in it is a display of the resources of the remotest, least known and least developed of the territories of the United States. It has in recent years, however, demonstrated to the world at large that its resources are manifold and among the richest of any part of the North American continent. The exhibits displayed at the exposition will illustrate what these natural resources are, and to the great majority of the visitors to the fair will doubtless be a startling revelation. While Alaska is now chiefly in the world's eye as a gold producer of wonderful richness and vast capacity, with an auriferously mineralized area more expansive than any other State or Territory under United States sovereignty, the exposition will doubtless demonstrate to the satisfaction of every visitor that the Territory posseses other resources which are in nowise of less importance or of less prospective value.

Seattle has had the enterprise and the foresight to assume the cost and responsibility of making this display of Alaska's natural wealth and the possibilities of future intelligent development, because it has come closer in touch commercially with the Territory than any other part of the country, and whatever development follows in the Territory as a result of the exposition it shrewdly realizes will inure more greatly to its own benefit than to any other city on the Pacific Coast.

The British exploring steamship Nimrod, which recently carried the Shackleton Antarctic expedition that nearly reached the south pole, has sailed from Sydney, Australia, for a group of islands located within the Antarctic circle, on which no human being has, so far as known, ever set foot, in order to plant a British flag thereon and thus establish British sovereignty. Although the islands may be apparently worthless, the British government is following the old-time principle that they may become valuable strategetically or otherwise some day.

The arrangements for the cherry festival at San Leandro next Saturday have been completed in every detail and the event promises to be as unique as it will doubtless be a great success. Thousands of visitors will doubtless attend from all of the bay cities and the countryside. Many tons of cherries have been promised by neighboring orchardists, which will be distributed free. It promises to produce great results for the benefit primarily of San Leandro, but incidentally for the whole of Alameda county also.

Fruitvale is to have an opportunity on June 26 to back up the ambition of its progressive citizens to get a Carnegie free library, the Supervisors having granted the application for the holding of a library district election on that date. Fruitvale can undoubtedly get a generous gift from the Carnegie library fund if it will only put itself in a position to guarantee the maintenance of such a library as the contribution toward the erection of the building contemplates shall be maintained.

If any reader of THE TRIBUNE neglects to read the classified ads published in its pages daily, he overlooks one of the most interesting and useful of its many important and attractive features.

The Decadence of the Stage.

It begins to look as if some of the magnates who have acquired the control of most of our theatrical affairs during the last ten or twenty years were becoming conscious of the weak points in their syndicate system and seeking to escape threatened disaster by a reversion, in part at least, to older and sounder methods. Of two facts, patent to all observers, they, as shrewd business men of their kind, must be fully aware. They must know that all actors and actresses of the first rank in this country have practically disappeared without leaving any successors to take their places, and that there is no certain source to which they can look for capable recruits. Such recruits must be found, or nothing can stop that progressive degeneration of the theater which has already reduced it almost to the level of the music hall.—New York Post.

PEOPLE IN THE EYE OF THE CRITICS

Bryan---Will He or---

Much the people admire Mr. Bryan. He is an orator among orators, is intellectually the peer of the ablest, and morally without spot or blemish. We have confidence in his sincerity and purity, but the Democratic party can't win under his leadership and if that leadership — dictatorship had well nigh slipped out — is to be continued, and Mr. Bryan, as his utterances seem to imply he wants to be and as there is no doubt he can by his control of the party be, the Democratic nominee for President in 1912, the victory would as well be conceded to the Republicans at the start. Three different times he has led the party to defeat. He can't win. The independent voters who always decide national elections are afraid of Mr. Bryan and his policies. They may be wrong but they have never yet been convinced that they are wrong. They want a sane and a safe candidate and a winner, and they do not so consider Mr. Bryan. It is unfortunate that it is so, and it is to be regretted that one of a character so lovable should be so regarded, but the three defeats to his credit both prove and emphasize the belief that it is so. Mr. Bryan can not be elected; he is the old man of the sea on the back of the Democratic party, and he should eliminate himself—none else can do it—and while eliminating himself render to the nominee of the party and the principles enunciated by the convention the same loyalty and the same enthusiasm he has always so insistently demanded of other Democrats. But will he do it? Or will he render again the same half-hearted service and allegiance and again damn with faint praise as in the case of Judge Parker? And that's the rub. It is full time that Mr. Bryan is told that he is a has been, and that he must get out of the way and give the party a chance.—Cleburne Enterprise.

Death Roll of 4th of July

It is evident from the comments of the press on the present evils of our Fourth of July that there is urgent need of a definite control and wise direction of the popular use of this holiday. The roll of dead and wounded for the last ten years, as compiled by the Chicago Tribune, is eloquent in its warning. The figures tell their own story of an insensate and reckless abuse of the day's privileges:

Year.	Dead.	Wounded.
1908	72	2,736
1907	58	3,807
1906	51	3,551
1905	59	3,109
1904	78	3,049
1903	52	3,605
1902	31	2,706
1901	35	1,803
1900	58	2,707
1899	33	1,742
Totals	508	29,085

That these statistics, gathered by July 6, are below the real totals there is seen from the tabulations of the Journal of the American Medical Association made in August, when tetanus had had time to do its dire work:

Year.	Dead	Wounded.	Total.	Tetanus.
1908	103	5,460	5,623	55
1907	164	4,249	4,413	62
1906	132	5,308	5,466	71
1905	182	4,994	5,176	87
1904	183	3,986	4,169	91
1903	466	3,983	4,449	406
Totals	1,316	27,980	29,296	776

Surely the sorrow, suffering and mutilation here represented mock the claim that our July Fourth, as at present observed, is in any sense a festal day; rather is it a day of terror, anxiety and dread.—Atlantic Monthly.

Topics, Timely and Interesting

In an article strongly supporting medical inspection and treatment of public school children the Lancet says that "pupils have become the property of the nation, and the nation has acquired a right to protect them from the carelessness or ignorance of their parents." The Lancet adds: "The experience of Germany seems to lean to the institution of 'school clinics' as the most economical and convenient arrangement for securing the medical attention that is required in town; and it is manifest that such clinics could be easily established in every large town, placed so as to be conveniently accessible from groups of schools, and officered by two or three or more of the neighboring general practitioners, with the aid, when necessary, of dentists and of opthalmic or aural specialists, whose visits might be made as frequently as the needs of the locality required. But the services of all concerned must be paid for."

In a letter from Dresden an American speaks of the "patriotic efforts of the Germans to exclude from their writing and conversation all foreign words," and of their inability to do so. "In one paper," he says, "in which an editorial appears on this subject, I found also a list of guests at a 'cottage sanatorium,' a description of a picture by Ludwig Dettmann entitled 'The Picnic,' and of another painting by Arthur Kampf, 'Der Clown,' and an article on the movement against the Berliner Theater, with the headline 'Das Boykottierte Theater.'"

"Stuart Washington—what a high sounding name it is and how much confidence it inspires! On a visiting or business card it recalls the high character of the great American and a romantic period in the history of England. The name Charles Stafford, as Washington's associate, while it may not add strength or dignity to the firm, looks well. But 'Washington' and 'Stafford' were only the assumed names of Albert and Samuel Schlesinger," according to the Vienna Neue Freie Presse, "and they are now behind prison bars awaiting trial for an inheritance swindle in which a credulous Vienna merchant became the victim to the extent of 70,000 kronen An imaginary uncle who died in the West Indies and a mythical fortune of 75,000,000 kronen which he left in the Bank of England were the tools with which the Schlesinger brothers operated."

Editorial Comment From Press of the Country

THE PROGRESS OF UNIFORM LEGISLATION.

A conference of the governors of New York and the neighboring States has met in New York to consider a uniform divorce law. The Southern governors met in New Orleans this spring and drafted a uniform child-labor law for their respective States. At the instance of Governor Guild of Massachusetts, a conference of the governors of the New England States met last fall to discuss forestry, fisheries, and automobiles—all subjects calling for uniform legislation. The first article of the constitution of the American Bar Association says that "its object shall be to promote the administration of justice and uniformity of legislation throughout the Union."—World's Work.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR CITIES.

"The playground is equal to the school in developing the character of children in the cities," is the opinion of the president of the Metropolitan Parks Association of New York. From his observation he is convinced that the greatest obstacle of the development of good citizenship, and at the same time one of the greatest forces making for crime and the production of criminals, is the lack of proper housing, and particularly the lack of proper breathing places, in the slums.

Parks and playgrounds must be provided. This is the slogan of the times, starting from the discovery that the provision of playgrounds had direct effect upon the problem of the juvenile court. The older cities that have awakened to the fact almost too late to do anything, point the moral to smaller or younger cities, where something may yet be done. Procrastination only makes the problem harder to solve.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE LOST LESSON.

It is plain that association with Grover Cleveland in 1894 instilled into Hoke Smith none of that man's spirit and determination. Indeed, it seems reasonable to suppose that Smith looked past his chieftain and puffed his soul with admiration for another figure of that troubled summer, the figure of John P. Altgeld, then Governor of Illinois. Else, how could Smith assume today the attitude he has taken toward the law-breakers of his State?

It was Cleveland, with whom Hoke Smith was in daily association, who upheld the law and crushed disorder. It was Altgeld who encouraged rioting, defended incendiarism, assault and murder. It was Smith who took stock of both men, who weighed the methods of each, who balanced the services both rendered to their country and who elected to play the part of an Altgeld when fate put him in a situation in which he had a choice to make.

Cleveland and Altgeld are dead, but of the men who struggled for mastery in Chicago in 1894 there remains one who was then and is now conspicuous Has Eugene V. Debs sent to Governor Hoke Smith a message of approval and applause?—New York Sun.

BETRAYED.

We welcome the belated promise of tariff reform now affected by the Republican party, * * * but the people cannot safely trust the execution of this important work to a party which is so deeply obligated to the highly protected interests. * * * We favor immediate revision of the tariff by the reduction of import duties Articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products should be placed upon the free list. * * * We demand the immediate repeal of the tariff on pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs.

In the House of Representatives a month ago forty Democrats voted against free lumber. In the Senate this week seventeen Democrats did the same. Thus a specific demand of the Democratic platform was defeated by Democratic votes. Democratic votes also defeated free hides and free iron. For the first time in 50 years Democrats this spring have had an opportunity, with the aid of progressive Republicans, to give effect to their pretense of principle. This shameful record shows how basely they have acquitted themselves.

These are political sins for which punishment is certain. They affront decency and good faith. They reveal a degradation in our political life which almost passes belief. They put the Democratic party on trial not for its principles but for its honesty. Errors of judgment may be defended and excused, but perfidy finds no apologist anywhere. A political party that is false to itself is false also to the people, and the judgments which they inflict are final.—New York World.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Gambling for gambling, the lottery, which has at least the merit of limiting the risk and of being impartial in its results, is in nowise more harmful and demoralizing than other forms of gambling which American occupation planted in Cuba. The lottery, together with the chicken fighting, is the one sign of deliverance from supervision which arouses patriotic fervor among the Cubans.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Legislature of New York, like that of Pennsylvania, has adopted the plan of getting rid of a troublesome demand by "putting it up to the Governor." It must be said to the advantage of Pennsylvania that the State pension bill failed of passage at Harrisburg, whereas a similar bill was enacted at Albany and passed on to the Governor for his veto. The purpose was evidently to embarrass the Governor by whatever offense he might give to the Grand Army, while the members of the Legislature took credit for their patriotic liberality.—Philadelphia Ledger.

During the present legislative session, thanks to the initiative of Senator Jones, a drafter of bills has been at the service of the Illinois Senate. If a bill offered by Senator Jones and passed by the Senate this week becomes a law a permanent bureau will be created to do similar work henceforth for the entire Legislature. The plan is to establish a reference library in charge of a person skilled in collecting and classifying material of special use to legislators and also to establish a department of bill drafting under the direction of a lawyer having special training in such work.—Chicago News.

Questions to Ask the Martians

When Prof. Pickering gets that flashophone of his working, thereby putting us in communication with Mars, we should be ready with our questions. It would be absurd to establish the communication at an expense of ten million dollars and then not have anything to say. Have you any authoritative knowledge as to the age of Ann?

Have you seen the man higher up lurking around any of your tow paths?

What are your impressions of America?

From where you are, does the earth look like a pinhole in a rubber blanket or a microbe floating around through space?

Have you planted your early spring beets yet?

What will you give us for Emma Goldman, Carrie Nation and Abdul the Dammed, f. o. b. or C. O. D.

Are your canals locked or on the level?

From where you are sitting can you see an English joke with the naked eye?

Whom do you consider the greatest living American?

For more than a week after marriage a man will eat things he doesn't like just because wife cooked them.

The average girl may not be a success as a stone tosser, but when it comes to throwing a hint she is Susie-on-the-Spot every time.

The reason a mother knows the baby will probably be President, if he isn't so good that he has to go into the ministry, is every President was once a baby.

HELEN HOLMES IS A SURPRISE

Shows Wonderful Emotional Power in "The Great Divide"

A great audience was thrilled by the intensity of the situations and scenes in William Vaughn Moody's splendid drama, "The Great Divide," at the Liberty Playhouse last night, and judging from the manner in which the piece was received yesterday it is easily the best thing the Bishop players have done this season.

From the time-honored materials of melodrama, a woman selling herself to the least hateful of three ruffians to protect herself from the other two, and in the end growing to love her husband, Moody has produced a drama that, from its interaction and clash of character and the potery both of its conception and its lines, rises far above the mere theatric effectiveness of melodrama The theme of "The Great Divide," it will be seen, is not new. It has been used before in "Ingomar" and many plays of lesser note, but its method of treatment and beauty of language causes it to stand by itself It is the story of the softening of a man's nature and the humbling of a woman's pride, and guilding all, forcing love to grow where hate seemed alone possible, is felt everywhere the hand of fate. This story is unfolded amidst such unusual surroundings and in such an original manner that it completely fascinates the auditor, making the drama one of the most gripping, vital plays the stage has seen for many years.

Players Deserve Praise

Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the stock players for the manner in which they interpret the play. Helen Holmes, in the part of Ruth Jordan, does the best acting of her season In the lighter scenes she was as charming as ever, but it is the emotional power she displays that is so surprising. Her effort to conceal her emotion in the presence of her brother was wonderfully acted, and the passage where she tells her husband of her growing love and then of its sudden death was given in a manner that brought tears. Landers Stevens as Stephen Ghent played with a calmness and sense of restrained power that brought forth the best acting he has done for some time From beneath the rough exterior of the man he succeeded admirably in bringing out the innate bigness of soul.

Though "The Great Divide" is essentially a play of two characters, the other parts were well played. Georgie Cooper gave an interesting performance of the good-hearted, rather light-headed young woman, whose marriage, as she says in the last act, though happy enough, "was not Ruth's and Stephen's, made in Heaven." George Friend, as Winthrop Newbury, the "unfinished product," whom Ruth could not love, was manly, and James Keane, as Philip Jordan, did what he had to do well. The other parts, especially that of Elmer Booth as Lon Anderson, were creditably filled, and the settings, especially that of the second act, were most effective.

"The Great Divide" will be given for the remainder of the week, and is to be followed by "Old Heidelberg," selected for Landers Stevens' closing week.

SECRET SERVICE AGENT FLOURISHES REVOLVER

NEW YORK, June 2.—Scores of persons in the grill room of the Hotel Belmont last night were thrown into a panic by an argument between two men in which one of them drew a revolver. The armed man was arrested and at the police station, where he was charged with intoxication, he said that his name was Oliver Jordan and that he was a United States secret service agent. In his pocket was found a secret service identification card issued to Charles W. Schroeder on February 10, 1908, and countersigned by Chief Wilkie.

POLICE SECURE YEGGMAN'S CODE

Manuscripts Found Give Instructions For Blowing Various Safes

NEW YORK, June 2.—That safeblowers and yeggmen have a literature as well as a language of their own was established to the satisfaction of Inspector McCafferty yesterday by an inspection of some manuscripts found in the possession of "Deafy" Hunt, a gifted investigator of safes, who was arrested at No. 30 Washington street, Brooklyn, Monday night. These manuscripts are yellow with age and worn on the creases and largely written in cipher.

The cipher is comparatively simple and when worked out reveals itself as combinations of intelligible words. Two of the manuscripts found in the effects of "Deafy" Hunt—so called, by the way, because the premature explosion of a safe fractured one of his ear drums—are more or less learned descriptions of various kinds of burglar proof safes, with instructions how to violently enter the same. These manuscripts have evidently been written by some scholarly safe blower and passed from hand to hand.

There are other manuscripts relating to different towns and railroads and banks, but they are of a remote period and have no contemporary interest. Included in the information about safes and their construction and how to blow them is a simple recipe for the manufacture of "soup," which is the yegg name for nitro-glycerine.

"Deafy" Hunt is in the Tombs under $2000 bail. He will be arraigned in Centre Street police court tomorrow morning on a charge of being concerned in the blowing of the safe of Gluckner & Blue at No. 2452 Third avenue on April 20. If this charge fails he will be accused of having burglars' tools in his possession.

A passage in the manuscripts of "Deafy" Hunt, two of which are signed "Chink" and "Sing," evidently the pseudonyms of the authors, gave the key by which the cipher was ultimately read. Following is the passage in its original form:

"Y. W Thkpl is a different make altogether. You will find one of this description in the lysout Tughk P. O., the place Hunt fell for. It has another name on the outside of the box, but it is an E. C Morris"

McCafferty and his men remembered that one Hunt—none other than "Deafy" himself—was sentenced to prison six years ago for blowing the safe in the postoffice at Pelham Manor. From this it was inferred, and properly, that lysout Tughk P. O. was the cipher for Pelham Manor postoffice. Naturally, from the reading of the paragraph, it followed that Y. W. Thkipl was the cipher for E. C. Morris.

With this to work on the key was built up. It was found that the man who formulated the cipher divided the 26 letters of the alphabet into four divisions. Against these letters—the cipher—the equivalent letters were practically reversed After some figuring the key was formulated like this.

—1—	—2—	—3—	—4—
B V	I P	O H	V B
C W	J Q	P I	W C
E Y	L S	R K	Y E
G N		T M

The cipher letters read down from the left, the equivalent letters read down from the right. In order to complicate the cipher the formulator skipped the fourteenth letter of the alphabet—N—in its regular turn and patched it on to the end, making it the equivalent of the cipher G.

With a little patience and the key anybody can read "Deafy" Hunt's manuscripts. Here is the recipe for making nitro-glycerine, or "soup," which is poured into the cracks around the doors of safes and fired by detonation:

"First, take about ten or a dozen lmsprwl hz xug (sticks of dyn.), crumble it up fine and put it in a pan or wash bowl, then pour over it enough uswhohs (alcohol) (either chhx or laky) (wood or pure) to cover it well. Stir it up well with your hands, being careful to break all the lumps, leave it set for a few minutes; then get a few yards of cheese cloth and tear it in pieces and strain the mixture through the cloth into another vessel, wring the sawdust dry and throw it away. The remains will be the lhai ugx uswhohs (soup and alcohol) mixed; next take the same amount of water as you used of uswhohs (alcohol) and pour it in; leave the whole set fo ra few minutes."

Another extract will show how painstaking the professor of safe-blowing is. It illustrates that there is more in blowing a safe than simply boring a hole in it and inserting and touching off the "soup" The extract is illustrated with careful drawings of safes and locks and reads:

"There is one thing I wish to put you wise to in regard to 'lymkl' (Peters). Whenever hgy, pl muryq nhh w zuwrhhke (one is taken to a factory) to be repaired, no matter what tury moy lymyk pl (make the peter is) the firm that does moy kyinpkpgn (the repairing) always puts their own name on it. When you get accustomed to noticing all the points of a 'lymyk' (peter) such as the corners, nut handle, style of xhhk (door) etc., you can tell the tury hz u lymyh ve pnil (make of a peter by—) ear marks without looking at the name, of course."

Anty Drudge on Education.

Katherine—"My, how provoked I am, Anty. You wouldn't dream this frock had once been white. Look at it now. I sent it to the laundress and it looks almost the color of weak coffee with milk in it."

Anty Drudge—"It's partly your fault, my dear. You're a college graduate, but you aren't educated until you know what is best for your clothes. If you had known enough to see that your white frock was washed with Fels-Naptha soap in cool or lukewarm water it would have been snowywhite. The Fels-Naptha way is the only method of washing to keep white clothes white without harming them."

Here's the easiest way that's ever been discovered to wash clothes—either in summer or winter.

For the white things: Wet the clothes, soap well with Fels-Naptha, roll and let soak for thirty minutes in cool or lukewarm water. Unroll, rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

This simple Fels-Naptha way of washing makes your clothes sweeter, whiter, cleaner than you can get them any other way.

And the clothes last longer because they are not weakened by boiling, nor worn by hard rubbing.

Mrs. Taft's Great Skill in Selecting White House Set

WASHINGTON.—When Mrs. Taft, with that peculiar sense of fitness she has manifested in every act of her official role as first lady, surrounded herself with a coterie of the cleverest and brightest officers of the twin branches of the services, everybody in Washington society recognized that the era of the army and navy set had arrived. Nowadays component parts of all fetes at the White House are the men and women of the army and navy circle. In brave array the military men form a moving background at Mrs. Taft's at homes, and in their immaculate dress the officers of the land and sea forces are a splendid attribute at Mrs. Taft's fascinating garden parties. Dashing along Potomac Terraway on horseback at the bi-weekly "meets" of national society which Mrs. Taft inaugurated, Uncle Sam's gallant fighters interject a note of military smartness into the cosmopolitan assemblage which follows in the wake of the White House equipage.

These citizens who know no State nor city, who are equally at home at a royal court or a bivouac in the remotest wilds of the island possessions, are peculiarly persona grata to Mrs. Taft, who, in her capacity of first lady in the Philippines and later as wife of the Secretary of War came into intimate personal relations with practically the entire official contingent. On the other hand Mrs. Taft is just the sort of woman to appeal to the clannish little set who, in the main devoid of wealth, base their claims to recognition upon their achievements and the aristocracy of position which from the earliest days of the republic has been inherent in the army and navy.

Keen, quick witted, forceful, well informed and experienced in public life the President's wife is splendidly equipped to lead, and with a ready willingness to admit her social leadership every hand in the army and navy instinctively goes up in salute at the presence of the first lady. At the White House entertainments scarcely has the line of guests passed until Mrs. Taft is surrounded by a group of officers and their wives, daughters and sweethearts, whose persiflage and laughter instantly dissipates any indication of an oppressive or a "military" perfunctoriness.

In the generous hospitality Mrs. Taft extends at the White House she knows no limitations, old residents, Congressional and diplomatic circles and every ramification of the complex society of the capital receiving recognition. The constantly changing personnel of the guest list, which might make for social chaos with a less experienced hostess, receives an adequate balance in the support of fifty or more guests, the Cabinet members inclusive, who have receive dcards for each of Mrs. Taft's May day fetes.

Drawing upon the army and navy in large measure for this "permanent list," Mrs. Taft has ingeniously renewed the support of a group having the social grace and discrimination of courtiers combined with the bonhomie of the citizen of the world. In analyzing the compelling charm of Mrs. Taft's entertainment society pays a willing tribute to the grasp of the social situation the President's wife has displayed in according recognition to the circle over which she has really presided for many years.

GIRLS TO WHOM THE RAJAH WITH 11 WIVES PROPOSED

The above picture is that of Miss Marion Deering and the lower one her sister, Miss Barbara Deering, daughters of Mr. Charles Deering of Chicago, chairman of the Board of Directors of the International Harvester Company; and who, while on a tour of the world, were proposed to by the Indian Rajah, who already had 11 wives. Good thing for the Rajah that Papa Deering wasn't there.

Women and How They Try To Make Money

LONDON.—About every third independent woman at the present day has a scheme for making money. It has become almost a painful fact that women no longer talk scandal, but finance or trade. There was a time when women indulged in hobbies for the sake of possible amusement; now it is nearly always with the hope of securing a profit.

It must be confessed that they display extraordinary acumen and courage as amateur tradesmen and non-professional dealers. They have discovered what no man would go out to seek, and that is a real "home market." Nearly all the women who pursue something, no matter whether it is the cultivation of eggs or art, recognize that it is far wiser to sell to friends than to compete for public patronage.

Operator's Advice To Young Girl About a Hotel

NEW YORK.—A young man who comes from a small town up New York State got a letter a while ago from a young woman he knew up there, asking him to let her know a good hotel at which to stay over night in the city, as she was going to sail for Europe.

The letter came so close to the day of sailing that the young man decided it would be better to wire than to write a letter. He decided too that it would be best if the young woman put up at the Astor House, convenient to a morning sailing on the American Line.

"You had better stop at Astor House."

Woman With a Glass Eye and Cork Leg Can Get a Position

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—This advertisement was inserted in the local paper by a member of the Virginia Dale district school board:

WANTED.—For school district No. 1, a teacher with a glass eye, gray haired, a wooden or cork leg, so she can't dance and is sure to take to the woods if she sees a man coming.

Miss Myrtle Punder taught the Virginia Dale school. She was pretty and was deluged with invitations to dance. A dozen youths of the farming country laid their hearts at the altar of her beauty.

The grave heads of the school board soon decided that a teacher who danced so divinely and so frequently at night could not properly work her head during the day.

Fencing Popular Society Sport

Of late years fencing has grown tremendously in popularity among society women, and one of the most charming and graceful exponents of the art is Baroness de Meyer. The Baroness makes a delightful picture as, attired in black knickerbockers, long tunic, black stockings and shoes, she poses preliminary to an attack. She is also, by the way, a splendid swimmer, and such are her powers of physical endurance that, using the breast stroke, she can keep herself afloat for a matter of three-quarters of an hour.

Smoking Among The Royalty

The question of whether women should smoke or not has been settled in the affirmative by some of the European royal ladies. The Empress Dowager of Russia smokes cigarettes regularly; the Queen of Rumania, when at her literary labors, usually has a cigarette between her lips; the Queen Mother of Spain is said to smoke cigars as well as cigarettes, and the widowed Queen of Portugal smokes incessantly. Queen Alexandra of England and Queen Victoria of Spain are not smokers, while the Empress of Germany has taken a firm stand against the use of the weed by her sex.

"MORMON WOMEN MAKE IDEAL HOUSEWIVES"

So Says the Noted Sculptor, Louis Potter, Just Back From Utah

Mr. Potter has been for months making portrait busts of big Mormons in Utah.

"I went to Salt Lake City, he said, "not expecting roseate conditions; for, like every one else, I had heard the hue and cry against the Mormons. I was astounded to find such model homes, fine men and beautiful women.

"It must be remembered that the young men and women of Salt Lake City are now many generations removed from the first Mormons who went to Utah, and that the crudity which is inseparable from the pioneer has been obliterated and the rough edges of the marble smoothed down. The Mormons of today are the result of several generations of men and women who have lived and thought rightly. The women are exceedingly abstemious. So are the men. You find women whose religious thought is very strong and whose spiritual qualities are highly developed.

"The church is most of all in the hearts and minds of the people. Their church is their happy meeting place. There is nothing austere about the ceremonies; the family goes to church, from the baby in arms up. It is perfectly beautiful to see father carrying their little ones to church.

"This atmosphere of religious thought, breathed from the very cradle, has beyond a doubt been one of the greatest influences on the minds of the community. The Mormon church is a pleasant place to go, the Puritanical strictness and severity that used to be imparted to the children is entirely absent, and the church is considered a place of happiness and consolation rather than a place to which one must go as a duty.

"This training and mode of thought, even among the Mormons, who are but homely, everyday folk, have produced sensitiveness and tact among the women, and they possess deep penetration and sympathetic understanding.

"This has given them something to work on, the building of homes, something that is rarely found in great cities like New York, where much that is religious is lost to sight.

"The Mormon love of family is almost beyond our understanding. One stands aside and wonders that he has not discovered before that there are so much love and gentleness in mankind; for once you have seen Mormon families together in everyday life you begin to think the family is the most sacred thing in the world.

Ex-President Eliot, of Harvard, tells us it is on the family that the success of a State or a republic hinges, and a community in which the great virtues are to be seen as they are in this Mormon city convinces one that this is true.

"There are few servants in Mormon households. I was in President Joseph Smith's home and his five wives were there. The children did the work, each assuming a duty and responsibility that belonged to him or her, and all was delightful and happy. There was no discontent; every one was fully occupied and happy.

"The domestic talents of the Mormon women have been the outgrowth of two things; first, the love of family, and then, polygamy. Polygamy is not now what it was in Utah. It is becoming a thing of the past; one might almost say that it has served its purpose, for you will always find that there is a purpose in every social condition, no matter what it may be.

"But this polygamy developed among the women that executive ability and a business capacity which make the successful housewife. What I mean is this: Take a young woman who is perhaps the third or fourth wife; she has a home of her own, in which the constant presence of the husband is impossible; to her is given the care of her children, with at least a predondering influence in their education; she has to conduct her home on economical and sensible principles, to do things herself and overcome domestic difficulties with her own common sense.

"Generations of this have developed in the women a fine sense of domestic economy. This is a quality that you do not find, as a rule, in the women who has always had the stronger head to rely upon and whose duties have been principally of amusing herself.

"You will find only limited opportunities for the study of domestic sciences in Utah. In their universities, of course, there is such a chair and department, but the cooking and housekeeping schools which are found in other cities are not necessary in Salt Lake, where the young women grow up with an excellent training in these things, and the young girl who does not know how to make her own clothes, how to conduct a household on right lines and all about the care of children is truly not a Mormon girl.

"This arises from the fact that the family is almost sacred in the Mormon mind, and must be considered seriously.

"The Mormon women are physically very beautiful. They have had as their forbears men and women who have lived pure, religious lives, and whose business has been chiefly that of agriculture; they are of good, sound, healthy stock, and there is nothing fragile or unhealthy about their appearance.

"The women of Utah vote, and they understand thoroughly the topics of the day on which their ballot is to be cast. They know of business affairs as do the men, and there is little in which they are not interested. This supplies what is so necessary in many, many homes in the East—a woman's real interest in the affairs of the day, and her ability to speak understandingly with her husband or brother or father on topics that are of interest to them.

"This is one more point that tends to make the Mormon home a success, and there is no woman who is too busy to understand these things, for she understands her home work, she has ability to do it in a time-saving way, and she has plenty of time to devote to study.

"I believe that these Mormon women will make an enviable place for themselves in the history of this country, for they are certainly women of great ability and the very best housewives and mothers one could possibly find."

SONG TO FANNY

Nature! thy fair and smiling face
Has now a double power to bless,
For 'tis the glass in which I trace
My absent Fanny's loveliness.

That her dear form alone I see
Need not excite surprise in any,
For Fanny's all the world to me,

Found Girl's Name in a Soap Wrapper; They Met, But, Alas, Didn't Marry

KANSAS CITY.—While working in a Chicago soap factory a year ago Miss Florence Henderson wrote her name and address on a soap wrapper and folded it about a cake. This same cake found its way to the wash basin of a man in Omaha. A delicate perfume came from the wrapper—and the girl's name. The man wrote to Miss Henderson, addressing the letter as per one soap wrapper. He signed it "Harris McCauley."

Miss Henderson had moved to Enid, Ok., in the meantime and the letter was forwarded. A correspondence began, which merged speedily from a soap wrapper romance into a postage stamp courtship. McCauley finally agreed by mail to meet the owner of the name on the soap wrapper at the Kansas City Union depot yesterday. He sent the girl a description of himself, and to be sure they were both to wear white carnations.

The two were to meet at the Union depot, be married and then go to Omaha. Miss Henderson arrived at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning. She wore the white carnation—but it seemed to be the only flower of its color in the lobby. At last, after the 4 o'clock Burlington train came in from Omaha, Miss Henderson saw a man—just such a man as McCauley described himself—standing near a ticket window. He had been watching her closely, but when she looked at him he seized his suitcase and hurried out of the lobby.

After waiting awhile longer Miss Henderson gave up hope and decided to go back to Enid, where she had some friends. But trousseaus and railroad tickets are expensive, and she found only $5 left in her purse. The fare to Enid is $6.25—that was a whole bale of last straws and Miss Henderson could fight back the tears no longer.

Mrs. Ollie Everingham, depot matron, found her sobbing hopelessly and learned the story. And Mrs. Everingham furnished her the additional $1.25.

"I can't understand why he had me come down here, and then refuse to speak to me," said Miss Henderson. She was sure the man who won was McCauley. "I spent all my money for wedding clothes and when I saw him this afternoon I thought my troubles were over. He took me at a disadvantage, as he'd evidently been watching me for some time before I saw him."

With a final sigh she dried her eyes, straightened her hat, went to the ticket window and bought her ticket back to Enid.

DRINA DE WOLFE NOW A BELLE OF SEVILLE

PARIS. — Miss Drina de Wolfe, the actress who sprang from "Tommy Rot" to George Bernard Shaw's "You Never Can Tell" in New York, has taken a leap even higher. New Yorkers returning here from a tour of Spain bring the interesting news that Miss De Wolfe, who once shone theatrically on Broadway, is now shining socially in Seville. With her great adaptability she has become a "senorita," or, rather, a "senora." As Mme. de Wolfe she is a belle of Seville.

A former New York acquaintance recognized Miss de Wolfe at a bullfight, where, with her brother, she occupied a box and was surrounded constantly by cavaliers belonging to Spain's most aristocratic families. She speaks Spanish fluently and has adopted Spanish customs, wearing the mantilla as coquettishly as any woman born to it. Her semi-blonde complexion and coils of Titian hair were more beautiful by contrast with the beauties around her.

Miss De Wolfe was seen again at a ball given by the Labradores Club, the most exclusive in Seville and one of the most noted in Spain. Don Luis de Bourbon, the Infanta Eulalia's son and King Alfonso's cousin, was most attentive to the former actress. The Infanta, who has visited America, was very gracious to Miss de Wolfe and evidently approved her son's taste. Other young aristocrats, following the example of the royal prince, vied with each other in devotion to the fair Drina, who plainly was far removed from the old days on Broadway.

Mme. de Wolfe has been in Seville for two years, and she says she will live there always. She has a charming villa on the city's outskirts. In one of the smartest turnouts in town, her coachman and footman in Andalusian livery, she drives along the Paslo and Las Delicias Gardens, bowing right and left to Seville's fashionables. She attends the opera regularly, occupying a box, about which a cloud of men hover. She owns olive groves, from which she derives a good income. All thought of returning to the stage is far from her mind. It is rumored in Seville that she will be married to one of the many Spaniards paying court to her.

Ternina to Teach Music In New York

NEW YORK.—Mme. Milka Ternina is to make her home in New York next fall. A contract has just been closed between her and Frank Damrosch by which she is to become the head of the singing department in the Institute of Musical Art, of which Dr. Damrosch is director. Some of the directors of the Metropolitan Opera House and the New Theater, having learned of her intention, at once founded four scholarships in the institute for the free education of as many students in singing, acting, diction, pianoforte repertory and so forth. The scholarships are to be open for competition but Dr. Damrosch said yesterday that he had not as yet arranged all the details. He has also engaged for the opera class M. Giraudet of Paris, the teacher of Ackte, Breval, Edith Walker, Renaud, Gilibert and Perrier.

LILLIAN

Airy, fairy Lillian,
Flitting, fairy Lillian,
When I ask her if she love me,
Claps her tiny hands above me,
Laughing all she can;
She'll not tell me if she love me,
Cruel little Lillian.

When my passion seeks
Pleasance in love-sighs
She, looking thro' and thro' me
Thoroughly to undo me,
Smiling never speaks;
So innocent — arch, so cunning — simple,
From beneath her gather'd wimple

—Tennyson.

Mrs. Tom Pierce Divorced Wife of Boston Millionaire

BOSTON.—"Tom" Pierce, whose name is still borne by his divorced wife, a young woman much in the public prints and about to go on the stage, asserts that his one-time spouse must quit using his name. Miss "Tom" has just been reported engaged to an Englishman, who was attentive to her while she, Adele Ritchie, her close chum, and some other actresses occupied a cottage at Atlantic City. Mr. Pierce says that he does not care what she does, except that she must not continue to call herself by her former married name. Mr. Pierce says that he will keep their son, no matter what efforts she may make to regain his custody.

Love Flew Away When Wealth Came

CINCINNATI. — Mrs. Lizzie Auel Hunter was granted a divorce today from Perrin Hunter, president of the American Carriage company, after she had testified to the shattering of an unusual romance. Hunter did not defend the suit.

Mrs. Hunter and her husband were both employed in the office of her husband's father's carriage-making business when they were married twenty-one years ago, she said. Soon after their marriage the young couple set up in business for themselves, and the wife assisted her husband in the management and office work of the concern, giving up home life to make their venture a success.

At the end of ten years of work Mrs. Hunter retired from participation in her husband's business and devoted herself to making a home. While devoting herself to household affairs Mrs. Hunter said she learned that her husband was lavishing attentions on other women, principally his stenographer, Miss Ida Grubbs, whom she named as co-respondent. Testimony was offered showing that on Hunter's frequent business trips to Palm Beach and other points in the South Miss Grubbs secretly accompanied him. They were seen together in New Orleans.

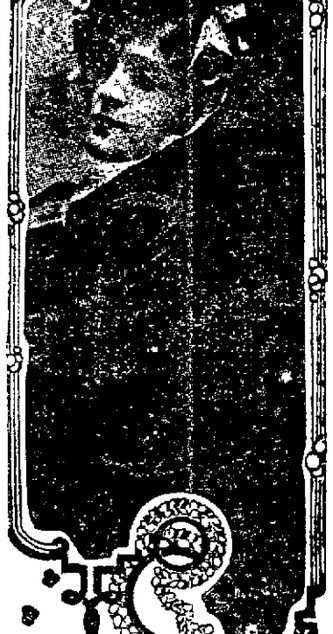

Hunter is rated as worth $500,000. The question of alimony was settled out of court. Hunter is reported to have settled $100,000 on his wife. They are both middle-aged and have no children.

Woman Attended Funerals So She Could Rob Mourners

PHILADELPHIA.—Originally arrested on a charge of drunkenness, a woman who says she is Annie Allen, sometimes of Camden, Gloucester and Philadelphia, was arraigned before Magistrate Gallagher in the Twentieth district police station yesterday on suspicion of being a "funeral thief" who has been sought by the authorities. When taken into custody at the Broad street station the woman carried a small hand bag, which on being searched was found to contain more than seventy pawn tickets, together with black veils and other mourning apparel, which the police say she used in attending funerals as a professional "mourner."

The pawn tickets found in her possession bore the names of twenty-four different pawnbrokers with places of business in all sections of the city. Many complaints have been received from houses of mourning where petty robberies have been committed while the services were in progress and the police say the woman now in custody admits that she has put on her black veil and mourning raiment and attended funerals for the purpose of robbery. Pending further investigation of her career and to give the police time to find out the owners of some of the articles called for on the pawntickets found in her possession, the accused was held in $500 bail for a further hearing.

Same Old Story: Watched a Baby For Stranger, and He Did Not See Her Afterwards

"Won't you please hold my baby while I look after my baggage?" she asked a man who was waiting for a train. The man declined to oblige her, saying he didn't know how to handle such little things, and a few minutes later the woman repeated her request in the train-shed to Mrs. Bartell of 648 Riverside Drive, New York City.

Mrs. Bartell tenderly took the child in her arms and the young woman disappeared. She did not return and the baby was turned over to the police. A passenger bought a bottle and filled it with milk and Policeman Alex Gallagher took the baby and bottle to the City Hospital.

The abandoned child is about three months old. Her clothing was of fine material. There were no marks on it. The woman was a blonde, apparently 21 years old, and five feet tall. Persons who saw her at the station said she appeared to be a woman of refinement.

HOLLAND'S CROWN PRINCESS Named After a Noble Ancestress

LONDON.—In giving the infant Dutch Princess Juliana as her first name, the memory of a splendid woman is perpetuated. Juliana, Countess of Stolberg, was the mother of William the Silent and his four brothers, who put their religion and their country before everything else, and made great sacrifices for the freedom of the Netherlands. As the Times correspondent at The Hague reminds us, when William was still a lad he inherited the estate of Orange, so that Juliana was not only the mother of the five heroes of the glorious war with Spain, but also the ancestress of the House of Orange.

In the little Princess's second name, Louise, her royal parents honor the memory of Louise de Coligny, the fourth wife of William the Silent, who, toward the end of the sixteenth century, lived in the palace where the heir to the Dutch throne has just been born. It was her youngest son who bought her garden where the Queen has walked every day for many weeks past. It was called the "Princess Garden" and has retained the name ever since. The Queen-Mother, her own mother, and the Grand Duchess Marie of Mecklenburg, also give names to Princess Juliana.

WILL WAGE WAR ON THE JAPANESE BATH HOUSES

ALAMEDA, June 2.—Promiscuous bathing of males and females in Japanese bath houses has caused the authorities to step in and enforce the ordinance prohibiting this and today two warrants were sworn to by Detective George Brown, asking for the arrest of I. Narahara, 7684 Park street, and B. Umezawa, 2283 Webb avenue, bath house keepers. The men, it is alleged, have violated the ordinance which provides that two persons shall not bathe in the same water at the same time.

The ordinance is numbered 416 and this provides that no two persons shall bathe in the same tub jointly. The trouble is of old standing and at the time the ordinance was passed Assistant District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes took the matter up and, forced the ordinance through.

At that time the baths at 1634 Park street were in bad repute. A tank about ten feet square accommodated both men and women and this violation caused the progressive lawyer to take steps to prevent it.

GRAND JURORS HEAR CHARGES

County Officials Testify as to Alleged Excessive Bill Received By Contractors

At its session this morning, the Grand Jury investigated the charges made by the county against Messrs. Cotton Bros. and Co., general contractors, for emergency work done on public roads and buildings. Chairman Foss of the finance committee of the Board of Supervisors had arrived at the conclusion, after an inquiry into the matter, that the contractors had been overcharging the county by a system of intricate computation of commissions, and in order to have the issues be raised in this connection settled upon some tangible basis, he presented them to the Grand Jury. Among those who appeared before the jury in connection with the matter, were Supervisor Foss, County Auditor Pierce, Supervisor Horner, and Charles E. Cotton of the contracting firm.

Foss Holds Up Bill

On May 10 the Cotton people rendered a bill to the county for $8584.51 to cover the repairing of piers and construction of new floors, wing walls and a projecting cutty to Los Positos bridge, near Masonic Cemetery, north of Livermore, and in the Murray Road District, which, upon scrutenizing, Supervisor Foss found to be a splendid exemplification of his position, he says, that the contractors had been making a practice of charging excessive commissions for the money represented in the work it was doing. The bill showed that, in addition to charging the customary 20 per cent above the cost of material, labor, etc., used on the job, the contractors included under the same head the freight on tools and machinery from Oakland to Livermore and from Livermore to Oakland, freight on lumber, sundry freights, expressage and telephones and livery bills. In addition to this, the firm charged 1 per cent a day for the use of tools and machinery, and on top of that 20 per cent for superintendence. In these items alone the firm and the county charged with $1326. Foss held that it was all right for the firm to make the 20 per cent profit on the actual cost of the work and 1 per cent for the use of tools and machinery, but he informed the jury that he did believe that when the contractors added another 20 per cent on top of all this it was exceeding all just bounds.

The county auditor explained to the jury the system under which all accounts for what is termed emergency work for the county are settled, and went into the items in connection with the Cotton claim for the enlightenment of the jury on the attitude of the county in the premises.

Explains Emergency

Chairman Horner explained to the jury the necessity which arose to demand the emergency work and under exactly what conditions the Board of Supervisors ordered the work done explaining in this connection that Supervisor Foss was present at the meeting when the work was ordered and voted with the other supervisors to have it done under the head of emergency.

Contractor Cotton took the stand and declared his firm had a perfect right to charge the county a reasonable commission for the money it actually had invested in a piece of work. Even in the small item of freight, telephones, livery hire and the use of machinery and tools he believed that his people were entitled to the reasonable commission. With the Cottons it was simply a case of so much of their money being tied up in the interest of the county, and, as a business proposition, this being the case, it was up to the county to pay the commission for the use of the money.

Donahue's Statement

District Attorney Donahue made the following statement this afternoon regarding the session of the grand jury this morning:

"The jury made an exhaustive inquiry into the bills rendered by the contracting firm of Cotton Bros. & Co. to the county for emergency work in connection with roads and bridges and will take some action in the matter, but what this action will be I am not prepared to state at this time. The assurance may be given, however, that the interests—past, present and future—of the people will be safeguarded by the jury in whatever conclusion is reached."

NO DAYS OFF FOR POLICE OR FIREMEN IN SUMMER

ALAMEDA, June 2.—Councilman E. J. Probst almost started another controversy last night at the meeting of the city council over the matter of providing vacations for the policemen and firemen. He said that in the past four years the police and fire departments have been given extra help in the vacation period of three months, and he could not see why the same procedure should not be carried through this year.

Councilman J. H. Walker, chairman of the police and fire committee, moved that the request of the police and fire commission for extra help in the summer months be denied. Councilman Probst then reopened the controversy started by Al Latham, president of the police and fire commission, at the meeting of the council committee last Friday night. Latham contended that the commission had not been consulted in the matter by the council committee before the latter body decided to deny the request for additional men in the summer months. Councilman Walker stated at that time that the reason the committee decided to deny the request was because $900 could be saved the city. The plan is to make all policemen and firemen work seven days a week during the vacation months, thus cutting off their usual weekly day off.

BOARD OF HEALTH TO ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

ALAMEDA, June 2.—In order to avoid a disruption in the Board of Health, which he said might occur, Councilman Bert Fisher suggested at the meeting of the City Council last night that that body be allowed to recommend a candidate to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of its president, Dr. J. Emmet Clark. Upon a motion made by Councilman Ernest Probst, the matter was referred to the health board, with the request that the remaining members suggest a candidate who would be congenial. The council last night accepted Dr. Clark's resignation.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN IN WATER QUESTION

ALAMEDA, June 2.—According to the statement of Mayor W. H. Noy, made at the meeting of the city council last night, the water company is endeavoring to improve the Fitchburg water and as a consequence the council continued the matter of considering the petition of a large number of residents who ask that Chabot and Alvarado water be turned into the city.

Y. M. I. WILL GIVE VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Proceeds Will Be Used in Entertaining Grand Officers of Y. M. I. in July

Active preparations are being made by the members of Oakland Council No. 6, Young Men's Institute, for a vaudeville entertainment and dance to be held Thursday evening, June 17, at St. Mary's Hall, Grove and Seventh streets. The purpose of the affair is to raise funds to be appropriated to the use of the members of the Young Ladies' Institute in entertaining the grand officers of the institute, who will hold their convention in this city in July.

John N. Gallagher is chairman of the general arrangement committee and predicts that the coming event will greatly swell the resources at the disposal of the young women. Local talent has been secured for the occasion. Tickets are being disposed of rapidly and everything indicates a successful affair. The following members of the Young Men's Institute are assisting on the committee: Harry J. Fazakerley, James R. Dooling, Fred A. Cullen, Daniel W. Cronin and Frank M. Flynn.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS GIVE MINSTREL SHOW TONIGHT

ELMHURST, June 2.—A big crowd, it is predicted, will attend tonight's minstrel show given by the Knights of Columbus for the benefit of the St. Louis Bertrand Catholic Church in Redmen's Hall. Elaborate preparations have been made for the event, and the sale of tickets has been entirely satisfactory. The affair will be followed by a social dance. The Knights of Columbus are a clever band of comedians and understand the art of jest and mimicry to a high stage of efficiency. They guarantee not to spring any antiquated jokes.

The show is being given under auspices of the local parishioners, who have worked hard for the success of the affair. Among the committee on arrangements are Mrs. D. Moriarty, George McHale, J. J. O'Toole and others.

ARRANGING PROGRAM FOR FOURTH OF JULY

MELROSE, June 2.—The Melrose Heights Improvement Club has issued a general invitation to residents of Melrose to attend a meeting of the club Friday night for the purpose of discussing and arranging plans for a Fourth of July celebration. Ice cream and cake and cigars will be served and a large crowd is expected by Ray Felton, president of the organization.

The club intends to arrange an excellent program for the glorious Fourth, and wants the co-operation of every resident in the community. A pyrotechnic display, races, speeches and the usual program will be arranged.

RECEIVES FIRST FOREIGN CARGO

Arrival of Ship at Berkeley Wharf From Manila Made Occasion of Celebration

BERKELEY, June 2. — The first vessel to dock at Berkeley from a foreign port slipped in on the tide at 1 o'clock this morning in the shape of the bark S. N. Castle from Manila, with 500 tons of copra, consigned to the El Dorado Oil Works. Captain Von Dahlern reports that he had an uneventful passage and made the trip in 64 days. Collector Fred Stratton rose to the occasion by sending a special customs officer to Berkeley from San Francisco to permit the Castle to enter right at its home port and there was great rejoicing along the water front over the occurrence.

Heretofore Berkeley has enjoyed some coastwise commerce, in lumber and produce, but this is the first time that a cargo has come from another country and the promise is that more will follow.

It is probable that the Chamber of Commerce will take official notice of the affair and tender Captain Von Dahlern and his officers a reception.

TURNER HELD TO ANSWER FOR THEFT OF FUNDS

Former Treasurer of Native Sons Must Face Charge of Embezzlement

LODGEMEN TESTIFY AGAINST EX-OFFICER

In Default of Bail Defendant Is Given Into Custody of Sheriff

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Charles H. Turner, past worthy treasurer of the Native Sons of the Golden West, was held to answer before the Superior Court this morning by Police Judge Deasy, after hearing the testimony of Grand Secretary Fred Jung, Grand Trustee Louis Mouser, and Grand Past President Senator Charles Belshaw.

Cross-examination and argument was waived by Attorneys Caminetti, Daggett and Young who appeared for Turner.

Accused of Theft

The charge on which Turner will now be tried before a jury in the higher court is that of felony embezzlement, based on an alleged defalcation of $127.50 said to have been committed January 5 of this year, and discovered by Grand Trustee Mouser when he examined the books of the lodge, kept by the defendant.

Acting Grand President Daniel Ryan acted as special prosecutor for the Native Sons. He first called to the stand Fred Jung of Oakland, who has been elected to succeed Turner. Jung's testimony consisted of his identification of books kept by Turner, and turned over to him on his election.

Tells of Confession

The next witness was L. H. Mouser. He testified to a discovery of the discrepancies in Turner's books, and further told of the defendant's admittances of guilt.

Senator Belshaw was the last witness called by Ryan. He was present when Turner's alleged theft was discovered and related a dialogue which took place between Turner and Mouser in which the former declared, when asked by Grand Trustee Mouser if his entire shortage was $6736.50, "Yes, if you say so, that is the amount."

In default of $10,000 bond of $500 in cash, required by Judge Deasy Turner was ordered into the custody of the sheriff.

G. F. Whitmore, relief clerk on the mail car positively identified Woods as the leaders of the robbers.

DEAF AND BLIND SHOW GREAT TALENT

Pupils of Berkeley Institute Give Annual Concert at Home

WORK OF SCHOOL IS EXPLAINED BY PRINCIPAL

Closing Exercises Will Be Held on Tuesday Evening Next

The blind pupils of the Institution for the Deaf and Blind of Berkeley gave their annual concert last evening at 8 o'clock, in the large assembly hall of the college Judging from the great amount of people attending, outside of the direct relatives of the inmates, it may safely be said that the institution has created considerable interest with regards to the methods of teaching the afflicted ones.

The concert was of a high order and included organ, piano and vocal solos, which thus showed to a remarkable extent the intellectual capacities of those lacking on or more of the five physical senses. It is largely due to the efforts of Otto Fleissner llrector of music and Bertha Butler, vocal instructor, that the affair proved such a success

Results of Work

Principal W. Wilkinson, who has been head instructor for forty-four years, in his opening remarks showed that public interest is steadily increasing with regard to the various branches of the institution and that as a result additional accommodations may soon be needed.

"It might seem almost an utter impossibility," said Professor Wilkinson, "to teach anything to one who cannot hear, but through careful observation and study several methods have been discovered by which intelligence may be transmitted to the unfortunate inmates of these institutions The two principal methods are the French, called Abbe de S'Epie, and the German method, called Samuel Heinecke, so named from the fact that they were invented by those gentlemen.

"An instance in connected with the brilliant possibilities of these unfortunates may be illustrated by the rapid progress of the first pupil this institution ever had, Theopholls D'Estrella. He came here when we first opened on May 1, 1860, and after a short term of training began to develop remarkable comprehensive abilities, We concentrated our endeavors entirely upon him in order that we might practically test the effecuy methods, with the result that he became a teacher after a short while, and is today one of our most competent instructors

Necessary Education

"I want the public to see, to know and to feel that this branch of educational training is as necessary and in fact more necessary than the ordinary schools and colleges, if we desire to uplift the standing of our community, by raising the ban from the unfortunate beings destined to everlasting solitude Our institution is governed by the State the State is governed by the people, and therefore if we can promote a higher appreciation of our endeavors we can receive more substantial aid and consequently more thorough means of progress.

"Therefore," concluded the aged instructor, "let every one who can attend our graduation exercises, to be held next Tuesday evening, so that all may see for themselves the broad minded views and brilliant personalities of those concluding the course of studies."

A communication from the Southern Pacific Company, stating that the bell at Everett street and the north side right-of-way had been repaired and would probably not disturb the residents in the neighborhood any more, was ordered filed, as was a letter from Colonel John Biddle of the War Department, stating that he had received the recommendation from the Council that Powell Brothers be given a lease on land on the Tidal canal, near Everett street.

The request from the Alameda Improvement Club, asking that an ordinance, similar to the one in Los Angeles, which excludes all billboards, be passed, was referred to the city attorney.

The matter of purchasing a combination patrol wagon and ambulance was laid over until July 1, at which time the budget for the ensuing year will be prepared.

The request from J. F Neal, that a sidewalk be constructed on the west side of Willow street, south of Eagle avenue, was laid over until such time as the owner of the property, in front of which it is proposed to construct the sidewalk, has completed the erection of a residence which he is contemplating constructing.

Upon the suggestion of Councilman Bullock, the street committee, the superintendent of streets and the city engineer were requested to find out about the opening of San Antonio and Central avenues through the old Dunn tract, which was recently purchased by a syndicate and which is to be converted into home sites.

COURT AFTER WAIT OF 8 YEARS GIVEN $25 FOR LAW BOOK

ALAMEDA, June 2. — "You might as well try to run an electric light plant without juice as to try to run a court without books," was the philosophy used by Police Judge R. B. Tappan at the meeting of the City Counsel last night when he asked that body for $25, with which to purchase a code for his courtroom. The members of the council agreed with the judge philosophy and immediately voted him the necessary sum to purchase the volume of law which he is desirous of obtaining.

In making his request of the council, Judge Tappan stated that when a trial is going on, oftentimes "the court has to run all over the city hall in order to secure the necessary law books." His honor added that for eight years he has been compelled to do this kind of running and for that reason he requested that the council allow him to purchase the code.

TUMBLES 35 FEET FROM BUILDING AND ONLY BREAKS THUMB

BERKELEY, June 2.—"My, that was a narrow escape," said J. B Martin, a carpenter, as he dropped 35 feet from the gable of a partially erected building at Ridge road and Bonte avenue yesterday afternoon, and picked himself up with a broken thumb and a slightly sprained ankle.

Martin had hit a scantling 30 feet on the way of his descent, which undoubtedly saved his life, as otherwise he would have struck a cement floor in the basement of the structure and had the life probably crushed out of him.

A WELL KNOWN REMEDY.

Constipation is man's worst enemy and half the bodily ills are a result thereof. Nature meant that the bowels should be kept open, that we should have a free movement once a day. When we find our bowels do not move, we resort to powerful remedies which are so drastic in their action that they damage the tender lining of the bowels and leave a worse condition than before Why take such injurious and expensive drugs when we can obtain from any druggist much cheaper a bottle of Nature's own remedy HUNYADI JANOS Water, the famous Natural laxative? This water is bottled at the springs in Hungary and in use nearly half a century. One half a tumblerful on arising will bring within an hour a refreshing movement, gentle, natural and thorough, without any griping or other bad effects. As a whole bottle costs but a trifle, keep one always on hand.

Look out for unscrupulous druggists who will substitute unless you ask for HUNYADI JANOS.

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Discovery Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Skin Diseases.

Nothing in the history of medicine has ever approached the success of the marvelous skin remedy known as poslam, which, it is safe to say, has cured more cases of eczema and skin diseases than any remedy ever offered for these ills.

The success of poslam is not at all surprising when it is considered that even a very small quantity applied to the skin stops itching immediately and cures chronic cases in two weeks. The very worst cases of eczema, as well as acne, herpes, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, crusted humors, scaly scalp and every form of itch yield to it readily. Blemishes, such as pimples, red noses, muddy and inflamed skin disappear almost immediately when poslam is applied, the complexion being cleared overnight.

Every druggist keeps both the 50-cent size (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained in Oakland at The Owl Drug Co., as well as other reliable drug stores.

But no one is even asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining an experimental package which will be sent by mail, free of charge upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

Women Who Are Envied.

Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might be like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation or Kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c at Osgood Bros.

COULD NOT CURE WEEPING ECZEMA

Disease Began over Ear and Spread till Face and Neck were Raw—Itching, Inflammation and Soreness were Terrible—Lasted Over a Year and All Treatments Failed

UNTIL CUTICURA AGAIN PROVED GREAT SUCCESS

"Eczema began over the top of my ear. It cracked and then began to spread. I had three different doctors and tried several things, but they did me no good. At last one side of my face and my neck clear up to my hair were raw. The water ran out of it so that I had to wear medicated cotton, and it was so inflamed and sore that I had to put a piece of cloth over my pillow to keep the water from it, and it would stain the cloth a sort of yellow. The eczema itched so that it seemed as though I could tear my face all to pieces. The disease began in the fall and I did everything for it until the next winter. Then I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and it was not more than three months before it was all healed up. I still use the Cuticura Resolvent Pills once in a while to cleanse the blood. I am very thankful that I tried Cuticura, and I can recommend it to any one. Miss Ann Pearsons, Northfield, Vt., Dec. 19, '07."

FRANCE TO HONOR SAN FRANCISCAN

Daniel Levy to Receive Decoration of Famous French Society

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Daniel Levy, scholar and savant of this city, is to be decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor of France. The formal announcement of the distinction that is to be conferred upon him will be made by French Ambassador Jusserand when he comes to San Francisco June 5 to present the medal commemorative of the rehabilitation of this city, the gift of the people of France.

Levy is 83 years of age. He came to this city in 1855 and always has been a figure of prominence in local French circles. He founded the San Francisco French library, and was active in the organization of the local French hospital. He also was one of the organizers of the Alliance Francaise, and for many years taught the French language in the public schools of the city.

He already wears the medal of an officer d'academie, and has been honored by many French literary institutions.

WASHINGTON June 2 — E Dana Durand, now acting deputy commissioner of corporations, has just been apprised of his appointment to the office of director of the census to succeed S. N. D. North who is retiring because of political complications.

Durand who will assume the office before his thirty-eighth birthday, will be the youngest director on the board. He was born in Michigan and is well-known as an expert statistician and authority on finance.

SHE TOOK JUST ONE COCKTAIL

Testify Mrs. Gould Drank Wine Also, But Never to Excess

NEW YORK, June 2. — The conduct of Katherine C. Gould during her visit in 1902 to the Palace of the Khedive of Egypt, where she was the guest of his brother Prince Mohammed Ali, is told in detail in depositions filed with the county clerk for use next week in the trial of the action for legal separation brought by Mrs. Gould against her husband, Howard Gould.

The depositions were made by Lieutenant Henry M. Bankhead and his wife, Alice Stuckney Bankhead, before Clifford L. Anderson, as commissioner. The testimony was taken at Fort McPherson, Georgia, where Lieutenant Bankhead is stationed at an army post.

Guests of the Goulds

Mrs. Bankhead was formerly Alice Stickney and from six years of age was the ward of Judge John G. Long, American consul general at Cairo, Egypt, during the time that Mr. and Mrs. Gould visited that country. Lieutenant and Mrs. Bankhead were the guests of Mr and Mrs Gould many times in Cairo and have also visited them at Castle Gould, the Waldorf-Astoria and St. Regis hotels in this city.

"I often visited Mrs. Gould at Shepards Hotel in Cairo," Mrs Bankhead testified before the commissioner. "Frequently I took luncheon with Mr. and Mrs Gould.

"I never saw Mrs Gould under the influence of liquor," she continued in answer to a question in regard to the amount of intoxicating beverages that Mrs Gould was accustomed to drink.

Wine at Meals

"So far as I could observe Mrs Gould's conduct was perfect. Mr. Gould never had any reason to be embarrassed by his wife's conduct while I was present."

"Mrs Gould states that on one occasion General Long gave a luncheon to Prince Ali, after which all in the party went to the Khedive's palace, that General Long arranged that the Prince and Mrs Gould should drive in the Prince's carriage, that afterward Mr Gould abused Mrs. Gould violently for driving with the Prince. Do you remember this episode?"

Gould Offended

"Yes. Prince Mohammed Ali, a brother of the Khedive of Egypt, was one of the people Mrs Gould met in Egypt. I remember that on the occasion referred to Mrs Gould drove in the carriage with Prince Mohammed at his request. I drove with Mr Gould. Mr. Gould complained to me that Mrs. Gould was driving with the Prince saying that it was the first time she had driven with another man since they were married. This seemed to offend him.

"Before leaving the palace Mrs. Gould asked me to drive with the Prince so that she could drive with Mr Gould. I declined to do so, as I considered it proper that she should return with the Prince."

COUNTERFEIT $5 BILL PUT IN CIRCULATION

WASHINGTON, June 2. — A n new counterfeit $5 silver certificate has come to the attention of the secret service bureau. It is the series of 1899 (Indian head) and is a photo-mechanical production printed on bond paper of good quality, blue ink lines having been used to imitate the silk fibre of the genuine.

According to Acting Chief Moran of the bureau, the poor character of workmanship on the Indian head, should be the means of detecting the counterfeit now in circulation. The color and workmanship of the blue seal, numbers and large numerals are far from being inferior, the back of the note being especially deceptive.

CHANGE MADE IN FOREST SERVICE

Work on California National Forests Transferred to Supervisors' Office

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2. — The Forest Service has just announced that hereafter a considerable amount of the work formerly carried on at the district headquarters in this city will be transferred to the supervisors' offices. This change will result in not only increasing the responsibilities of the supervisors, but will mean that the actual clerical work incident to the conduct of national forest business will be done on the forest concerned.

This new step is not in the nature of an experiment but is following out a policy which has long been contemplated, but the execution of which has been deferred until the plans could be fully matured. The creation of district offices in the west for the supervision of national forests in those districts was a step forward in the effort to transfer the actual administration of the reserves into the field.

The lines of work about to be transferred to the supervisors' offices include the record of all permanent improvement work, the issuance of special use permits not involving the execution of bonds or involving water power or other natural resources, action on claims where the applicant's good faith is shown and the land is not needed for administrative purposes. Also, all small or unadvertised timber sales will be acted upon directly by the forest supervisor and record of these sales will be kept only in the supervisor's office, to be checked up from time to time by members of the district office.

NAME M'LAREN FOR MAYORALTY

Democrats Nominate Supervisor For Head of San Francisco Government

SAN FRANCISC. June 2. — Supervisor Ralph McLaren was nominated for Mayor by the conference of the San Francisco Democratic Clubs last night. His only opponent for the nomination was Frank J. Sullivan. The vote stood: McLaren, 84; Sullivan, 7.

In presenting McLaren's name, James G. Maguire said that he is a man in touch with both interests—capital and labor—and has the confidence of the two classes who are rebuilding San Francisco.

The platform favors amending the charter by the insertion of an effective initiative and referendum clause; declares that public utilities shall be gradually acquired and ultimately owned by the city; pledges the candidates that no public utility shall be sold or leased, and no further franchise granted to private corporations, except on approval of the voters, oppose further delay in reconstructing and equipping the Geary-street road, so that the city may enjoy the profits that will result from its operation.

JUMPS BAIL TO ESCAPE SHERIFF

California Officer Arrives in New York But Prisoner Is Gone

NEW YORK, June 2.—Horace Greely Robinson, who was arrested April 30 on complaint of H. S Bock of San Jose, Cal., one of the many persons in various parts of the world to whom Robinson sold stock of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, which they never received, failed to appear yesterday in the Tombs Police Court when his case was called. Magistrate House declared his bail forfeited and issued a warrant for his apprehension.

When Robinson was arraigned last month a bond of $2000 was accepted and he was released pending the arrival of extradition papers. The sheriff of Santa Clara county arrived with the necessary papers. It then appeared that Robinson had jumped his bail, as when sought he could not be found.

WALNUT CROP IN SOUTH TO BE SHORT

FULLERTON, Cal., June 2.—According to the statement of many leading growers, the walnut crop of northern Orange county will be at least thirty or forty per cent short of the output last year.

J. B. Heff, state director of faremrs institutes, estimates the shortage at between 25 and 30 per cent. Hoff says the crop will be light in every walnut-producing section in Southern California.

The soft shell will run, it is said, lighter than the hard shells. The blight is showing up very little this year according to reports received.

S.S.S. PURIFIES BAD BLOOD

Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores and ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once; but being infected with impurities which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the blood is purified of the cause. S. S. S. is Nature's blood-purifier and tonic, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones up the entire system. S. S. S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it pure, fresh and healthy, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Boils, and all other skin eruption or disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

PAPKE SIGNS ARTICLES FOR KETCHEL CONTEST AT COLMA

Thunderbolt Cuts Out Side Bet, but Agrees to Weight---Britt May Hold Out for $5000 Side Bet--Johnson Matched With Kaufman

By EDDIE SMITH.

THINGS are looking up for a few more good matches for San Francisco boys. The Kaufman-Johnson contest, for which the men partially signed last evening in New York, will surely take place in San Francisco, and last night Ed Papke, managing brother of the fighter, signed the Ketchel articles of the 5th of July match that Coffroth wants to stake in his Mission-stret arena.

When Papke left here for Los Angeles he agreed to meet Ketchel and bet $5000 on the side that he could beat the Michigander, the weight at that time being fixed at 158 pounds three hours before the contest. When Willie Britt arrived here from New York he immediately demanded that the side bet be made, never for once making any mention of odds or prevailing prices, as he supposed that Papke meant that he would bet at even money.

The Eastern press played up the fact that Papke would bet $5000 pretty strongly, and this angered Ketchel to such an extent that he insisted that Britt should get the side bet, or, in other words, Kechel did not like the idea of Papke talking so much about the side bet; he took it to mean that he was afraid to bet, and for that reason he will keep insisting that the men bet the original side bet of $5000.

Troubles of a Matchmaker

To give one an idea of the trouble that a matchmaker has it might be well to note that Coffroth, in this case, is now dealing with one man on his way to New York, who is the manager of the champion and who feels that his man is entitled to the favors it there are any to be passed out and the brother of another fighter whose drawing ability places him in a position to stand pat, at Los Angeles.

The coming contest means, at the least calculation, ten or twelve thousand dollars to the winner and six or seven to the loser, and yet one man is in Los Angeles and the other on his way to New York. Can you blame a fight promoter for getting natty?

Papke has given in to the champion in the matter of one hour's weighing and will allow the champion to come in at 158 pounds four hours before ring time. This may please the champion's manager into signing without the side bet being made at even money. Britt, as manager for the big man of that weight division, had to have some concessions for his man. He would feel that he was not doing his duty by his fighter were it not so. Whether or not the one hour's grace in the weighing will be enough remains to be seen, but had both managers stuck to the place where they belonged—meaning within hailing distance of the promoter—the match would no doubt have been made by this time.

Ketchel Not Very Anxious

Ketchel is not very anxious to come to the coast, for he had been offered a set of six-round contests in the East that do not require much training and for which he will pull down in the neighborhood of $3000 a piece. Ketchel also, likes the bright lights of old Broadway and as he has lots of money just at present, it is not an easy matter to pull him away from them.

Regarding the side bet, Britt points out the fact that in the past the champions have always demanded a side bet from the challenger and that the best of the betting price is the right of the champion, owing to the position he holds. Britt says that Sullivan made Jim Corbett bet $10,000 even money on the side when the two met and the betting was 10 to 3 in favor of the champion.

Britt should remember that those were the days before the percentage men got started and before the champion always go a little the best of the purse division, as is no doubt the case with Ketchel, who, the chances are, is getting about ten per cent the best of the money cut.

Louis Blot has been looking after the interests of Papke while the Thunderbolt and his brother are out of town, but up to a late hour last evening he had heard nothing definite regarding the chances of a change on their part. Blot will get into communication with Papke today over the long distance wire and try to assertain if the fighter wants to make any other concessions. Coffroth in the mean time will reach Britt with a telegram and try to get him to sign without the side bet being made at even money.

Johnson and Ketchel

Last evening at New York Jack Johnson, acting for himself, and Charlie Harvey, acting for Al Kaufman, met and signed articles for a championship contest and threw the contest open to the highest bidder. Harvey, who is very friendly with William Brady, the theatrical manager, no doubt acted for the show man, who has taken a great interest in Kaufman and who feels that Al will soon be the heavyweight champion of the world.

The articles as signed call for a twenty-round contest if the bout is held in San Francisco and a finish fight if necessary should the battle be decided elsewhere. This means that the contest will be a twenty-round battle, for it will not only be held here, but Jim Coffroth will be the promoter.

Coffroth can offer a good percentage for the contest and get it, unless some of the mining towns of Nevada take it into their heads to bid high in cash for it, and from present indications this is hardly probable. It is a queer thing, but it is so just the same, that Johnson will not fight a long battle here. He wants to go twenty rounds and no more if the battle is to be held here, but elsewhere anything goes.

Jeffries Talking a Bit

James J. Jeffries gave out the statement that he will fight Jack Johnson here next March and that he will be ready by that time to take the championship away from the colored man if he is still the possessor of the title.

It has also been announced that Jeffries will make a match with any heavyweight in the country for six rounds at Pittsburg on June 15th. That dispatch can be thrown out, however, for it means nothing but a press agent boost for the manager of the club offering the big fellow the match. Jeffries is in no condition to tackle a heavyweight for six rounds or any other number of rounds just yet and no one knows that better than the big champ himself. Pittsburg will not have a Jeffries match in June or any other month unless it be an exhibition by the champion and Berger.

Sullivan Shows Well

As usual the press dispatches from Los Angeles differ on the result of the Sullivan-Flynn ten-round no-decision contest held there last evening. Some of the papers say that Flynn won all the way and others say that Sullivan was entitled to a draw. At any rate Sullivan is entitled to some credit for sticking the full ten rounds with the man who it was supposed would put him away any time he got ready to start the job.

Flynn was a lopsided favorite in the betting and much money exchanged hands on whether or not Sullivan would last the limit. Montana Jack not only stuck the limit, but some of the papers say he roughed it with the fireman and held his own. Surely we did not think it was in the long, spiderly fellow and are willing to give him full credit for his good showing.

Oakland High Nine Wins From St. Mary's

The Oakland High played a team picked from the second and third nines of St. Mary's College yesterday afternoon and won by the score of 5 to 3. The game was uninteresting and dull, eight miscues being chalked up during the nine inning performance. Oakland High scored one run in the first, two in the sixth and two in the seventh frames, while the tallies of the Collegians came in the first and fifth.

The second team of the College was to have played, but most of the players had not returned from Napa where the dramatic club staged "Dr. Jeckyl and Mr. Hyde."

San Francisco 4 Los Angeles 2

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—San Francisco received a running start yesterday, getting four runs in the first inning on two errors, a sacrifice hit and two walks. The Angels tried hard to undo the ragged work of the first inning, but found the lead too much. Henley was in good form and though touched up for seven hits kept them apart and only walked one man. The only damage to his curves was in the second, when the Angels made two runs on the equal amount of bingles. Koestner allowed but three hits.

Sensational catches by Zeider and Bodie and Beall's slugging were the features. McArdle was taken sick in the second frame with a slight fever on account of the heat and retired to the bench, Zeider taking his place.

The Vernons, formerly the Redwoods No. 2, added two more games to their winning list by defeating the Fruitvale Outlaws, Sunday, by the score of 9 to 6. The feature being the pitching of Osequeda, who struck out fourteen of the heavy hitters.

The Buchanans were defeated Monday by the score 10 to 7. Murray, of the winners, succeeding in getting his usual homer with a two and three bagger. Next Sunday the Vernons will play the Hagemanns of East Oakland, who were defeated once by the score of 2 to 1 and a similar game is expected. Address all games to R. CATCHER T. HACKETT TO MANAGE ORPHANS

Important Deal Pulled Off in State League

Five Stockton Players Are Exchanged for Four San Francisco Men

ANNOUNCEMENT has just been made by the leaders of the California State League that a big deal has just been consummated whereby five of the Stockton players are exchanged for four of the Orphans. Tom Hackett, known all over the State as "Tub," one of the headiest and heaviest catchers in the business today, will assume the management of the San Francisco team hereafter and is in an Orphan uniform this afternoon in the game between the Wanderers and Sand Crabs.

The other men whom Danny Shay has let go are pitchers Hoag and Rusty Owen, a big leaguer; and outfielders Gordon and Murray. For these, Calder, the man behind the club across the bay, has given outfielders McLaughlin and Spencer, third baseman Hallinan and Catcher Burke.

TOM HACKETT, Catcher for Stockton, Who Will Hereafter Manage the San Francisco State League Club.

Hackett a "Heady" Leader

It is understood that for some time past propositions have been advanced so that the San Francisco team could be strengthened. It is now in the bottom of the cellar and has not been playing the calibre of ball desired to bring record crowds. In the early part of the season the club was handicapped by the long illness of Charley Irwin and he is again in a crippled condition. Then just at the time when everyone believed the team was on the upward course pitcher Eli Cates took a notion to go back into organized baseball and so packed up his duds and left for Minneapolis.

With Hackett steering the Orphans, a big change will be noticed in the playing of the team. "Tub" has an endless supply of ginger and life and what he does not know about the fine points of baseball is not worth learning. He has been in the game long enough to master every fine point of each position. Tom, in addition, is the kind of a player who will get along nicely with his men; knows how to handle them and can get out the best that is in them.

Berkeley May Own Club

Danny Shay is not worrying over the deal and believes he will cop the pennant without any difficulty. He has two or three national league players on the way now from the east, but he does not intend to give out their names until they arrive.

For many weeks past strong inducements have been held out by the merchants of Berkeley to have the State League play in Berkeley and it is said that there is a movement on foot now to have the San Francisco Club transferred to the University town. The Orphans themselves are anxious for a change as in their present condition they have no place to do their training and daily practicing. J. D. Calder, who is financing the San Francisco club and Frank Herman, president of the California State League, had a conference yesterday with several businessmen on the matter but no final decision was reached. Grounds in Berkeley have been practically secured.

* * *

Collie Druhot, the former Portland pitcher, worked on the mound for Santa Cruz yesterday and pitched a nice game. He allowed eight hits, kept them scattered and did not issue a pass or hit a man. Six runs in the second inning gave Collie a nice lead and he didn't overwork himself. Druhot replaces Van Otterman, who was allowed to go to Fresno. Van was doing satisfactory work, but Fresno wanted him and as Manager Stevens was able to get Druhot he favored the Raisin Growers.

* * *

Waters was back in the game after several days' lay off on account of an ulcerated tooth. He played at third, his regular position, and the one in which he was tried out last year by the White Sox.

* * *

Manager Irwin is sick in bed and Spencer has charge of the team. Henry should make a good captain as he isn't a bit backward in handing out a roast where he thinks one is needed and that trait is not a bad one to have when you are running a ball team.

* * *

Bloomfield was a spectator yesterday. He will join the team today at San Jose and take his regular turn in the box. Cleveland is still after him and Scout McGuire, who came to the coast for the express purpose of signing Bloomfield and Henderson, gave him a long talk yesterday about going to the Naps. "Bloomy" said that there was nothing doing and that he would continue to work for the Invaders.

* * *

Jack Miller played first for the Crabs. He played for a time this season with San Jose and before that was with a team in the Texas League. He is replacing Townsend who is still laid up with a torn ligament.

"Chick" Wright Easily Defeats Carney

The amateur champion at Balk line billiards, H. A. "Chick" Wright and Jo Carney played an exhibition game of 18-2 Balk line here last night. The largest crowd that ever attended a billiard game in Oakland was on hand and was very appreciative of what was done and widly enthusiastic when the sensational was pulled off.

Wright won by an overwhelming score for the reason that Carney could not get the ivories working well for him. The finals read, Wright 300, Carney 137.

Carney won the bank and chose the black ball counted in the opening shot and failed on an edge carom, leaving Wright an alignment that he secured by a bank. This started the champ on what looked to be a good cluster but an allgament on the lower left rail forced a withdrawal. Carney was very conservative and drew two, then a blank, while Chick got 8 and 1. Leaving the balls in the lower right balk, for Chick bred trouble for Carney in the fourth inning.

By mastefful nursing and short driving, Chick worked the balls to the line on the center balk and held them for thirty-one then lost them only to regain position in the center of the table by a beautiful bank approximating perfection. Cross drives netted fourteen more when another alignment closed the gate and he failed on his forty-sixth. This run was to be the high run of the evening neither player approaching it in beauty or number. Carney's carom work was inaccurate and he failed on several when opportunities presented themselves for high runs.

In the nineteenth inning Chick again found the going to his liking and was close to the perfect on the line when a series of troublesome alignments cut it short at twenty-four. His work was phenominal, considering the strangeness of the table and with the ivories rolling in such an adverse manner. Carney gathered twenty-one as his high run and could do no better as the balls were treating him very badly.

Wright — 7, 8, 1, 45, 18, 3, 0, 27, 20, 2, 0, 0, 7, 18, 15, 0, 14, 16, 24, 9, 19, 10, 6, 12, 8, 11. Total, 300. Average 11 25-26.

Carney — 1, 2, 0, 5, 2, 0, 5, 19, 5, 1, 0, 11, 9, 15, 11, 1, 1, 3, 10, 2, 6, 4, 3, 21, 0, 0. Total, 137. Average, 5 12-25.

Pfyl of Stockton Still Leads State Leaguers In Batting

That man Pfyl of Stockton is a corker with the stick. He is slamming the ball at a .340 gait, which is certainly going some. It is true that his present average is not quite so high as it was a week ago, for he was then slugging .365, but .340 is enough to satisfy most ball players. Have you noticed how Hap Smith of San Jose has been covering himself with glory by this work with the wagon tongue. His batting percentage has taken a jump and is now .337.

Bloomfield still tops the list of the Oakland players and in twenty-four games has been able to pound out sixteen hits netting him an average of .296. Henderson follows and has batted .287 in thirty-five games. Sheehan's aveage is .286 for fifty-nine games; Moskiman's .266 for forty-eight games; McHale's .247 for fifty-eight games, and Nealon's .237 for fifty-eight games.

McKune has picked up a few points and is now hitting .220.

Five Interesting Bouts At Brooklyn Club Show

J. Lynch knocked out P. McCarey in three rounds.

F. Smith knocked out A. Welch in two rounds.

Young Britt of Denver hammered Ed Locan of Santa Rose all over the ring for the first three rounds, but in the last three Locan came back and evened up by by forcing his man to cover and clinch. The bout was given to Locan.

Acting Captain Henny Spencer yanked an entire battery out, after the second inning of yesterday's game in the hope that the slaughter of Orphans by the Sand Crabs would be stopped, but his hope was a forlorn one, as the Crabs gave young Tam Streib the time of his life. Tam is a younger brother of Tay, the present Orphan shortstop and of Jule, the former Oakland first baseman when Oakland had a team that could win in the Coast League. Tam has been waiting for several days for his chance to show what he could do and he got it yesterday.

Lane and Burke were in the points for the Orphans when they started the game. The first inning was short and sweet, nobody scoring. In the second Lane walked three, his mates made three errors and the Crabs stole three bases, made four singles and scored six runs. Then Spencer derricked Lane and Burke and trotted out the young hopeful with Bliss to do the receiving.

In the third the Crabs made two, in the fourth one and in the sixth and seventh, two each. In that time Tam walked six, made a wild pitch and allowed ten hits. His fellows couldn't hit at the right time because Collie Druhot, the Crab's latest addition, was working too well and wouldn't let them.

TONNESEN HAS MAKINGS OF GREAT TWIRLER, SAYS REIDY

BILL REIDY declares it was not the poor playing of the Athenians which was entirely responsible for the defeat of the Oaks in the South, but that a monster chunk of hard luck also played a guilty part. Bill says Wiggs should have shut the Angels out and that Slim Nelson deserved a better fate than awaited him in the last game he pitched. Reidy likes the way Nelson is rounding to and believes he will be in good form from now on.

* * *

The most promising pitcher at present, according to Manager Reidy, is Tonnesen. The recruit from the Northwestern league is developing into a star artist and with careful coaching will prove one of Oakland's mainstays. His control is what bothers him the most at present, but Reidy places great confidence in the southpaw and things it is only a matter of short time when Tonnesen will be able to put the horsehide just where he wants it, high or low, inside or outside of the plate, in the groove and over the corners. When that time arrives, Reidy says "keep your eye on Tonnesen, he will show them all a few things."

* * *

One of the interested spectators at yesterday's game was Jim McQuire, who is scouting out west for material upon which to strengthen the Cleveland team. Jim has witnessed several of the contests in the outlaw league and has his eyes on several of the players, but so far he has been unable to entice away just those he wanted. It is understood he offered Henderson a large roll of money if Benny would play with the Naps, but so far the Oakland pitcher has stood his ground and refuses to leave Cy Moreing. Bloomfield also looks good to McQuire, but the youngster has only turned a deaf ear to the offers that have been made him. Among others whom the Cleveland scout will try to land are Danny Shay, Sam Mertes, Loucks and Tommy Sheehan.

McQuire enjoyed the game yesterday to the full and says the coasters put up a rattling good article of ball. The players from California now playing in the East, he says, are all giving great satisfaction.

"Harry Hooper," says McQuire, "is playing great ball for Boston, and as for Chase, there was never a better first baseman in uniform. Of course he still shows signs of weakness from his recent sickness, but hardly a day passes but that he is not pulling off some great play."

McQuire last year was manager for the Bostons team and the year before caught on the New York Americans. His present duties with Cleveland are managerial in part, but at present his whole time is being given to rehabilitate the Naps and for this purpose the present trip to the coast has been made in search of material.

* * *

Graham feels highly elated over the showing his men made against the Villagers last week on the home grounds, and he says the Sacramento fans are proud of the club. As evidence of the popularity of the national game, over 5000 paid admissions last Sunday.

* * *

Zamlock has now been out of the game three weeks on account of a badly wrenched knee, and it is doubtful if he will be able to do much in the present series.

* * *

Graham's entire staff now is sixteen. Adams, who was let go, is playing at present in the Northwestern league and Boby McHale has wended his way to Chicago. The story runs that Bobby stopped off a couple of days at Denver and played short. His batting and fielding, according to reports, was so phenomenal that strong inducements were held out to McHale to stay, but no, he said he wanted to blow to the Windy City and so he blew.

* * *

Gandil did some clever stopping on the initial sack and saved the infielders' errors, by scooping in wild throws. The first baseman, however, errored in judgment and errored badly in the sixth and upon the misplay resulted the first run of the Oaks. McCay walloped an easy grounder to first. Gandil gathered it in and then started for the bag as if he intended to make the put out. Whalen also ran to first to take the throw and after Gandil decided to quit running he actually did throw it to Jimmy, but too late to do any good. McCay was already on the bag and in the meanwhile Van Haltren scored for Oakland.

* * *

Willie Hogan figured in a nice play in the sixth, stopping thereby a tally. Flanagan was reposing on second, whiffing sweet breaths of ozone in consequence of his two base clout, when Gandil shot one of Christian's spirals like a cannon ball past third. Willie doved after the drive, knocked it down and winged the runner out at first.

* * *

It must be acknowledged that good luck favored the Senators in the eighth inning when they obtained their two runs. Raymer's bingles which brought in Flanagan and Gandil, instead of being a two-sacker, should only have been a single. Just before the ball got to Duffey Lewis it took a false bound and leaped clear over the outfielder's head. Under ordinary conditions, Lewis would have held the men to their bases without permitting them to tally.

* * *

By not touching the initial sack Carl Lewis robbed himself out of a two bagger. He swatted out a saucy punch to the right garden and was clearing the keynote in nice fashion when the Senators discovered that he had failed to put his foot on first. Of course there was nothing for the umpire to do but to call the man out.

* * *

The double umpire system was tried yesterday. Atkinson, who has been calling balls and strikes all winter in the Imperial Valley league, was given a trial on bases, while Toman stood behind the plate. Atkinson was right on the job in moving about though it must be confessed he has quite an extensive bulk to carry around.

* * *

There was no game yesterday at Portland.

* * *

Outfielder Harry Thompson and Pitcher Otto Newlin of the Los Angeles Club, were released yesterday by Manager Berry.

* * *

Dr. A. P. Deacon who, in addition to writing out prescriptions, has been playing phenomenal ball on the first sack of the Willow's baseball team, has been made a tempting offer to join the Coast leaguers. The medico, however, states he cannot give up his practice. Deacon's batted above .400 last year.

* * *

The Oaks celebrated their home-coming in grand style. Not only were the Senators, whose record for last week against the Villagers is seven games out of eight, defeated, but what is more, the locals pulled the yesterday's exhibition out of the fire at a time when it looked like it was hopelessly lost. In the last of the eighth inning the score stood 3 to 1 when the Oaks came to bat. Hogan got life on Raymer's error and Jansing allowed McCay's grounder to slip through him. Cameron forced McCay at second. Pitcher Jimmy de Whalen, it could be noticed by the psychologists, was growing nervous, but what could be done? There was no one around to anchor him down. Charley Graham, indeed, called for help, but the rope had been cut and the balloon had of necessity to go up. Carl Lewis, who was one of the distinguished stickers Monday in Los Angeles, responded to the call of Bill Reidy and peppered out a lala pa luza on which Cameron and Hogan cantered in home. It was up to Howard Murphy, however, to tie the can on the jinx's tail and my! how fast the jinx skidooed. When Howard fell onto a nice, wobbly curve the jinx was clear out of sight and the last heard of it was that Graham found it underneath his chair, hungry as a bear and eating the crumbs as they fell form the dining-table. Graham tried to kick the "brute" out of existence but it just simply refused to go and as far as the Athenians care, the Sacramento manager can claim full possession. Reidy has had the jinx follow his team long enough and he proposes that some other club looks after it from now on.

But this is not telling how Murphy made the jinx flew the coup. The Oaklander right fielder knocked a sizzler to Flanagan. The ball was not returned to the infield until after Ragan had completed the circuit scoring the winning run.

A desperate attempt was made by the Aristocrats to turn defeat into victory in the ninth, but Jansing's single, Whalen's sacrifice and Shinn's stolen bases, all went to nought when Umpire Toman called the Sacramento third baseman out at home on Shinn's grounder.

Attempt to Bury Detectives Alive

NEW YORK, June 2.—An effort was made yesterday to bury two Central office detectives alive in an excavation for a building in the Bronx. The officers went to the place to arrest the contractor for discharging heavy dynamite blasts. They were attacked by workmen and were thrown into the excavation. Other workmen tried to break down an embankment upon the detectives and did loosen so much of the earth that the officers were impeded in their attempts to escape. Had the whole embankment gone down the detectives would have been buried alive. After getting out the officers summoned the police reserves and a number of arrests were made.

SALES OF STOCK IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 2.—Opening dealings in stocks today affected but small price changes and these were mixed. The metal industrials were depressed. Amalgamated Copper declined 1 and United States Steel ⅜. St. Louis Southwestern advanced 1. Active selling began soon after the opening. The weakness shown by several of the important railroads and specialties caused selling of other stocks. Amalgamated Copper was driven 1⅝ below yesterday's closing. Reading 1¼, and United States Steel and Corn Products preferred 1. Union Pacific dropped to 190½ and the list generally ruled under yesterday's close.

Selling relaxed and prices pulled up well again all around. American Steel Foundry rose 3¼. American Cotton Oil 2, International Harvester 1⅝, and Mackay Companies, American Smelting and Refining preferred and American fell 1. Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie and Sloss-Sheffield Steel declined 1¼, and Wheeling and Lake Erie 1. The market weakened again at noon.

The tone of the market improved late in the afternoon, United States Steel rallying to about yesterday's closing and St. Paul selling a point above. American Ice fell 2¾, American Cotton Oil 3¼. American Chemical advanced 2.

The market closed irregular. United States Steel was rushed up suddenly to 67 but after a purchase of only 100 shares at that price it was allowed to fall back a fraction. The preferred stock and the Republic Steel stock also rose 1, American Chemical 3¼, Virginia-Carolina Chemical 1¾, and Lake Erie and Western preferred 2. United States Steel rose again to 67¼ in the late dealings.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Wheat for July delivery advanced to a new high record mark for the season when it sold today at $1.20⅝c, a gain of ⅝c compared with the previous high mark touched on May 25. The upturn was due to active general demand based on an advance of ¾@1½ pence at Liverpool and to a brisk demand for the cash grain here, which is now selling at a stiff premium over the options. At the opening prices were ⅛c to ⅜@½c higher, July being at $1.19⅝@1.19¾. After reaching $1.20⅝ the price reacted a trifle on profit taking.

The market was much less bullish during the last half of the day and prices reacted considerably on profit taking. July declined to $1.19¼@1.19¾. The close was firm with July up ⅛@⅜c at $1.19⅝.

Corn was active and strong early in the day, the July delivery being especially firm owing to the small stocks in store here and the consequent strength of the cash grain. July opened ⅛c to ⅝@¾c higher at 71½@72c and advanced to 72⅝c.

Enormous receipts—502 carloads—tended to offset the effect of the strength of wheat and corn in the oats market. July opened a shade higher at 54c, sold up to 54½c and then declined to 53⅝c.

Corn—July, 71⅝@72c; September, 68¾@68⅝c; December, 58c.

Pork—July, $18.48½; September, $18.60.

Ribs—July, $10.47½; September, $11.60.

Rye—Cash, 90c; September, 82c.

Barley—Cash, 76@78½c.

Timothy—September, $3.90@4.00.

Clover—Cash, $10; October, $11.25.

Encouraging Sign.

Pittsburg Dispatch:—"It is an encouraging sign when the good roads problem becomes the object of a national congress. It is evidence of the awakening of popular sentiment, which is the lever that moves the public machinery in enlightened countries."

Catching Up with Europe.

Philadelphia Inquirer:—"We are far behind Europe in the building of permanent roads, just as we are in the development of canals and rivers. The time will come when we shall catch up, and that time will be hastened by such gatherings as the National Good Roads Congress."

REAL OLD YANKEE MEAL AT REUNION

Natives of State of Maine Now in California Plan Gala Celebration

The thirty-first annual reunion of the members of the State of Maine Association of California will be held at Shell Mound throughout the afternoon and evening on Saturday of this week.

The day is always given over to New England sports and pastimes, and this year a real old Yankee dinner, with the traditional baked beans and brown bread, will be served to the picknickers at noon.

In the afternoon there will be races and competitive games with handsome prizes for the victors, and just by way of novelty, there will be an egg and spoon race for women and a ladies' nail-driving contest.

A special orchestra has been engaged and colonial songs will be the order of the day. In the evening there is to be dancing in the big pavilion, which will be converted into a minature pine forest with green boughs intermingling with national colors in a decorative scheme.
